Newton Hospital Has Record Year—Patients And Income Increase

Increased Operating Expenses Leave Deficit, Chairman Chase Reports to Trustees

The annual meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Newton Hospital was held on January 31. William F. Chase, chairman of the executive committee in his report stated that the new home for nurses will be ready for occupancy sometime in March. Mr. Chase said that 1938 was a record breaking year at the hospital in many respects. He gave the following information:

The average daily number of patients in the hospital was 171.53, eleven more than in 1937 and eight more than the previous high, which was in 1935. Our operating income was $336,885, the largest ever and, I regret to say, our operating expenses were also a record, reaching $431,192. This leaves an operating deficit of about $94,300. The income from our investments was approximately $24,000, incidentally a record high; from the Newton Community Chest and Wellesley about $64,000, and from collection of old accounts roughly $1,150. This leaves a red ink figure for the year of $5,500.

Our total investments in bonds, stocks, mortgages, real estate and savings banks is roughly $523,000, on which an income was received in 1938 of $23,933. This figure is a 4.57 per cent return on the investment. The bond holdings increased $4,000; stocks $13,000, while the mortgage account was reduced by $10,000 and real estate owned by $4,000. At the same time, the notes payable were reduced from $77,000 to $47,000, thus effecting an interest saving on $30,000. By the sale of three more lots of the so-called Cousen's land in Newton Centre, our real estate holdings are now only $9,083.

Legacies were announced as follows: TO THE GENERAL ENDOWMENT FUND—UNRESTRICTED

Martha F. Metcalf Estate	$ 200.00
Olive M. Wallace Estate	18.50
Elizabeth Spear Estate	476.68
Charles A. Lacke Estate	101.05

TO FREE BED FUNDS

Fannie L. Potter Estate	$10,300.00
Lizzie F. Rogers Estate	10,000.00
Mary E. Riley Estate	10,000.00

$30,300.00

Mr. Chase informed the gathering that the number of student nurses increased during 1938 from 65 to 81 and that 14 more will be admitted in February. The daily average number of graduate nurses on duty is 59. The Social Service Department of the hospital made over 7200 visits last year, 2 per cent more than in 1937. The chief purpose of this activity is to supervise the out-patient department patients and ward-discharged patients in carrying out doctors' directions and in securing social information. During 1938 there were 18,990 visits to the out-patient department. The usefulness of the hospital was increased by the start of a Community Laboratory Service last June. Laboratory technicians go to the homes of patients on request of doctors and make tests there or in the laboratory.

Dr. Henry F. Keever, chairman of the executive committee of the staff, in his report, said that three new clinics were established during the year—rectal, G.U. for infectious diseases, and urological. Nineteen clinics were in operation during 1938 and 5,254 patients made 1,890 visits. In the surgical service there were 1,119 major, 790 minor and 866 nose and throat operations performed during 1938. Babies born at the hospital during the year totaled 707, including 8 sets of twins. There were no maternal deaths. Twenty-eight Caesareans were performed. The laboratory made a total of 42,245 tests and the physiotherapy department recorded 5,760 treatments. The present house officers number six; 3 from Harvard, 2 from Tufts and 1 from McGill. The next group will include 3 each from Harvard and Tufts.

Mr. Clarence McDavitt, who is the contact representative between the Community Chest and the Newton Hospital, was the guest speaker. Mr. McDavitt has recently been appointed by President Roosevelt as one of four to represent the United States at a conference in Geneva to study international relationships.

Commendable Work Done By Two Young Policemen

Patrolmen FitzSimmons and McEnaney Prove Good Detectives in Tracking Burglars

Two of the younger members of the Newton Police Department have been in the limelight the past month. They are John F. FitzSimmons of Alburmarle rd., Newtonville, and Thomas L. McEnaney of Washington st., West Newton. FitzSimmons formerly lived in Auburndale, and was appointed a regular patrolman on September 30, 1937. McEnaney was appointed a regular patrolman on April 15, 1937. On January 3, just a month ago, FitzSimmons was assigned with McEnaney in a cruising car and the two have been very much on the job since. In addition to successfully prosecuting a number of cases of motorists who violated traffic laws, including two drivers who were fined $50 each for reckless driving, Fitz and Mac, the two youthful Celts, were instrumental in causing the arrest of two young burglars who committed a half dozen burglaries in Newton and many breaks in other cities.

As a result of a clue obtained by McEnaney and FitzSimmons, Inspectors Goode and Crowley of the Newton police, joined with Worcester police in arresting Donald Gillon and Donald Whitman at their homes in Worcester. Much valuable loot was recovered at the Worcester homes of the burglars, and the Newton inspectors recovered more in Boston pawnshops. Gillon was formerly employed at a Newton lunchroom for a short time. For their work in connection with this case, FitzSimmons and Mc-

Safety Council Public Meeting On February 8

The Newton Safety Council will hold a meeting on Wednesday evening, Feb. 8, at 8 o'clock at Police Headquarters, Washington st., West Newton. The meeting will be an interesting one and all members of the council are urged to be present, as well as citizens of Newton who are interested in highway safety. Alfred N. Miner, chairman of the Engineering Committee of the Safety Council, will make a brief announcement and will introduce Edgar F. Copell of the State Department of Public Works, who will speak on "Recent Developments in Highway Safety Engineering, Traffic Signs and Signals." Many Newton citizens have written to the Engineering Committee asking for information as to how highway problems can be solved. These include traffic signal control for motor vehicles and pedestrians. Any one interested is invited to be present and discuss problems in the open discussion which will follow Mr. Copell's talk.

Charles S. Warren, chairman of the Accidents Fact Committee of the Safety Council, will make a few remarks and will introduce C. A. Halvorsen, consulting engineer of the Lighting Section of the General Electric Company of Lynn. He will talk on the problem of properly lighting our highways.

It should be a matter of pride and satisfaction to residents of Newton to know that this city had the third best record during 1938 for cities in the United States between 50,000 and 100,000 population as regards highway safety.

Two Women Assaulted At West Newton

Assailant Sentenced to 15 Mos. On Three Counts

Mrs. Mary Meady, employed as a domestic at 27 Regent st., West Newton, was knocked down by a thug who accosted her on Felton st., West Newton, last Friday at 12:25 a. m. Her assailant made no attempt to grab the handbag she was carrying, but after throwing the woman to the ground he ran away. Mrs. Meady walked back to a nearby garage on Washington st. and the police were notified. Cruising cars speeded to the scene but did not find the assailant. Mrs. Meady said the man who knocked her down was short and stocky, wore a light overcoat, and no hat.

Shortly before the Meady woman was attacked, residents of Cross st., West Newton, phoned police headquarters that some woman apparently was being attacked in that neighborhood, as screams came from Cross st. in the vicinity of Cheese Cake (Continued on Page 4)

Net Put In River To Catch Body

On Monday the Metropolitan Police placed a wire net across the Charles River at the Wales st. bridge. Lower Falls in an effort to have it catch the body of Helen Orok, 8, of Kelvedon rd., Waban. The child and her little brother were drowned in the river on January 17 when they walked onto thin ice. The younger child's body was recovered shortly after the drownings, but efforts to locate the girl's body have been futile. In the assumption that the body has not yet gone over the dams at Lower Falls, it is hoped that it may lodge in the net.

Eligibles For School Physician

On Tuesday the State Civil Service Commission published the results of the examination held on November 5 for the position of school physician in Newton. The list of eligibles in order of rating is—Mrs. Rocco Pavone, 192 Crafts st.; Manuel Glazier, 412 Commonwealth ave.; Theodore Clark, 101 Highlands ave.; Raymond Johnson, 1082 Walnut st.; Walnut st.; Walter Blanchard, 465 Centre st.; Frank O'Connor, 277 Homer st.; Robert Glendy, 25 Elliot Memorial rd.; Joseph Seltzer, 50 Irving rd.

Proposal To Reorganize Playground Commission Made

City Solicitor Rules That Superintendent of Playgrounds Is Not Head of That Department

On Monday City Solicitor Joseph W. Bartlett gave the ruling that the Superintendent of Playgrounds of Newton is not the head of the Playground Department inasmuch as that department, like the Library and Health Departments, is headed by a Commissioner. Not being the head of the department, Superintendent Ernest Hermann is under civil service and so is subject to retirement upon reaching the age of 70. Mr. Bartlett based his ruling on the city ordinance which authorized the establishment of the Playground Commission. Last year a subcommittee of Playground Commission members was appointed to make a report on the personnel and program of the Playground Department. The subcommittee was composed of Lyscom Bruce and Mrs. Theresa Marshall and their report was to have been presented at the January meeting of the commission. The meeting, however, was postponed. Included in the report of the subcommittee was the statement that Mr. Hermann would have to retire when he will reach the age limit in March. The question was then raised as to whether or not this contention of the subcommittee was correct.

It is being suggested, however, that the playground Department be reorganized, that it be broadened in scope because of new activities in community centers, and that it even be consolidated with other city departments. The Claims and Rules Committee of the Board of Aldermen has been asked to take some action on this proposed reorganization of the Playground Department. Friends of Mr. Hermann hope that by such a reorganization, he may be continued in the playground—or recreation department. The report of the subcommittee of the Playground Commission advocates the appointment of a full-time superintendent for the Playground Department. Such an official would be under civil service and an examination would have to be held to fill the position.

Police Committee Confers With Mayor

On Tuesday the special committee of the Board of Aldermen, which was formed in 1937 to investigate the position of Sergeant-Mechanic in the Newton police department, met at City Hall and conferred with Mayor Childs. No information as to what occurred at the conference was forthcoming, but it was stated that the committee will present a report to the Board of Aldermen at the meeting next Monday night. The committee is composed of Henderson Inches, chairman, and Aldermen Floyd, Fahey, McCabe and Walker.

Hospital To Aid In Emergencies

The Newton Hospital will co-operate with the Newton police department in the future in providing additional facilities for the care of accident cases. At the suggestion of Frank L. Richardson, chairman of the hospital trustees, a joint committee has been appointed to plan such co-operation. Mayor Childs has appointed Mr. Richardson, Dr. Sydney Derow, city physician, and Dr. Harold Choate, Health Officer. The hospital trustees have appointed Dr. Edward Leonard, Dr. Henry Keever, and Supt. Bertha Allen. A nurse and interne will be available at the hospital 24 hours each day for emergency service at the scene of an accident or drowning, and the hospital ambulance will be available in case of other cases. When reports of accidents are received at police headquarters, if it appears that medical attention is needed, a police cruising car will be speeded to the hospital to take the interne and nurse to the scene of the accident to render first aid, or to assist in attempts to resuscitate persons who have been immersed in water.

Federal Commissioner H. J. Anslinger of the Bureau of Narcotics, Treasury Department, will speak on "Narcotics and Crime," on Sunday, February 5th, at 3:30 p. m., in the Newton High School Auditorium, Newtonville.

Mr. Anslinger has been United States Commissioner of Narcotics since 1930. His grooming for that position came through years of service in the consular and treasury departments of the federal government. He has been the official delegate of the United States to many international conferences concerning smuggling, narcotics, and drug addiction. In 1932, 1933 and 1934, he was a co-observer of the United States at the meetings of the League of Nations Advisory Committee. His active service as commissioner during the past eight years enable him to have a most complete intimate picture of the narcotic trade and its peril to the youth of his country.

The narcotics problem is not to get rid of narcotics, but to control their production and use. Narcotics are man's worst enemies and his best friends. These drugs cause an appalling amount of crime, suffering and physical and moral ruin. It is estimated that each year the misuse of narcotics kills or ruins the lives of nearly as many people as were killed in the World War. Yet these drugs also save mankind from much suffering, by easing the pains of sicknesses, injuries and operations.

Because the different governments are tightening up on the manufacture and sale of the opium and coca drugs, drug peddlers are turning to marijuana, also known as hashish and Indian hemp. This drug has been mentioned in the newspapers of late, in connection with the sale of marijuana cigarettes to youths of school age.

Although an international narcotics committee estimated that the legitimate demand for narcotics by the entire world in 1938 was just under 20,000 pounds, yet in the previous year 500,000 pounds were actually manufactured.

Mr. Anslinger will discuss this important subject from both an international and national viewpoint. He will tell of the struggle held upon helpless China which ambitious Japan is gradually tightening by means of drugs. He will also discuss the huge crime bill which the citizens of the United States are forced to pay each year to feed this modern Moloch of crime that crushes the souls of enslaved thousands.

MASSACHUSETTS THE FAVORITE

In the January issue of Fortune magazine is the result of a survey of the states east of the Mississippi river as to where persons with incomes of $7500 and up go on their summer and winter vacations. A strange inconsistency, unfavorable to the state as a whole, appears with the Cape Cod-Nantucket area rated as third and the state of Massachusetts eighth. In a letter to the Massachusetts Development and Industrial Commission the magazine explains that so many persons answered with the names of Cape Cod and Nantucket that it seemed worthy of special note in the tabulations. In no other case is a state divided. It is noteworthy that this portion of Massachusetts is so popular but its separation from the remainder of the state does not give the Commonwealth its proper place. Taking the state as a whole Massachusetts has a percentage of 11.6 with New Jersey second at 10.2, and Maine third with 9.7. In the tabulation Cape Cod-Nantucket is 6.4 and the rest of Massachusetts 5.2. The importance of recreation in Massachusetts is shown again and emphasized anew in these figures. The promotion of the state as a vacation land will aid materially in the replacement of income lost from the removal of industry with eventual economic advantage to the state as a whole.

A BIT OF SUNSHINE

A letter to the editor this week tells of the joy brought to the ladies of the Stone Institute from the bequest of the late Elizabeth Spear. The late Miss Spear left a sum, the income from which is to be distributed among the inmates for spending money and enabling them to enjoy some little luxury which they otherwise would have gone without. This little bit of sunshine brought into the lives of these aged women surely gladdens the hearts of all. We trust that others will follow Miss Spear's example as even a small bequest can bring so much pleasure.

Letters To The Editor

A BIRTHDAY GIFT

To the Editor,

Dear Sir:

Perhaps you, and some of the citizens of Newton may be interested to learn that the ladies of the Stone Institute and Home for the Aged, at Newton Upper Falls, have just received their money from the estate of the late Miss Elizabeth Spear of Newton and she has made it possible for them, on her birthday each year (which was Jan. 26) to receive the interest from a deposit made for their use.

As there are 25 ladies, of course the amount was small but well appreciated by each and every one, as it enables them to purchase some small luxury, which they may have gone without.

The "Giver of gifts" with a heart so true

Is remembered by them the whole year through.

His funeral service was held on Thursday at Our Lady's Church and burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

55 YEARS AGO

Alderman Cobb entertained the fire department committee at his residence on Thursday evening.

A. W. Thomas with relatives and friends enjoyed a pleasant sleigh ride through the Newtons on Wednesday evening, and upon returning to Mr. Thomas' residence did justice to an oyster supper.

Reports having been circulated that liquor has been carried into the Nonantum Athenaeum and drank, Mr. Rand, one of the directors, this morning ordered the reading room and smoking room there closed until the matter is investigated.

The Newton Cottage Hospital Corporation held its annual meeting in the Channing Church parlor on Monday afternoon. The report of the president, R. M. Pulsifer, was read, recommending the purchase of a lot on Washington st. near Lower Falls. Favorable opinions of Newton physicians as to the usefulness of the proposed hospital were read. The treasurer reported a balance of $8244 on hand. There was a discussion on the proposed location, plans for the building and subject of maintenance, and much difference of opinions.

There was an important omission in the order relative to the Circuit railroad which was introduced at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night. As originally drawn the order required the B. & A. railroad to build the abutments for a bridge and to "put a suitable bridge over them," but the words quoted were left out in copying the order. The position taken by the B. & A. is—that since the circuit railroad will greatly increase the taxable property of the city, the railroad should not be required to pay for the right of way. If the city does not give the land at Waban, it will get no bridge and only fair damages. When the road is built, Newton will be the only city on this continent having a circuit railroad. Paris has one which is regarded as a great advantage, and London is building one underground at enormous expense. The circuit road will be of great advantage in bringing together the widely separated parts of our city, whether it brings accessions to our population or not.

C. C. Burr and 20 other Auburndale residents sent a petition to the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night objecting to the affixing of the name "Auburndale School" to the new schoolhouse, which seems like a slight to the memory of the late Thomas S. Williams for whom the old school was named. They ask that the name "Williams School" be transferred to the new building.

The Elliot Literary on Tuesday evening had a crowded house to see the broom drill arranged which Theodore Walker, Elliot Field and a corps of young ladies had worked hard for many weeks. The young ladies were neatly uniformed wearing pretty caps and aprons, and their brooms were trimmed with ribbons. The evolutions included the manual of arms. After the drill an individual prize drill followed. Alice Bassett won 1st prize; Florence Farquhar, 2nd; Grace Blodgett, 3rd. Wallace Goodrich gave the piano solo, there were readings by Edith Page and J. H. Robinson, and songs by Blanche Rice and Willie Ellison.

Many inquiries are being made relative to the Read Fund lecture course and the dates for the present season.

The grade crossing nuisance exists in its most aggravated form at the Centre st. crossing in Newton Corner. You are in a hurry to catch a train at the depot when along comes a slow freight, and you wait for the next train. In fact, waiting is the principal business for those who use this crossing. If it is not a freight, it is an express train, or two of them; or an excursion train, or a coal train, or worst of all—one of those highly scented pig trains bound for the slaughter houses at East Cambridge, which leave a lingering fragrance for an hour after they pass. It is little short of a miracle that accidents do not happen at this crossing daily, as just after the arrival of some crowded evening train from Boston, a fast express train dashes by, and only the watchfulness of the crossing tenders prevents horrible deaths.

A serious accident occurred at Auburndale last Thursday. The butcher wagon of Livermore Bros. was standing on Ash st. in front of the residence of Mr. Thorndike when some leaves were blown in the horses' faces. They became frightened and started to run. William Livermore tried to get into the wagon but was thrown to one side, receiving a fracture of a toe and cuts on his head and knees. The horses dashed down Ash st., hit a pole at the corner of Auburn st., overturning the wagon, and then freed themselves, running down Auburn and Washington sts. to West Newton. At Highland st. they ran onto the B. & A. tracks, but ran off the tracks again at the Chestnut st. crossing, and went into the yard at Stoddard's stable, where they were caught.

Powers' Paragraphs

For the past few years we have been advocating as WPA projects the construction of some decent sidewalks along streets heavily travelled by pedestrians in this city. We contended that huge sums of money have been expended on WPA projects in Newton which are of little value to residents of this city, that the Mayor and Aldermen of Newton should co-operate in using the lavish Federal grants for some practical projects which will benefit many people. We mentioned ERA and WPA projects in Newton on which big amounts of money have been spent, on which men have been putting for years, and which will not redound to the advantage of many Newtonians. For instance—there is Cold Spring swamp between Newton Highlands and Waban. For ERA and WPA projects at this out-of-the-way area $189,064 has been received in Federal grants, and the city has expended $32,617 for materials and tools; a total of $221,681. On similar projects at Edmonds Park, Newton, a wooded area, $213,934 has been received from the Federal government for labor, and the city has expended $22,021; a total of $235,955. And in addition, large amounts were received from the Mayor's Relief Fund to pay workers at these two areas before the ERA projects there were started.

Had the City of Newton used some of the $500,000 expended at Cold Spring swamp and Edmonds Park in building some improved sidewalks, such as cities in many parts of the country have done, including cities in Massachusetts, one glaring defect, characteristic of Newton, could have been corrected to an appreciable degree. We refer to Newton's sidewalks. A large percentage of them are not fit to walk on. In fact pedestrians can't or won't walk on them. The sidewalks are so uneven in dry weather, so muddy in wet weather, or so slippery during the winter months, that people have to walk out on the streets and take a chance of being hit by some automobile. And the so-called improved sidewalks in the Newtons are in such a condition that the late Street Commissioner Mahoney warned the Board of Aldermen of damage suits which would result because of persons falling on defective sidewalks.

The city ordinances of Newton specify that the city will pay half the cost of building improved sidewalks and abutments the other half, and it is under this arrangement that tar sidewalks have been laid in Newton in past years. With a tax rate going up, no reasonable person would argue that Newton could or should build sidewalks on all the streets in the city unless the abutments continue to pay their share, as in the past. But there are a limited number of streets in the Newtons which are used by large numbers of pedestrians where improved sidewalks should be built as WPA projects, with the city paying part of the cost. And the city's share would be less than the half it would pay ordinarily. We specified Watertown, Adams, Pearl, River and Walnut sts., and to this list some other streets were added at the suggestion of City officials, including California, Webster and Chapel sts. Thousands of pedestrians, going to and from work use these streets daily. Persons who ride in automobiles are benefitted by the large amounts spent yearly for the construction and maintenance of highways, and the large amount spent every winter for the clearing of snow off the streets and the sanding of streets. The sidewalks have been neglected for many years, and the amounts expended for their repair or care have been negligible compared with the amounts expended on streets. It is about time the people who walk shall receive more consideration.

Last year Harold Young, Sponsors Agent for the City of Newton with the WPA conferred with city officials regarding the proposed sidewalk projects, and newspapers at that time published the information that City Solicitor Bartlett would suggest changes in the city ordinance so that WPA sidewalk projects on pedestrian arterial highways could be legally authorized. Realizing that the budget recommendations will soon come from Mayor Childs, the writer last week talked with the Mayor regarding this matter. As a resident of Nonantum, the Mayor is quite cognizant of the need of decent sidewalks in those parts of the city where a large percentage of the people walk instead of ride. He has informed the writer that he favors the construction of sidewalks as WPA projects on arterial pedestrian streets such as have been mentioned, and that he has asked the City Solicitor to draw up amendments to the city ordinance so that the projects may be authorized in the near future.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. BENTLEY

More than He Could Chew

This is the story of a sandwich—or better, several sandwiches. In a business office located in Boston and not a great distance from State st., the least important member of the clerical staff is in the habit of bringing his lunch. He comes from a plain but well-ordered household. As his pantry was born on the shores of the Mediterranean sea, one may easily understand the simplicity but toothsome nature of his noonday meal.

One day last week the youth was sent on an errand just as he was about to open his lunch box. The boss happened along. "The kid's lunch," said he, "well, as he isn't here, I'll investigate." On top were the ham sandwiches and into one of them the boss sunk his teeth. It tasted so good he devoured it. When the owner returned and found a sandwich missing he was puzzled. The boss saw him and called out, "I ate it. Next time, put mustard on the ham and more butter on the bread. By the way, better make it salami." Of course, this was the cue for everybody in the office to laugh. But that was not the end.

Next day the serious-minded junior clerk showed up with three salami sandwiches for the boss, with plenty of butter and mustard and a dash of garlic. The boss proved a good fellow. He said, "Thank you, boy," and after a struggle ate one and made two salesmen eat the others. Then he announced, with a grave face, that the doctor had ordered him not to eat sandwiches oftener than twice every six months.

Fining the Forgetful

It is possible that continued reference to the Newton Free Library will create an impression that as writer of this column much of my time is spent in the main building of that admirable institution. I do not hang around there, nor do I visit the place as often as I would like. Proof of that is the fact that last week I was compelled, solely because of my own neglect, to pay a fine totalling fourteen cents on a volume I had lost track of at home. In handing over the money my thoughts ran to the matter of imposing fines for overdue books. My inquiries revealed a fact which comforted me and no doubt will bring solace to many. I found that throughout the city a total of $6,700 was paid in fines in 1937 and that during the year following the very same amount was collected. A coincidence, indeed! Furthermore, it shows that although conditions were not improved, they certainly were no worse. Maybe the very same people were fined in 1935 who paid in 1937 because they hadn't learned their lesson. Again, it may be the spirit of giving—the large-hearted sentiments of cardholders, who want to give the library something and take this way.

Good Grounds for Grumbling

Not to admit that a grouch or grumble is going to get anybody anything, I just want to register a slight and I hope not ineffective protest against the form of telephone nuisance we all of us sometimes encounter. It's the man who calls up in your absence and leaves a message that sounds important anyway. It is that you should call him as soon as you get in. You follow instructions and find that his line is busy. When you try again he is not there. And that doesn't discourage you so you keep at it without success, wondering how it has happened that he has become so completely inaccessible. Eventually you get him and then comes the worst of it. He says, "Yes, I called you, but I've found out what I was going to ask you. Never mind, now, sorry to trouble you."

Postpone All Fussing

The blessings of democracy have their drawbacks, I regret to admit. One of these is the personal income tax. Since this form of obtaining revenue for the commonwealth was established it has irked some of my best and next best citizens to part with their coin under such circumstances. I can well understand their feeling; not, however, because I make any considerable contribution to this annual yield. I am sorry for those who do not wish to fork over that which they feel they worked hard for and should be allowed to keep. Understand, please, I have no wish to become involved in a controversy as to the justice of the income tax but I do wish to speak of the blanks now before us. They may seem to demand such of us in a financial way. However, let not the present discourage us. It is in the future we should look to if we want to send up our blood pressure. The current requirements may seem unjust—and I don't say they are, mind you—but wait until next year. If one or more of the proposed increases goes through there will be something to talk about.

Going to the Mat

Some one has suggested that wrestlers organize a union. From what I have observed of their profession I feel they are clearly entitled to call it a labor union. There appears to be a decided spread in the sums paid these slow-motion workers. They wish to have a scale, as I understand it, applicable to all who make their living by grabbing, grunting and groaning. Personally, I should ask to be paid for sitting in the audience, but that is only another instance of my failure to understand the higher things of life. The idea of a union of wrestlers would seem to offer complications. Would they be compensated for the actual time they wrestled or for both that and for the pauses between holds? If so, it seems that some would be entitled to more money than others.

Mount Alvernia Girls In Drama

"Pontia," a lenten drama will be presented by the Elementary and High School girls of the Mount Alvernia Academy in Chestnut Hill on Sunday, February 12th, at 3 p. m. in the school auditorium under the very excellent supervision of the Franciscan Sisters and Miss Margaret McElroy, the Education Supervisor.

Theresa Murray, who is well known for her splendid amateur work will be "Pontia," while Rose Marie Buckley, another very talented senior will take the part of "Petro-nilla." The charming Marguerite Brink also is typical of "Agrippina," the stately Empress of Rome. Others who are taking leading parts are Geraldine Pastorelli, very popular for her play work in the past and Cecelia Vaas, another talented senior.

Upon special request this play is to be repeated later in the month at Boston College.

Newton Squash and Tennis Club First To Flood Courts

Under expert advisement from the United States Lawn Tennis Association, the Newton Squash and Tennis Club, located at Commonwealth ave. and Chestnut tr., have this year flooded their courts for skating. This is the only club in greater Boston to flood its courts for skating, and introduces to New England a new innovation successfully applied in several other sections throughout the country.

An ideal ice surface is always available with favorable weather conditions prevailing, because, as instructed by the United States Lawn Tennis Association, the ice at night is first scraped, swept and then resurfaced by a fine water spray. Through this method, the ice is in perfect skating condition each succeeding day.

The club has added many conveniences for the comfort and pleasure of its members and guests, such as powerful flood lights at night, illuminating the entire skating area; then too, a public address system has been installed, making skating to music possible and enjoyable. A special section of the clubhouse has been equipped for the comfort of skaters in putting on and removing skates.

Several unique skating parties for the near future are now being arranged by members of the entertainment committee of the Newton Squash and Tennis Club.

STEARNS SCHOOL CENTRE

Miss Helen Sandstrom, executive secretary, read a paper outlining the many activities and projects now being carried on at the Centre. A concrete example of the type of work being done there was demonstrated by three young girls, from one of the sewing classes. They modeled dresses which had been made and designed by them.

At the close of the business meeting, Mr. C. Hassler Capron, addressed the assembly on the subject, "The Value of Light to Modern Drama." Mr. Capron's talk was supplemented with a demonstration of lighting effects on a miniature stage.

Powers' Paragraphs

that a critical condition exists in a number of cities in this Commonwealth, and that increasing financial burdens must be met, a large percentage of Bay State taxpayers, most of whom are in humble circumstances, will find little solace if the savings on taxes on their real estate are more than offset by new taxes. Personally, we believe it is unjust to increase the tax on gasoline. The greater part of automobile owners in this State find it difficult enough to meet the present cost of running motor vehicles. Between compulsory liability insurance, excise tax and the present tax on gasoline, those who own cars have a sufficient financial burden without being further made the goats. The 10% tax on electrical power will hit mostly those least able to pay it. Cigarettes are a luxury; an addition of 2 cents a package on the cost of the little smokes will bring in appreciable revenue, but will tend to decrease the sale of the "fag." Many will say this is desirable.

The proposal of Kenneth Taylor, prominent labor leader, that the State raise the needed additional revenue by conducting lotteries, has been severely condemned by many. One Boston newspaper, for example, denouncing a State lottery. Yet, this same newspaper daily prints columns of results from the horse racing tracks, giving the pari-mutuel odds and the other information sought by addicts of this legalized form of gambling, compared with which a State lottery conducted three or four times a year would be innocuous, and even highly desirable. Nor do we see the consistency of the action of a distinguished cleric, who, a few years ago was a vital factor in defeating a favorable vote by the Legislature in legalizing a State lottery, when this same gentleman condones a type of gambling on which hundreds of thousands of persons in poor circumstances spend more each month than they would on State lotteries in a year. We still believe that a State lottery is rather to be chosen than State participation in legalized gambling at horse and dog races.

The apprehensively awaited speech of Hitler's orator today brought relief, for the present at least, to hundreds of millions in Europe and elsewhere who feared that Der Fuehrer's address to the Reichstag would mean a declaration of the feared wholesale war overseas. Much of Hitler's speech naturally will not meet with the approval of most of the people in this country. But, there are many who believe that Hitler is right in asking for the return of the colonies that were taken from Germany as spoils during the World War. So far as the return of the German colonies in Africa, the writer is in full agreement. We went into Germany with the Army of Occupation and saw that country reduced to destitution. We know it was in a sorry plight for many years after, limited in natural resources and unable because of straitened finances to purchase adequate materials from other countries. With Germany in such a condition, why did the ruling elements in England and France permit Hitler and his associates from 1933 to 1938 to so outstrip them in airplanes and other modern war equipment, that they were forced to crouch at Munich? And why should President Roosevelt or others in this country take steps which would involve this country in another European war, when our dear allies in the World War utterly refused to pay back to the U. S. A. the billions it loaned them, not only to win that war, but for rehabilitation after the war? And these welters include not only the great democracies of England and France, but the totalitarian States of Germany, Italy and Japan. One thing is certain; there would be serious and widespread opposition to the participation of this country in another European war. And those who would oppose would not be confined to pro-Germans and pro-Italians. They would include a large percentage of the men who served in the A. E. F. in the World War, as well as those who were in the service but did not get overseas. Propaganda will not be as effective today as it was 20 and more years ago. Too many became wise following the exposure of the devilish lies which were spread during the World War by the Northcliffe papers and other mediums.

Woman Assaulted
At West Newton

Brook. Police cars rushed to the place but could find no one. Saturday, however, the police learned that the young woman who screamed was Miss Mona Whitehouse of 846 Watertown st. While walking down Cross st. toward her home, she was accosted by a man who seized her, put his hand over her mouth and warned her to keep quiet as he had a gun. Miss Whitehouse said she bit her assailant's hand, man, and the attacker fled. She then ran to her home.

Newton police showed Mrs. Meady and Miss Whitehouse photographs of suspects in the Newton police rogues' gallery and the two women identified as their assailant Joseph F. Pendergast, 27, formerly of Waltham st., West Newton, who gave an address on Howard st., Boston, as his home. A warrant for Pendergast's arrest was obtained by Inspector Burke and he was arrested Saturday night on Orchard ave., West Newton, by Patrolman Mague. Pendergast was identified at police headquarters by Mrs. Meady and Miss Whitehouse. He was arraigned in the Newton court on Monday, found guilty, and sentenced by Judge Mayberry to serve 6 months in Billerica prison on each charge. A suspended sentence of 3 months was also ordered to be served; Pendergast having been found guilty on a morals charge.

Davis M. Ainsner of 89 Jewett st., Newton, was fined $50 by Judge Nagle in the Newton court on Monday for driving a car so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public. He appealed. On the night of Jan. 7 a car driven by Ainsner hit two boys as they were crossing Washington st. near Jewett st. The victims of the accident, Martin Nagle, 16, of 239 Washington st., and Edward Kelly, 15, of 21 Thornton st., each had his right leg fractured. Roy Lamb of 247 Grove st., who was driving at the time of the accident, testified that Ainsner was driving at a speed of about 35 miles when he hit the boys. Mrs. John Barwise of 457 Washington st., who saw the accident, also testified as to the speed at which Ainsner was driving. Inspector Hammill testified that the skid marks from Ainsner's car measured over 60 feet.

Fined $60 For Drunken Driving

Hans Johnson, 63, of 148 Spring st., Medford, was fined $50 by Judge Crehan in the Newton court last Friday for driving a car while under the influence of liquor. He was also fined $10 for drunkenness. He appealed. Patrolmen McArdle and Kiley arrested Johnson on January 6 on Commonwealth ave., Newton Centre. They testified that they did not see the defendant operating the car, but two motorists said he had been driving it. Johnson told the judge that he was not driving the car, and the man who was driving it ran away before the police arrived.

Exhibit of Paintings Interests Newton

The Woman's Club of Newton Highlands is sponsoring an Exhibition of Paintings by Richard Briggs. Mr. Briggs, it will be recalled, won first prize at Jordan Marsh's Art Week last year, when he exhibited a portrait of his mother, Mrs. Robert Briggs. Newton residents are especially interested in his career and his works as he attended Newton schools. He was graduated from the Massachusetts School of Art. He is a member of the Guild of Boston Artists, and has exhibited at the National Academy in New York and at the Crapo Gallery in New Bedford.

This exhibition will be held in the Workshop, February 5 to February 12, inclusive, from 2 until 4 p. m. Tea will be served Sunday afternoon, with Mrs. Malcolm Green, Mrs. Benjamin R. Gilbert, Mrs. Fred G. Sandford, Mrs. Henry H. Skelton, Mrs. Carl C. Peterson, and Mrs. James deH. Raitt pouring.

To Hear Author Of "Live Alone And Like It"

Marjorie Hillis, who caught the fancy of readers in her book, "Live Alone and Like It," and again in "Orchids on Your Budget," will speak on "The Art of Gracious Living" before the Waban Woman's Club on Monday, February 6, at the Neighborhood Club House, at 2:30 p. m. She will stress the change in living conditions since Puritanism urged Spartan living.

Miss Hillis, who is the daughter of a minister, has visited many countries, and she was associate editor of Vogue when she published her first book. She became famous when she transformed the pitted "old maid" of the past into a smart, sophisticated, and much-envied "live aloner." Today, in consequence, Miss Hillis is a much-sought speaker.

Program of Home Talent

"Home Talent Day" on Friday, February 10, is sure to be a very interesting day for all members of the West Newton Women's Educational

Dressmaking Course

Club, Miss Ruth Filene and Mrs. Wilson C. Dort have planned a splendid variety program consisting of a one-act play, "Over the Tea-Cup," also a skit written by Mrs. Gordon S. Heath; a reading, "Nightingale and the Rose," by Miss Filene; and vocal songs by Richard Haas. The meeting will be held in the Unitarian Church Parish House at 2 p. m. There will be also an exhibit of handiwork.

The Hobby Class will meet with Mrs. Frederick L. Legnard, 327 Waltham st., on Tuesday, February 7, at 2 o'clock.

The West Newton Women's Educational Club was hostess to the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs for their Mid-Winter Meeting last Friday afternoon, January 27, in the Unitarian Parish House.

The meeting was opened at 2 o'clock by Mrs. Patrick Duncan, first vice-president of the Educational Club, who reported that the president, Mrs. Francis H. McCrudden, and the corresponding secretary, Mrs. D. Webster Anders, who have been seriously ill, were improving.

Mrs. Duncan presented Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, president of the Newton Federation, who took over the meeting. Mrs. Hay introduced Dr. H. D. Choate, who spoke on the pre-school child and why it was well to have a clinic at the Newton City Hall for examinations of children of this age. He asked the support of all women in this project for the making of a better generation.

On the platform with the Federation president were her secretary and corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. F. Mullineaux and Mrs. A. Thomas Sundborg; Mrs. Malcolm Green, president of the Newton Highlands Woman's Club; Mrs. Duncan, Mrs. Gordon S. Heath, Second vice-president; and Mrs. D. Earle Brackett, Program chairman, all of the Hostess Club.

Mrs. Malcolm Green spoke a few words on "Peace," and asked all clubwomen to write to their members of Congress urging them to amend the "Neutrality" Act so that our nation may be a "good neighbor" working with other countries throughout the world to prevent war from spreading—the only real way to keep America out of war, it is believed.

As program for the joint meeting which occurred on the regular Club day of the Educational Club, Mr. Phileas Rice, Monodramatist, Dean of Leland Powers School, gave a splendid play-reading of "David Garrick." The speaker has become nationally known in play-reading, traveling from coast to coast, due to his ability in this art. He is head of the Rice School at Martha's Vineyard and also of the Rice School in Cleveland.

During the social hour, the pourers at the coffee and tea tables were three past presidents of the Educational Club, Mrs. Joseph A. McDonald, Mrs. Raymond O. Littlefield, and Mrs. Ernest A. Dockstead. The Hostess was Mrs. George E. Denig, assisted by the Hospitality committee.

To Entertain Presidents With Pageant

February 9th will be Presidents' Day for the Newton Community Club, when, as the name of this special day indicates, presidents of neighboring clubs will be especially invited guests. The afternoon tea will open with a Reception in Underwood School Hall at 1:30 p. m., and the meeting will start at 2 o'clock. Guests of honor will be Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth, president of the Massachusetts State Federation; Mrs. William F. Leach, Twelfth District director; Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, president of the Newton Federation; and other presidents of the district.

A Trio will furnish music, and refreshments will be served following the program. Mrs. Raymond A. Green will entertain by a talk on "Scandinavian Blondes in Costume," which will be illustrated by blondes among the Club members, wearing the beautiful costumes which Mrs. Green found in remote corners of Scandinavia and the Northland. The intricate handwork and charm of color in quaint costumes will be matched by the description of as quaint customs in these countries; and of added interest will be the appearance of Club members displaying them. Mrs. Green is a former member of the Community Club, and is well known among Newton clubwomen, for she resides in Newtonville, where her husband is the assistant principal of the High School. Her lecture is most attractive and is presented with equal attractiveness.

Guest Night of the Newton Community Club was held in the Channing Church Parlor Thursday, January 26, at 8 o'clock. A large and enthusiastic audience, including many "club husbands" who had this opportunity of being their wives' guest, enjoyed an outstanding program.

The stage was tastefully decorated with palms, ferns, and cut flowers. Before the program and during the Reception, Mr. Albert Tashjian, accompanist by Mrs. Norman L. Shipley, rendered several delightful violin solos.

Mr. James B. Pond, of New York, in a compelling and amusing lecture on "World Celebrities" whom he had met, gave some of the characteristics of such personages as Irving Berlin, Mark Twain, Richard Byrd, Upton Close, George Bernard Shaw, John Masfald, John Galsworthy, and Lord Dunsany.

The evening was made festive by sociability, by refreshments, and by music for dancing furnished by Ken Reeves' Orchestra.

Hostesses were the members of the Executive Board, composed of the officers and chairman, as previously announced, and headed by the Club president, Mrs. Frank H. Briggs, who presided.

Ski Carnival At Mt. Hood

Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 4, and 5, the annual winter carnival is to be held in Melrose. There will be activities on both days that will bring to Melrose some of the outstanding skiers of New England. There will also be fancy skaters from all the leading clubs of this section. College hockey teams are to play at the Mount Hood Rink and all the high school skiers will compete in many events which are to be held Saturday morning. It is expected there will be at least 75,000 persons in Melrose to witness the events.

The Fourth Annual Winter Carnival Ball will be held in Memorial Hall on Saturday evening at 8:00 p. m. with Lee Forest's Orchestra led by "Bob" Gordon. This ball, as in other years, will prove to be a gala event and very colorful, with the hall decorated to represent an outdoor winter scene. Those attending are urged to wear winter sport clothing, and come prepared for an enjoyable evening.

NEWTON WINS N. U. MEET FOR FOURTH YEAR

Newton High, led by Co-captain Bill Pescosolido, who scored 5 points, and Co-captain Don MacKinnon, who to everyone's surprise, finished in fourth place in the hurdles, triumphed for the fourth consecutive year in the North-eastern Interscholastic track meet last Saturday at the Boston Garden. Before an enthusiastic crowd the Orange and Black captured one first, three seconds, a third and fourth to amass 17 points, leaving Boston English with 10½ and Medford a half point behind the latter, in a close battle for second. Bill Pescosolido took a third in the hurdles and a second in the high jump. Art Hughes and George "Bulldog" Hutchings took seconds in the 600 and 1000-yards, respectively. State champion Don MacKinnon finished fourth in the hurdles. The flashy relay team of Bill Hurley, Don Ashley, Fred Hall and Don MacKinnon broke the existing record by several seconds, their time being two minutes, twenty-eight and four-tenths seconds. It was the relay that clinched the meet for the Enoch-coached forces.

In the hurdles Bill Pescosolido and Don MacKinnon won their trials heats, but MacKinnon, last year's winner, was slow getting off and barely squeezed into fourth and Bill copped third behind Gibbs of Worcester Classical and Dick Francis of Boston English. In the dash, Jim Beloit and Bill Hurley each won their heats but were eliminated in the semi-finals. Concanon of English was awarded first, followed by Griga of Chelsea, Goldsmith of Malden, and Sliney of B. C. High in the final which only a photo-finish could have accurately given the true results.

In the 300, Joe Paglia, Newton hope, finished well up in his heat but the heat winners were the only ones that qualified. Caldwell of Brockton came from behind to win the final over Bill Simon of Brighton, Dugan of Malden and Hensen of Boston Trade finished in third and fourth respectively.

The 600 was a heart breaker as far as the Newton fans were concerned.

Fred Hall was leading the pack in his heat when he suddenly slowed down and stopped. He apparently thought it was his last lap. The fans yelled to him but he couldn't get started again. Art Hughes ran a nice race to win his heat and his time was good enough for second. Reid of Medford was first with a time of 1:18.1. Nute of Medford was third and Farrow of Mechanic Arts was fourth.

The 1000 was packed with thrills for the Newton fans. "Bulldog" Hutchings, starting in the rack, moved up along the outside, took the lead and drove for the tape to win his heat handsily and chalked up the second best time of the event. Blair of Medford took first with a time of 2:25.5. Parker of Arlington and MacMillan of Everett took the two remaining two places.

In the field events, Newton took only one place, Pesky's second in the high jump. Harris of Worcester Commerce and Bill had a duel for first place when the bar was at 5 ft. 9½ in. There were plenty of thrills and suspense for the crowd. They both cleared each height until the bar reached 6 ft. 1.4 in. when Pesky failed. Harris went on as far as 6 ft. 1.34 in.

The relays were run off in true form with only one team beating the mark that last year's Newton relay team set for the new Garden track. New Bedford held the best time up until Newton-Malden took to the boards. Newton High went to town in this event, doing the aforementioned time of 2:28.4, to set a new track record. Malden finished a few seconds behind.

Newton Day at Big Ford Plant In Somerville

Newton Residents Invited To Inspect Assembly Line

The Ford Motor Company will be host to the people of Newton next Wednesday, February 8 at its huge assembly plant in Somerville. It has designated this day as "Newton Day" and it extends an invitation to all residents of this city to visit the big plant and under the direction of trained guides, be shown through the gigantic building and see the assembling of the famous V 8 Ford automobiles.

The Ford plant at Somerville is the only automobile factory in New England. It is 1375 feet long and covers many acres of ground. Last year an addition, 250 feet in length was built there. Three thousand men are employed at the plant and it has a capacity of 400 cars per day. Last year high cycle electrical tool equipment was installed at the plant, resulting in more work being put on the tools and less on the men. There are over 5 miles of conveyors in the plant and the big assembly conveyor is over 1000 feet long. Newton folks who visit the plant next Wednesday will have the opportunity to see the very interesting process of the long-famed Ford efficiency as the automobiles will be gradually assembled along the conveyors and emerge at the end of the long assembly conveyor, finished products. One of the most interesting phases of the work at the plant is the electric welding department, where the floor, sides and top of the cars are welded together in only a few minutes. Other interesting processes are the enameling, with its kilns and huge conveyors, and the upholstering job. From the time the bare frame is placed on the assembly line until the car is rolled off, finished, takes only 45 minutes. The Ford Company purchases much of the material used in the manufacture of its cars in New England, and the orders from Ford for materials and equipment give work to thousands in New England factories.

The plant will be open on Newton Day from 9 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. Mayor Childs and most of the city officials have been invited to attend, and are expected to be among the Newtonians visiting the plant. Through the co-operation of Supt. of Schools Julius Warren, about 250 high school pupils will be conveyed in special busses from the high school to the Ford plant. Invitations have also been sent to a number of organizations in the Newtons, including the women's clubs, to visit the Ford factory on that day and see how automobiles are made. A few years ago, during "open house," in 5 days, 112,000 persons visited the plant. Newton residents on the day set aside for them next Wednesday will avoid the presence of large crowds. The plant is kept extremely clean, and visitors can view the activities of the bustling workmen under most favorable conditions.

The sole Newton dealers for Ford cars and trucks is the Newton Motor Sales Company with showrooms and service stations at 771 Washington st., Newtonville, and 714 Beacon st., Newton Centre. The telephone numbers are Newton North 4200, and Centre Newton 5650. They are actively co-operating in the "Newton Day" at the Ford plant. A direct route to the plant from Newton is via Watertown, Mount Auburn and Harvard Square, thence along Kirkland st. to Union Square, Somerville, and then over the Northern Artery a short distance until the big Ford factory looms up.

NEWTON TOPS MELROSE TO GO TO FIRST DIVISION

Last Saturday the orange and black again entered the win column by turning back the hard-hitting Melrose sextet 3-1. The local boys led by Captain Jack Carder who scored his first goal of the season outplayed, outskated, and outscored the Melrose team. Newton by winning entered the first division of the Greater Boston Interscholastic Hockey League for the first time in several years. The whole team romped over the Melrose sextet in the small Boston Arena.

Things started rolling right off as Tom Dugan shot on the face-off but was wild. The game was played pretty much between the blue-lines. It was enlivened considerably by the rockwall defense of the orange and black's stalwart defensemen Alex Skene and Jack Holter. Dugan shot again but it bounced off the post after he had taken it through the Melrose defense. Melrose put on a burst of energy round the Newton goal; they were twice as hot as mustard. Goalie Cliff Goodband made some excellent saves to keep the red light from going on. Newton drew first blood when they scored on a Bud Hurley shot five and a half minutes of the first canto. It was just after this goal that Capt. Jake Liston of Melrose tried to stop a shot but got his head in the way and was injured. Time was called and it was finally announced that he would be unable to return. Paul Dearborn was substituted at this time. In the next three minutes of play Newton scored twice. Jack Carder scored on Bud Hurley's excellent pass to put Newton two up on Melrose. Two minutes later Tom Dugan scored unassisted to put the orange and black three points to the good.

The second period saw Capt. Liston returned to his cage and Melrose substituting very freely. They were apparently trying to wear the local sextet down with their steady flow of fresh men. Alex Skene was given

Woman Bookkeeper Gets Year in Jail

Florence Holmes, 48, of Brockton, was sentenced by Judge Gray in the Middlesex Superior Court on Monday to serve one year in Billerica prison for the theft of $2885 from the Starkweather Engineering Company of Newton. The woman had been bookkeeper for the Starkweather Company and on the 27th of last June she pleaded guilty to taking the money. She was then put on probation on condition that she pay $500 at that time and $500 every 6 months. She borrowed the $500 for the first payment, and had made no subsequent payment.

A physician in a small Pennsylvania city owns a Fox Terrier who rides about with him while he makes his calls on the sick. One day as he came out of a house he was surprised to see his dog out of the car, waiting by the gate. As he approached, the dog in a demonstrative way led him down the street and around a corner. There they came upon a Collie sitting on his haunches and licking one of his paws. Upon examination the doctor found a needle sticking in the flesh of the paw. He removed it, and with a couple of thank-you wags of his tail the Collie trotted on down the street. This story is remarkable of animal sagacity. It is impossible to explain how the mind of this dog functioned, but apparently his close association with his master had implanted the idea that it was a doctor's duty to help the sick and injured.

In Hungary there is a law, rigidly enforced, which states that if you want to dock the tail of a puppy it must be done before he dog is two weeks of age. Speaking of laws, in Georgia a veterinarian must serve an internship in a veterinary hospital before he is permitted to practice his profession.

Question: I have been told that lime water is a beneficial addition to my dog's drinking water. He is a 6 months old part Collie part Shepherd. Should I do this?—R. G. L.

Self Responsibility Is Aim of Social Science Says Father Sheridan

Speaks at Annual Meeting of Newton Catholic Welfare Committee Last Sunday

The annual meeting of the Newton Catholic Welfare Committee was held on Sunday afternoon, February 5, in the auditorium of the high school of Our Lady's parish at Newton. Charles C. Dasey, president of the committee, was chairman of the meeting. He welcomed the members and guests who were present and gave a brief outline of the work of the Catholic Welfare Committee.

Mr. Dasey then presented Rev. John A. Sheridan, executive secretary-treasurer of the Catholic Welfare Committee, who read a very interesting and scholarly paper on "Modern Social Service." Father Sheridan said in part—"Social Service has progressed from occasional charity and benevolence to a position of importance in shaping human thoughts and affairs. Social service in the wide sense of the word, began with the expulsion of our first parents from the Garden of Eden. Disease, concupiscence, natural disturbances and death have, since that time, contributed in multitudinous ways to bring distress to men and call for measures of relief. The necessity of social service arose from the structure of the family and extended with the growth of tribal and national organizations. Poverty and social disabilities of various kinds soon constituted a community problem, which happily found a sympathetic recognition in the heart of man. As the poet remarks—'His pity gave, ere charity began.'"

"In addition, there were considerations of the Divine Law, written into human ordinances, that pointed out certain mutual obligations in society on the basis of social justice. Upon this structure, eternal in principle, Christ gave His greater law of love and charity. To the question—'Which is the great commandment of the law?' he answered, 'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with thy whole heart and thy whole soul, and with thy whole mind—and the second is like, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.'"

"Of the various forms of social service, the most primitive and outstanding throughout the history of society, has undoubtedly been that of almsgiving through public and private agencies. The Public Dole became one of the great problems of the Roman Empire, and based upon a fundamentally faulty economic system, was one of the contributing causes for the decline of the Roman character. Its apparent necessity and its dangers still constitute a leading problem for society in the 20th century. Great chapters in the history of social service were written by the religious orders and lay confraternities of the Middle Ages and later, with such outstanding leaders, distinguished both in time and method as St. Francis of Assisi and St. Vincent de Paul.

Into this tradition must be written also the permanent contributions of institutional development through hospitals, orphanages, and asylums of various types, principally under the inspiration and support of the church."

"To dismiss these works of charity as concerned merely with the alleviation of distress would, of course, ignore the facts. Institutional aid, particularly where economic distress is not the primary concern, aims wherever possible, at the preparation of the individual for his proper place in society. This has been an underlying principle in the works of hospitalization, in the rescue of foundlings, the establishment of orphanages and similar projects in the Middle Ages, quite as much as in modern times."

"Nevertheless, it is undeniable that a great deal of social service, in the present as in the past, has concerned itself chiefly and often rested content, with the immediate relief of poverty to such an extent, that the beautiful old Latin word 'Caritas,' charity, meaning love of God and love of our fellowmen, has come to mean mere almsgiving. The admirable institution of the Christmas basket and similar forms of occasional relief have demonstrated the benevolence of humanity, but by themselves they have not effected any real change in the status quo of the impoverished. Indeed, this form of appeasement with its odious distinction between the worthy and the unworthy as written in the English Poor Laws of the 18th and early 19th centuries, often did as much harm as good, and would today, if it were not for our Central Index and clearing house for Christmas giving."

Father Sheridan said that modern social science aims at the adjustment of the individual to enable him to take care of himself, and also has in its program the problems of crime, domestic peace, decent living conditions and recreation. It has become an intensified development of the idea of Christian charity, with social work as a learned and practical profession. Father Sheridan gave an outline of the development of secular social service work in Europe and this country and then referred to the work of Catholic lay organizations such as St. Vincent de Paul and Diocesan charities. The St. Vincent de Paul Society, organized 100 years ago in Paris, now has Councils in every large diocese in the world. There are four conferences in Catholic parishes in Newton, and delegates from these together with St. Bernard's Aid Society form the Newton Catholic Welfare Committee. These five groups meet separately once a week to report on all relief cases visited, and to decide, not as one man, but as a body, on all cases demanding supervision. On the first Monday of each month three delegates from each of the five conferences meet as the committee and with the Executive Secretary discuss problems and decide on the amount of money needed to carry on the work of each conference for the coming month. Nothing is done haphazard; there is check and double check to see that 100 per cent of every dollar is expended for those in need. Postage, telephone calls and incidental expenses are all paid for by individual members and not charged to the conference.

Father Sheridan gave statistics to show the work done during 1938 by the five groups affiliated with the (Continued on Page 4)

Declares Worcester Turnpike Inadequate; Bicyclists Scored

Newton Condemned For Having Too Many "Stop Signs" At Safety Council Meeting

The engineering committee of the Newton Safety Council, conducted a meeting on Wednesday night at Newton Police headquarters. Alfred M. Miner of Newtonville, chairman of the committee, was in charge of the program. He introduced Edgar N. Copell, traffic engineer of the State Department of Public Works. Mr. Copell told the gathering that Newton has been asking for authorization of too many "Stop" signs at locations other than through streets, and that in the future his department will not authorize more of these signs so readily. He commented that too many of these signs cause motorists to ignore them. He said that nearly all of the traffic signs in Newton are in good condition and the signal equipment meets requirements, but some of the stop signs at street intersections have not received official approval because of their location.

Referring to the traffic signal system at West Newton business section Copell commented that the signals system there was discontinued soon after it was installed, and flashing lights substituted because merchants there objected to elimination of angular parking. Copell said it was a pity that the system was changed, that diagonal parking is hazardous and it is more important to get traffic through than provide more parking space. He said the Worcester turnpike had not proved to be such an efficient highway as had been expected. The dividing reservation, 10 feet wide, is too narrow, and its straight curbing is dangerous. The traffic lanes on the pike are also too narrow and have caused sideswiping. The reconstructed Newburyport pike will have a dividing reservation 20 feet wide, lanes 11 feet wide instead of 10.

Mr. Copell said the bicycle situation in this State is appalling with more bicycles being ridden each year on our highways. He said main highways should be prohibited to bicycles. He asserted that business should be kept off the principal arterial highways, such as the Worcester, Providence and Newburyport pikes, and he said the State officials are trying

Spurs World Wide Fight On Narcotics

H. J. Anslinger Declares Boston "Cleanest City" in U.S.

This section of the country is comparatively free from the menace of narcotics declared H. J. Anslinger, Commissioner of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics, who spoke before the Newton Community Forum last Sunday afternoon. Classifying Boston as the "cleanest city in the United States," he advocated the adoption of a uniform narcotic law, however. There are only seven states who have not adopted such a law, and Massachusetts is one of the seven. Referring to the lack of enforcement of opium laws in the far east, Mr. Anslinger criticized the Japanese for not increasing their penalty for peddling dope, which is only two months.

Throughout the course of his speech the work of Attorney General E. A. Tamm and Police Commissioner Thibault in the fight against narcotics was lauded. Referring to the excellent condition of Boston, Mr. Anslinger gave much of the credit to Assistant U. S. Attorney McCarthy who, "has made Boston the cleanest city as far as narcotics are concerned."

After the talk the question was raised regarding the need of narcotic law in Massachusetts if Boston has such a good record. At Mr. McCarthy explained that the present state law requires proof of a person's "intent to sell" narcotics while the Federal law forbids the mere possession of any dope.

"A lot has been smuggled into this country," said Mr. Anslinger reiterating on the menace of the dope smuggling business in the United States. Nearly every police force of the important countries of the world have rallied in an attempt to wipe out this cowardly use of dope declared Mr. Anslinger. United States has led all the way in this fight to wipe out this means of a "cowardly retreat from the realities of life"; however, such countries as Persia, Japan and China are merely prolonging the ultimate disappearance of narcotics.

Wesley Furbush's Home Burned

The home of Wesley J. Furbush at 66 Davis ave., West Newton, was badly damaged by fire early Thursday morning. Mr. Furbush, 74, and an invalid, was assisted from the house out onto a second story piazza by his wife, and the couple were then taken down ladders by the firemen. The blaze was caused by sparks from a fireplace. Another fire had been discovered by Mrs. Furbush about 11 o'clock Wednesday night when a chair and blanket in front of the fireplace, where Mr. Furbush had been sitting, caught fire. Mrs. Furbush and a neighbor extinguished this fire. About 2:30 a. m. Thursday she was awakened and found the room where the first fire had occurred, again ablaze. Mrs. Furbush courageously crawled out onto the roof and to the window of an apartment occupied by Daniel McNeil and family. After awakening them, she crawled back to her own apartment and rescued her husband. An alarm was phoned to fire alarm headquarters. The damage was estimated at $8000. Mr. Furbush was formerly a trustee of the Newton schools.

Mayor Names Playgrounds

Mayor Childs on Monday night, sent a communication to the Board of Aldermen giving the information that he had given names to a number of playgrounds in this city. One, the Newton Highlands playground, was named after a man who had not been a Newton resident; Joseph Lee of Boston, designated by the Mayor as the father of public playgrounds in this country. The Newton Center playground was named the Brewer playground, honoring William Brewer, chairman of the Playground Commission from its inception in 1912, until 1925. The playground at Auburndale was named the Lyons playground by the mayor, honoring the late Thomas Lyons, a member of the playground commission for many years, a former alderman, and labelled a public spirited citizen by the Mayor. The Oak Hill playground the Mayor named after the late Gabinet Hurley. She was active in Oak Hill affairs and her family donated much of the land for the Oak Hill civic center. The small playground on Kilbourne rd., West Newton, is named the "Wellington Playground" honoring the man who gave the land there. Likewise a small playground between Newton Highlands and Waban is named for Frank L. Richardson, its donor. The play yard adjoining the Angier School at Waban, the Mayor named in honor of George Angier, for whom the school is also named.

MAYOR NONCOMMITTAL ON PUBLIC HEARING

Asserts He Is Following Advice Of City Solicitor In Matter—Says "Others May Bring Charges"

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night Alderman Inches, acting as chairman of the special committee which was appointed to investigate the office of Sergeant-Mechanic of the Newton Police Department and his work, read a report which had been signed by all five members of the committee. The report was accepted by the Board without opposition. The committee which was appointed by vote of the Board of Aldermen on September 13, 1937, and continued since, includes Aldermen Inches, chairman; Fahey, Floyd, McCabe and Walker. Since that time the committee conferred with Mayor Childs regarding Sergeant Cullen, the sergeant-mechanic, the last conference having been on Tuesday, January 31.

The report refrained from giving information which might be considered unfair or prejudicial to anyone against whom charges may be preferred but intimated that unless the Mayor failed to take action by filing charges and ordering a public hearing before the next meeting the committee would feel that "it will be its duty" to read the sections of the report referring to the sergeant-mechanic and thus lay the situation before the public.

Mayor Childs remained non-committal in regard to the demand that he order a public hearing and asserted that he was following the advice of City Solicitor Joseph W. Bartlett and indicated that he would discuss the situation with some of the persons involved. He remarked that "others may bring charges if they wish."

The report read by Alderman Inches follows:—

The committee appointed to investigate the office of the Sergeant-Mechanic wishes to make a very brief statement.

Your committee has received from His Honor the Mayor a copy of the report made by the City Solicitor as a result of his investigation of the Police Department. This report is divided into two parts: the first has to do with the investigation of the Police Department as a whole, ordered by His Honor the Mayor; the second part consists of a report on the alleged activities of the Sergeant-Mechanic, requested by the Board of Aldermen.

We make no comment on that part of the report not concerned with the Sergeant-Mechanic, first because the Board's authority to our committee did not extend beyond an inquiry into that office, and second because the report does not indicate any necessity for action with reference to the Police Force as a whole.

That part of the report in which the alleged activities of the Sergeant-Mechanic are reviewed is of an entirely different character. The City Solicitor expressly states in his report as follows:—

"The Aldermanic Committee presented me with information in reference to alleged past activities of Sergeant Cullen. I am unable to pass over three or four of these cases with any satisfaction to myself. The inferences and statements are so serious that you, as Mayor of the City, should personally satisfy yourself about them."

Mr. Bartlett then briefly sets forth the cases referred to. To the best of our knowledge and belief, the report of the City Solicitor was in the hands of His Honor the Mayor on January 9. Receiving from the Mayor no communication regarding it, although statements concerning it, purporting to come from the Mayor, were published in the press in the meantime, the chairman of your committee called upon the Mayor on January 17 to ask for the report. A copy was received by the committee on January 25th, and without any recommendations from the Mayor or any indication as to what action he was going to take, no action has been initiated by His Honor the Mayor to date.

The committee believes that the matters discussed by the City Solicitor in his report are of such a serious character that it is an absolute necessity that the Sergeant-Mechanic be required to explain them at a public hearing. If they should be quashed, concealed, smothered at a private hearing, or withheld from public investigation in any way, not only will an injustice be done to the man against whom these charges are made, and who should be given every opportunity publicly to prove his innocence and clear his name, but the case will always be regarded by the citizens with suspicion. Failure to bring all of the facts into the open would affect disastrously not only the morale of the Police Department but of every other department in this city. On the other hand, if upon a hearing the evidence stated in the report demanding explanation should not be adequately explained or rebutted, we believe the officer should no longer remain in the city's employ.

Your committee had a conference with His Honor the Mayor on Tuesday morning, January 31st, and requested him to bring about the filing of charges against the Sergeant-Mechanic and to order a public hearing.

His Honor the Mayor, without committing himself as to what, if any, action he would take, stated that he would discuss the question with the City Solicitor.

In view of the above the committee is not offering at this time a transcript of that part of the Police Report which refers to Sergeant Cullen. We do not believe that the Board would wish us to give out any information which might possibly be considered as unfair or prejudicial (Continued on Page 4)

Stamp Club Holding Exhibit At Library

The Norumbega Stamp Club has announced a stamp exhibit which is being held at the Newton Corner Library. The exhibit opened on Thursday and will close tomorrow. Among the interesting displays will be 100 frames of unusual stamps displayed by specialists in their selected fields, showing only selected copies and many rare items. One interesting panel will be of Airplane Flights. It consists of letters from 14 different countries covering 52,000 miles. Another frame contains 75 different triangular stamps, another "ship" stamps and others first flight covers, Lindbergh Airmail, ship to shore mail, and other oddities. One of the most attractive frames will be of a block of four $5.00 stamps of the new Presidential series of which there are only 766 blocks in existence. Contests and prizes and the assistance of stamp clubs in the schools are assisting to make this, the second, exhibit a success. The library is open from 2:30 to 5 and from 6:30 to 9 p. m.

Drove to Endanger, Fined $25, Appeals

Hugh MacDonnell, 6 Highland terrace, Newtonville, was fined $25 by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court last Friday for driving so as to endanger the safety of the public. He appealed. On January 17 a car driven by MacDonnell opposite 129 Washington st., Newton, hit a truck driven by Edward Grant of Boyd st., causing the truck to hit a parked car. MacDonnell testified that another car forced his car into the truck, but that Sergeant Bannon testified that when he interviewed MacDonnell at the Newton Hospital shortly after the accident, the defendant told him that he had fallen asleep at the wheel.

Girl Fined For Reckless Driving

Clementine Panella, 18, of 97 Pennsylvania ave., Newton Upper Falls, was fined $25 by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court on Monday for driving a car so as to endanger the safety of the public. On December 5 a car driven by the Panella girl hit Rose DeMichele of 32 Keefe ave., Upper Falls, and seriously injured her. The defendant said she had made a wide turn at the corner of Chestnut and Eliot sts. where the accident occurred, that she was driving slowly and did not see the victim of the accident until a passenger in her car shouted. Elvira DeMichele, a sister of the girl hit, testified that the Panella girl stated after the accident that she did not see the victim because the windshield on the car was all steamed up. Several other witnesses of the accident also testified. William Hayden, attorney for the defendant, asserted the criminal charge had been brought as a build-up for a civil suit in the case. Judge Mayberry told him that the Panella girl could not see where she was going, and that is operating to endanger.

Letters To The Editor

WANTS ROUTE 128 EXTENDED

To the Editor:

In the need for improvement in the traffic situation in Newton one is reminded that a report upon one very important form of relief is stated in House Bill No. 64 in the present Legislature. The first item in the list of projects for the six year programme is "the continuation of Route No. 128, beginning at the terminus of this circumferential highway at its intersection with the Worcester Turnpike, thence in a northerly and easterly direction through Wellesley, Newton, Weston, Waltham, Lincoln, Lexington, Burlington, Woburn, Reading, Wakefield, and Lynnfield to the Newburyport Turnpike at or near its intersection with the new Peabody rd. Also from the easterly terminus of said circumferential highway at its intersection with Whiting st. in Hingham thence in a northerly direction to Rockland st. at its intersection with the Nantasket rd., at a cost not to exceed $5,700,000.00."

Now this whole project need not wait for the final completion or funds for the whole work of construction at one time but a part should be started at once in the most congested portion of the proposed route. This is through Newton and Waltham. It is possible for the first section to continue across Newton immediately. This would straighten out the problem of the traffic through Newton Highlands, Newtonville with its many schools and public building along the way and the shopping district and carry the cross country connection around rather than through the dense area.

It would open up new areas for development, relieve the expense of heavy maintenance for the City of Newton and be the greatest convenience to the travelling public who do not desire to use any of the facilities of the present location.

A concerted effort should be made by organizations, individuals and public officials to aid in the starting of this much needed improvement.

HERBERT J. KELLAWAY.

Newton Burglars Get 1 Year Term

Donald Gillon and Donald Whitman, each sentenced to 1 year in Billerica prison by Judge Gray at Middlesex Superior Court in Cambridge last Friday. The pair were found guilty of burglarizing the home of Louis Heller, 1650 Commonwealth ave., West Newton, and stealing property valued at $1200. Judge Gray was lenient with the pair. Newton police had charges against them of breaking into four other Newton homes, and police of other cities and towns charge the pair with having stolen about $10,000 worth of property in a score of burglaries. At the end of their year's sentence the two young burglars may be re-arrested on some of these other charges. The charge on which Judge Gray sentenced Gillon and Whitman was for breaking and entering in the daytime. The other four burglaries in Newton were committed in the night time. On these more serious charges the pair were ordered to be placed on probation for 2 years, beginning at the end of their prison term. Judge Gray was reluctant to send Gillon and Whitman either to State prison or to Concord because neither had a bad police record previously. In Whitman's home at Worcester $500 in loot was recovered. More was found in Boston pawnshops. Gillon had worked for a short time in a Newton Corner lunch room.

Newton School Days On The Air Again

Several of the secondary schools of Newton will step into their mid-winter radio broadcasts which during these last few years has become known as "Newton School Days." WAAB will be the outlet from 8:30 to 8:45 a. m. each Friday, beginning February 17 and continuing through April 14, excepting April 7 which is Good Friday.

This year the theme will work from the school out to the community for the first broadcast given by the Day Junior High School. The Newton High School will follow that with the spotlight on parents. Warren Junior High School will tell the radio audience what the parent can do in helping out the school. Weeks Junior High School will dramatize its broadcast around the other community educational agencies. Newton High School will pick up its broadcast again with the subject "The Golden Path of Hobbies." Day returns to the air amplifying on the same topic known as "Hobbying Along Knowledge Highway." Warren then offers a "Curiosity Cruise Through Life." The Weeks Junior High School completes the cycle with another "Hobby" broadcast, showing the values of exercise.

Material in all of these will be presented entirely by boys and girls of these schools, and the scripts of their own productions will have been carefully rehearsed for a better performance than ever. Real values have been demonstrated in each of the participating units for the pupils electing this type of work.

Newton has been a pioneer in the field of pupil broadcasting, and has put flesh into a commendable scheme because of its constructive action along these lines. The faculty members in charge of production at each of the schools are as follows: Day Junior High School, Mr. Alden Read, assisted by Miss Helen Spelman; Warren Junior High School, Mr. Carl Penny, assisted by Miss Esther Pepin and Mr. Charles Regan; Weeks Junior High School, Mrs. Dorotia Blake; Newton Senior High School, Miss Helen Lee, Director of the Microphone Club.

The broadcasting unit from the Senior High School under Miss Lee's direction last spring was able to reach the Honorable Mention round of the National Broadcasting's Student Contest of 1938. Mr. Roy Harlow of the Yankee Network was so impressed with the creative ability as demonstrated in their competitive script.

"Cox & Box" and "Change Partners" at Channing Chapel next Tuesday night.

A special horse-car will run to Boston after the close of the Newton Bicycle Club's entertainment at Nonantum Hall on the 15th. Edmond's orchestra will furnish music for dancing.

The physician's certificate as to the death of Mrs. Rebecca Pomroy gave as the primary cause "the old age of a remarkably busy life" and secondarily "an apoplectic congestion followed by angina pectoris."

The Leap Year's party at Cole's Hall last Wednesday night was well attended. The floor matrons did their work well in filling the sets and finding partners for the ladies. At supper each lady attended to her partner's wants as though she had been used to it for the past four years.

At the Eliot Literary on Tuesday evening there was a doll drill prettily performed by the following young girls in nurses' costume under command of Daisy Davis; Carrie Coppins, Mamie Childs, May Page, Belle Davis, Marion Franklin, Sadie Basset, Abbie Weston and Blanche Rice. Instrumental music was furnished during the evening by a quintet of young violinists—Masters W. and E. Ellison, Williams, Calkins and Emory, led by their teacher, J. O. Freeland of Framingham. The program also included a trio by Allen Parmerton, cornet; Willie Ellison, violin; and Effie Hibbard, piano. Also a recitation, "Hohenlinden," by Charles Kepner, with burlesque gestures.

The annual declamation at the high school by members of the first class took place on Friday morning.

An audience of 900 gathered at Eliot Church Sunday afternoon to pay last tribute to the lamented Mrs. Rebecca Pomroy. There were many impressive features; the large company giving evidence that her death was a loss to the whole community; the long line of the heart-stricken children, to whom she had been more than a mother; the unsectarian services participated in by all the Newton Protestant clergymen; and the military honors paid to the deceased, whose coffin, wrapped in the nation's flag was followed into the church by the Grand Army Post. A military funeral for a woman is a rare event, and never has such an honor been better deserved. (Mrs. Pomroy was a Civil War nurse, and conducted the Pomroy Home for orphan children on Hovey st.—Ed.)

West Newton school children were disappointed in the sleigh ride in the "Snow Bird" last Monday afternoon. There was too little snow for the proposed trip.

50 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, Feb. 1, 1889

The Eliot Church clock was illuminated for the first time on Thursday night and made a very brilliant appearance.

The semi-annual drill of the high school battalion will be held at Eliot Hall on Friday afternoon, February 22. After the drill there will be dancing and social features in Armory Hall.

Citizens living on Washington st. near Armory Hall would like to know why such a noise was allowed between the hours of 12 and 3 on Thursday morning during the dance. They ask if we have a police force why no attempt is made to keep the streets orderly during the night?

A large number of entries have been received for the poultry show of the Newton Fanciers Club at Armory Hall which will open on Feb. 5 and continue for 4 days. A large number of birds have been entered and 600 coops, capable of containing 1,200 birds have been procured. Many rabbits, pigeons and guinea pigs will also be shown.

The City Marshal is looking sharply after violators of the no-license liquor law. On Saturday night the police raided two places and secured quite an amount of beer and hard liquor.

The fourth death in Newton Centre by the present outbreak of diphtheria occurred on Tuesday night, it being a little daughter of John Cody, who is Dr. Loring's coachman.

Robert Waite, 14, son of Henry Waite of Fern st., Auburndale, died of diphtheria on Friday evening after a few days' illness. He attended Newton High School and was a bright scholar. The day before he became ill, he went for a ride on George Barthelme's baker wagon, from which he undoubtedly caught the germs of the disease, as three of Barthelme's children have died from the disease.

Last Saturday afternoon a woman was engaged in washing the entries in Cole's Block. She tried to light the gas but could find no burners. When it became dark the entries suddenly became illuminated. The woman fled from the building in fright and said that either spirits abounded in the place or the building was on fire. She was reassured and told it was only the electric lights which had gone on. She was rather dubious about entering the building again for she said, "Neither man nor woman came into the entry to put a light to the burners."

Powers' Paragraphs

We have been asked by some elderly residents of Newton, who do not drive automobiles, and cannot afford chauffeurs and therefore must walk, to again comment on the condition of Newton's sidewalks. On Feb. 15, 1937, a progressive, considerate Newton Board of Aldermen amended the city ordinance relative to the clearing of snow from sidewalks, and the Mayor approved. This ordinance had been passed about 60 years ago, and until most of Newton's influential citizens used automobiles for transportation instead of their legs, the ordinance was enforced. But, for many years it had not been enforced by the Newton police. The writer for years has agitated for the enforcement of the snow removal ordinance, and a few years ago former Alderman Guzzi took up the fight. As a result a special committee of the Aldermen was appointed to study the matter of having snow removed from Newton's sidewalks, and thus making travel safer for pedestrians during winter months. The committee was quite dilatory, but after having been prodded by Alderman Temperley they brought in a report, and that report instead of containing recommendations which would result in having the sidewalks cleared of snow after storms, as had been expected, recommended that the old ordinance be amended so that sidewalks would no longer have to be cleared of snow by abutters except in business districts. The committee was very considerate, but not for pedestrians. It was considerate particularly for those people who can afford to live in sections with large lots of land, and who previously had to pay someone for shovelling snow, unless they could or would shovel it themselves. The reason given by the committee for its action was—that it was unfair to make persons who had improved sidewalks abutting their property to have them cleared of snow, while neighbors whose property was abutted by unimproved sidewalks, did not have to shovel off the snow. Conversely, the committee did not reason that it would have been logical to compel the abutters to clear the unimproved sidewalks of snow on streets where a sufficient amount of pedestrian travel warranted such action. And the committee expressed the naive hope that Newton residents would shovel snow off their sidewalks as an act of good citizenship. Fortunately, for pedestrians, the past two winters, since the snow removal ordinance was killed, there was little snow, and the effects of the amended ordinance were not made very evident. But, for the past 10 days or so, pedestrians in Newton have had opportunities to realize what it means. We did not have much snow this winter, but the little we had, in conjunction with sleet, made sidewalks in this city either very dangerous, or almost impossible for people to walk on—especially old persons. Nor were all the sidewalks sanded promptly. In fact, it was several days before sand was placed on some sidewalks. Several persons have been seriously injured by falls on icy sidewalks in Newton. And if such victims ask the city to pay their doctors' bills, they will be told—"that the city is not liable for icy sidewalks." If pedestrians want sidewalks made safe, or comparatively safe in winter months, crosswalks cleared of snow, and catch-basins opened, as in former years, it appears that they must organize to demand their rights.

A few weeks ago Governor Saltonstall recommended to the Legislature a State budget for the next two years of $190,000,000 and advocated an increase in taxes to save $12,000,000 yearly. The Governor called attention to the fact that conditions are critical and that a number of Massachusetts cities are in a precarious state. Last week a recess commission that was appointed last August to study the matter of vacations for State employees made its report. It seems that some State Department heads have been more generous in the matter of vacations to their subordinates than have other department heads, so the commission was appointed to bring in recommendations to equalize vacations for the employees. Just why various department heads could arrogate to themselves in the past the right to give special privileges to their assistants is interesting. Anyhow, the special commission of Legislators made a very generous report. It recommended that those of

Starting Too Early

There always seems to be some kind of holiday or general celebration in the offing that permits stores to boost the sales of certain merchandise weeks ahead. I had barely checked and put away my collection of New Year's cards than I found Valentines on sale everywhere. Now most of these are very beautiful, especially those with paper lace effect which is a delightful revival of the charming design of years long gone by. The heart-shaped Valentines always appeal to me not because of their anatomical reference but their red-blooded sentiment. Even comic Valentines are interesting. Those of today seem to have less punch. In my boyhood the comics were vicious and hurt people's feelings which made the day memorable.

All this is leading to my hope that starting early to sell Valentines isn't going to do to St. Valentine what the U. S. Postoffice Department has done to St. Nicholas. If this is another slip move to get us to mail Valentines days and days ahead to save congestion at the postoffice, we might as well quit here and now. As one who believes the calendar means what it says, I must protest against this continuous shoving ahead of everything.

Bicycle Problem Again

It may not seem reasonable to get steamed up over bicycle riding in the dead of winter but the Legislature started it which justifies public discussion, as I view the social order. At public hearings on proposed legislation for licensing and further regulating bicycle riding in cities and towns there were more petitioners and proponents this year than in the past. Clearly there are some people who believe something should be done.

This column has had many things to say about the use of sidewalks and knocking people over with these two-wheeled vehicles, but the speakers before the committee of the General Court did not refer to that. They stressed the need of registration and prevention of theft. That isn't so far from what I have had in mind as the situation shapes up in my thoughts. Bicycles have always seemed a sort of toy or at least not quite as vital as an automobile and more important than a pair of skis. In any event they mean something and if their riders were registered by the authorities it might bring added responsibility. After all, that is what is sought, isn't it? Something to help keep track of the irresponsible?

I suppose there will be many things that will have to be considered before the State can take hold of what is really a growing problem and I for one do not feel that I am qualified to offer any suggestions of value. I would, however, like to see the situation clarified both for the benefit of bicyclists and pedestrians.

Banquet Bravery

The banquet season, now at its height, may be exacting and even exhausting for the social-minded among few women, but there are those who not only happily survive it but seem to crave more. I have intimate acquaintance with men who boast of the number of "feeds" they attend and who plainly show they enjoy such occasions, particularly when the cost per ticket is relatively small or nothing whatever. I say there is something heroic in dressing up, even in semi-formal garb, and going night after night to eat the same character of food and listen to the same line of speeches.

Yet it is done everywhere and the total of those who accept invitations far exceeds those who decline. On the other hand there are many who refuse to attend any kind of a gathering where food and oratory combined offer the principal diversion. To me those who stay at home have the wrong idea and really get the worst of it. They are apt to work up a grouch, not only against banquets but everything else, until they become positively sour. On the other hand, the banquet fiend is always cheerful and the only sour note in his system is usually speedily eliminated by a judicious quantity of bicarbonate of soda.

It is my sober conclusion that it requires more courage to attend a banquet or similar affair than to snarl about them and remain at home. The ideal situation—if only it could be reached—would be to have a banquet to go to whenever you felt in the mood and an invitation to decline when you were seized by a churlish impulse.

Hot, Cold or Medium

Happy is the home where all are agreed on the prevailing temperature. However, like the differences so vividly described in the nursery rhyme about pease porridge, "some like it hot and some like it cold," these conflicting tastes are always revealed in the coldest weather. The member of the family who is strong for plenty of warmth will see to it that the coal is well piled up or the thermostat turned up, depending, of course, on the character of fuel. Then the "fresh air fiend" runs around and opens windows and doors. Pretty soon the drafts of cool air reach the person who likes it hot and it is his or her task to move swiftly about and see that doors and windows are shut. The use of a coal or coke furnace brings the dispute into the open, as any piling on of shovelfuls is generally heard through the pipes and an argument follows at once. With a thermostat, the clash is seldom in the open. One tips it up and turns it down, if that is his choice, and the other works under cover also in turning it up. There is no sense in splitting a happy household wide open on this vexatious question. The thing to do is to carry on and wait for the days when the heater is idle.

Hopes Running High

I hope I get a Valentine!
Most gladly would I hail
A tender bit of sentiment
Delivered through the mail.

I'd jump with joy, and promptly, too,
The sender greet with thanks.
At present, though, the best I see
Are income taxes blanks.

The 20,000 or so employees of the State who have served 5 years or more shall be given a four weeks' vacation and 15 days' sick leave annually. Experience among other public employees, who enjoy sick leave, has proven that most of them take the maximum sick leave allowed. It was estimated that the increased privileges to the army of State employees will cost the taxpayers of Massachusetts $200,000 more yearly. And one can be sure this is a very conservative estimate. In view of the dire economic conditions, and with the Governor's assertion that greatly increased taxes are imperative, the bountiful recommendations of the commission referred to is just another reason for thinking people to worry about the future of our democracy.

There are bills before the Legislature which, if passed, will lower the age of eligibles for old age relief from 65 to 60, increase the monthly stipend from $30 to $40—and exempt persons who are financially able to do so, from contributing to the support of their parents or parent. Some good arguments might be offered for the lowering of the eligible age and the increase of the monthly allowance, if the financial condition of the State and Nation were not so serious. But, the proposal to exempt men and women in prosperous circumstances from contributing toward the support of some aged father or mother, or both, is positive proof that the age we are in is decadent. A similar bill came within one point of passing the House of Representatives at the last session of the Legislature.

When things have come to such a pass that apologies for men or women who have steady incomes, who can afford automobiles, fur coats and other luxuries, don't want to make some sacrifice to support the father or mother who made sacrifices to support them for many years, but would saddle the maintenance of their parents onto other people, the morale and self-respect of a large percentage of our people has sunk to a low level. Incidentally, the cost of the proposed changes relative to old-age relief would be the difference between $24,000,000 and $60,000,000. Instead of $12,000,000 additional taxes each year, which Massachusetts faces now, $48,000,000 more revenue would have to be raised.

Many Newtonians
Visit Ford Plant

Over 800 residents of Newton visited the big Ford factory at Somerville on "Newton Day," Wednesday, February 8. Ralph Eldredge, assistant manager of the Ford assembly plant at Somerville, was in charge of arrangements, and he was assisted by Fred and John Cahill of the Newton Motor Sales, Ford agents for the Newton area. The citizens of Newton took advantage of the unusual opportunity to inspect the Ford plant and witness the interesting processes of assembling a modern automobile. Mayor Childs, a number of city officials and George Martin, who in 1937 was awarded a medal as the outstanding exponent of safe motoring in Massachusetts. Eight bus loads of high school pupils, accompanied by teachers, departed from Newton High School at 1:45 to visit the plant. A delegation from the D. A. R. was included among the visitors from Newton, and also delegations from other women's clubs. During the day moving pictures showing various activities at the huge River Rouge plant of the Ford Company were displayed.

The assembly line at the Somerville Ford factory moves 174 feet per minute, and the plant can assemble 500 cars each day. The factory has ideal conditions for those who work there, and is excellently lighted and ventilated. There is room in the factory to unload 40 railroad freight cars at one time. Fifteen carloads of parts from the Ford factories in Dearborn, Michigan, are required to assemble 150 automobiles at the Somerville plant.

Annual Musicales

The annual Musicales given Tuesday afternoon, February 7, before the Newtonville Woman's Club was an outstanding one. The Music chairman, Mrs. L. Ivan Pettys introduced the artists, Howard Harrington, tenor; Edna Merritt, Contralto; and Edwin Blitcliffe, pianist; who gave a well balanced program of humorous, pathetic, and harmonious songs and piano solos. One, sung by Mr. Harrington, an exquisite "Miniature," written by Mr. Blitcliffe, on falling snow, was most appropriate for the afternoon.

A dessert-coffee in Social Hall preceded the program in which Mrs. James B. Newell, Mrs. William G.

Starkweather, and Mrs. Raymond Tucker, poured.

In the Art Gallery an exhibition of photographs commanded attention, distinctive portrait work by Florence Maynard; landscapes, street scenes, and views of historical places, such as Paul Revere's house, the Wayside Inn, the Alcott House, and the House of Seven Gables by her brother Carl Maynard; and photographs of the West Indies by Barbara Leach; and others by Catherine Anderson and Phyllis Wild and Mr. Kuebler contributed some photographs by Anderson. During the business session, Mrs. R. Charles Thompson read the newly drawn-up By-laws for the Junior Club, and these were voted adopted. The Club president, Mrs. George H. Tracy brought to the attention of the Club members the sad news of the death of one of their greatly beloved members, Mrs. Percy E. At the close of the program, the hostess, Miss Tardivel, served refreshments. The two directors, Mrs. Herman Krueger and Mrs. George E. Felton were present.

American Home Exhibit

Showing the dainty fine stitches taken by their grandmothers and great-grandmothers, beautiful bedspreads and quilts were displayed in one group at the American Home Day Friday, January 27, at the Newton Centre Woman's Club. Another group shown were made on handlooms.

One another group were crocheted. One bedspread had been pieced by hands long ago and put together by this generation. Delicately-carved fans in ivory and sandalwood formed an exquisite collection. Dolls of all countries formed one group in the exhibit of dolls, and wax and china ones another group. A bowl of roses arranged on a table beneath a water-color picture of the same flowers attracted much attention.

Hand-wrought in walnut a baby's cradle over a hundred years old held a doll seventy-five years old. Tiny fingered gloves for a baby as well as mittens made years ago were still perfect. In the collection of beaded bags one was shown which is being used by the fifth generation. The program for the day including greetings by Mrs. Arthur H. Fletcher, State chairman of the American Home department, and Mrs. John F. Capron, adviser for this department; and Mrs. W. F. Leach, Twelfth District director, was as previously announced on this page.

A group of songs by Mrs. John W. Merrill, Miss Beatrice Eastman, and Mrs. Thomas W. Cumner, accompanied by Mrs. Reginald Eastman, was given during the afternoon.

Auburndale Woman's Club

"A Challenge to Clubwomen" was the subject of a talk at the meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club on Tuesday afternoon, January 31, by Mrs. John H. Kimball, director from Massachusetts to the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Kimball, whose motto is "Dare to Be Different," gave her audience a vivid picture of what a woman's club should be. As the women had been the pioneers as far back as the prehistoric ages, and had crossed physical, mechanical, and scientific frontiers ever since, so still harder ones remained to be crossed, said Mrs. Kimball. These frontiers were spiritual ones, and needed great courage. "If you feel a thing is right," she declared, "do not be afraid to undertake it, even if it has been untold before, and may not meet with the general approval." She went on to say that in her opinion any club which simply did those things which had been done for years before, had outgrown its usefulness. Just as the present generation is influenced by the past, so what the present one does will be what the future one will think.

During the business meeting which preceded, Mrs. Arthur Desoe reported the recent Legislative Conference, and stated the Bills which the State Federation would take up for study this coming year. For the Art committee, its chairman, Mrs. William Flye, reported that the Classes in Tooled Leather were being held each Monday afternoon at her home on Hancock st., and that there were still a few vacancies. Mrs. Ashley Wright, for the Community Service, explained that a circular was being distributed, gotten out jointly by the Newton Federation and the Newton Central Council, in an emergency appeal for clothing. Those who already had the bags were asked to continue with them, as this flier was intended to reach those who were not provided with them. She also stated that while other circulars might be distributed, this was the only one which the Newton Federation was sponsoring at present.

Miss Hickey, Probation Officer for women and children at the Newton Court, was then introduced by the president, Mrs. James Dunlop. Miss Hickey told of her work among the delinquents, especially young boys, and explained how her department tried to settle claims without taking the youthful offenders into court, and later tried to bring about conditions which would prevent sending these young people to Reform schools. The principal cause of delinquency, she felt, was proper occupation for spare time.

Newton Hospital Aid Association

A group of officers and chairmen from the Hospital Aid Benefit Shop met Thursday morning, February 2, at Cedar Hill, Waltham. Plans for the coming months were discussed.

The Bundle Party which had been planned for this month has been postponed until Thursday, April 6, when it will be held at the home of Mrs. F. A. Day, Jr. A committee comprising Mrs. Francis Williams, Mrs. Ralph Conant, and Mrs. Lewis Gardner was appointed by Mrs. D. Brewer Eddy to make plans for this occasion.

Mrs. Francis Williams, the business manager of the Shop, located at 795 Washington st., Newtonville, told of the many calls not only for clothing but for household articles, which were being received, and said that only by a generous response from the public, could these calls be met. Just at present shoe skates, skis, toboggans, and sleds are in great demand, and the supply pitifully small.

This Association is in close sympathy with the work being done by the relief agencies for those who are unable to pay for their needs yet little are maintaining their self-respect. The Benefit Shop has many such customers.

Zonta Club

For their regular meeting held Monday, January 23, the Newton Zonta Club met at the home of Miss Caroline Freeman of West Newton. During the business session, with Miss Doris Lovell, president, presiding, there was a discussion concerning informative programs for the ensuing months.

Mrs. Cora Sadler was appointed chairman of the Program committee, selecting for her sub-committee, Mrs. Carrie Kurrelmeyer, Mrs. Della Stanley, and Dr. Deborah Fawcett. Mrs. Sadler will secure speakers well-informed on various topics of vital interest and importance.

Miss Helen Potter opened her home at 414 Waltham st., West Newton, Sunday afternoon, January 29, for the pete in the special invitations events at the Eastern Seaboard Relay Carnival tomorrow afternoon at the Boston Garden. Don McKinnon, state champion hurdler, will compete in his specialty against the cream of timber toppers in high and prep school circles. McKinnon, fourth in the N. U. meet two weeks ago, was selected because of his title as state champion. McKinnon is expected to improve his showing of two weeks ago when he attempted a new stance at the start and was also using spikes for the first time this season.

George Hutchings, Newton's 1000-yard surprise runner, will compete in that special event. Hutchings, who never took up the running game until this season, has blossomed out into a potential school boy star. In the N. U. meet running his first big race he won his heat handily and finished with the second best time of the day. In tomorrow's race he will be against the select distance runners in school-boy circles, among them Peter Saltonstall, son of Governor Saltonstall,

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

MELROSE WINS IN FREE SCORING GAME

The classy Melrose High team which lost to the orange and black of Newton in the previous session of the G. B. I. turned the tables last Saturday by trouncing the latter 7-4. There were six goals scored in the first period, one in the second, and four in the third. The two teams hung up the highest total of goals scored in one game this year. Oddly enough the first five Melrose goals were scored by as many players. Alex Skene got the only penalty of the game in the middle of the third period for hooking.

Tomorrow the local sextet takes on the league-leaders Stoneham which beat Arlington last week 3-1. Newton, if they are to end in the first division must win today and from Medford next week. With memories of a tie in their first game of the year Newton figures on playing giant killers in upsetting the Gordonites.

CLOSE HOOP SEASON WITH BROOKLINE FIVE

The High School basketball team closes its league season next Tuesday afternoon in the high school gymnasium against the Brookline high five which has dropped all of its nine league games. The Newton quintet, now in third place, has only an outside chance for a tie for league honors although having led the circuit for a time and staying in the race until last Friday.

who will represent Noble and Greenough private school.

Wednesday afternoon the Newton High team chalked up its third dual meet victory of the season, swamping Brookline High, 53 to 13, without the aid of three of its stars, Hutchings, Hall and Hughes. Newton swept all the points in the dash, hurdles, 300, and the 1000 with Brookline winning only the shotput and the relay, with Newton using a second string quartet in this event.

when Arlington high scored a close victory on the Arlington court by the slim margin of 31 to 28. This defeat was Newton's third in eight games. On Tuesday the orange and black got back on the victory path by knocking over Waltham in the latter's return engagement on the Newton floor in a 36 to 22 game. In their previous meeting at the Watch City the Waltham outfit, present pace setters in the league standing edged Newton by a small margin.

City Has To Buy New Fire Truck

As a result of the crash between Engine 1 of the Newton Fire Department and a Buick sedan near the corner of Pearl and Thornton sts. Newton, shortly after noon on January 28, the Board of Aldermen on Monday night appropriated $7911 for the purchase of a truck to replace the engine which was wrecked in the crash. Chief Randlett stated that the fire truck was so badly damaged in the collision, that it would be impractical to repair it. The truck was made by the LaFrance Company and had been in service 22 years. Mayor Childs recommended the appropriation for the new combination pump and hose wagon.

Also on Monday night the Aldermen, on recommendation of the Mayor, appropriated $561 to purchase a Ford coupe for the Engineering Department. The couple will replace one owned by that department which was destroyed by fire on February 4. On that day Willard Pratt, an assistant city engineer, was driving the coupe into his yard at Alexander rd., Newton Highlands, when flames suddenly shot out from beneath the hood. As Pratt jumped from the coupe, an explosion occurred and the car became a blazing mass of flames. It is thought that a hose leading from the radiator leaked, allowing the fluid, which contained a large percentage of alcohol, to pour onto the hot motor.

Mayor Criticized For Not Naming Street Commr.

Alderman Tiffin of Ward 3, at the meeting of the Board on Monday night, criticized Mayor Childs for the alleged failure of the latter to conform with the State statutes regarding the appointment of a Street Commissioner.

"Our city charter required that when we had a vacancy in the office of Street Commissioner, that he should submit to us for nomination a name of a person whom this Board should either confirm or reject. He did this on Aug. 22, 1938, and upon Sept. 12, 1938, this Board rejected the nominee by a vote of 20 to 1.

"The General Laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Chapter 39, Section 1, under the caption 'City Government,' in my opinion, make it mandatory that under these circumstances, there should have been another nomination within thirty days. I quote from the statute, which says, 'Upon the rejection of a person so appointed, the Mayor shall within one month thereafter make another appointment.'

"The resubmission of the same name upon Dec. 12, again rejected by the Board on Dec. 27, was not 'another nomination,' at least within the spirit or intent of the act.

"I believe that our citizens should be apprised of this clear breach of efficient administration of the office.

"The present condition must of necessity, and I believe does, lead to confusion, irritation and conflict where there should be close co-operation and harmony."

Former Newton Woman Murdered At Woonsocket

Mrs. Matthew Baranski, 67, was found beaten to death at her home in Woonsocket, Rhode Island, last Saturday night. She had been beaten about the head as she was sitting in a chair in her tenement. Her husband was arrested and charged with manslaughter. Mrs. Baranski, whose maiden name was Julia Gilmore, resided most of her life in the Nonantum section of Newton. Her husband worked for years in the Saxony Worsted Mill at Nonantum where he was employed as a mule-spinner. Some time ago he obtained employment in a Woonsocket mill and the couple moved there last year. They formerly resided on Watertown st., and later on Green st., Newton. Mrs. Baranski is survived by a son and a daughter. Her funeral was held on Wednesday from the home of her niece, Mrs. Peter Marchant, Dalby st., Nonantum, and the funeral service was at Our Lady's church. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery Waltham.

Vincenzo Again Fails In Effort To Get Gas Sta.

Frank Vincenzo of 280 Adams st., Newton, protested with vehemence on Monday night to the Board of Aldermen at what he alleged has been discrimination against him in the matter of repeated refusals by various Boards of Aldermen for the past several years to grant him a permit to establish a gasoline filling station at the corner of Washington and Cross sts., West Newton. When the hearing on Vincenzo's petition was called, the petitioner said he had been thrown down seven or eight times, and he asked the reason why? President Floyd informed him that the Board did not go into the matter of giving reasons for refusals of former Boards to grant petitions.

Harry Pierson of 21 Canterbury rd., Newton Highlands, spoke in favor of granting the permit to Vincenzo. He said that Vincenzo is willing to give the city 10 feet of land along Cross st., to widen that street, that the permit for a filling station would cause the removal of present buildings and thus improve the property.

A number of property owners of the neighborhood, most of whom had appeared repeatedly in past years to protest against Vincenzo's petitions, spoke in opposition. Included in the group were Marion Marsh, J. C. Moynihan, Robert Jigger, Nelson Davis, Oliver Wyman, Arthur Rogers of Cross st., and Thomas McCarthy of 1113 Washington st. Miss Marsh again called attention to the fact that there are 10 gasoline stations between West Newton and Newtonville.

Alderman Gaddis drew Vincenzo's ire after he had commented that it is too bad that the residents of the neighborhood have had to come repeatedly to city hall to protest against Vincenzo's persistent petitions. Vincenzo approached Gaddis and asked him why he had voted to grant two filling station permits in recent years at West Newton, and inquired if it was because the applicants had a pull? Both permits were granted before Gaddis became an alderman. Vincenzo also was indignant because he had only sent out notices to three abutters, whereas twelve or fifteen persons owning property in the neighborhood appeared as objectors. As in other years, the Board lost little time in rejecting Vincenzo's petition.

Hubbard Pharmacy At Newton Robbed

The Hubbard Pharmacy at 425 Centre st., Newton, was broken into and robbed early Sunday morning. The burglar, who evidently was acquainted with the layout of the store, entered by climbing a cable at the cellar area-way in the rear of the store and breaking a window. The loot included $140 in cash, $89 in express orders, $30 in stamps and about $275 in merchandise.

DOG/NOTE

PETER BOGGS

Visitors to the town of Helvellyn, England, are usually shown a monument erected to the memory of Charles Gough. The natives are proud of Gough, but their most cherished tale revolves around the faithfulness of Gough's dog. Gough died over a century ago, but the story of his dog is still fresh in the minds of the present-day inhabitants of that beautiful English town.

On April 18th in the year 1805 Gough started out on a fishing trip accompanied by his dog, a little wire-haired female Terrier. He failed to return home that evening, but little concern was felt for his safety, as it was thought he might be spending the night with friends. When three days had passed with no word from him, a searching party was formed. Not a trace of either Gough or his dog could be found.

Three months later on July 20th his bones were found, and watching over them was his starving dog. Gough evidently had fallen from a high crag on a ridge and died as a result. The dog had given birth to five puppies, which were found dead by the side of the corpse. The mother had managed to find enough in the woods to keep her alive, but had been unable to secure sufficient food to make milk for her young, who had consequently died of starvation. Undoubtedly the dog could have found her way home, but she chose rather to stay and guard the body of the person she loved.

Browder, Dennis, Ely To Discuss Future of Capitalism At Forum

Much-Debated Appearance of Browder Seems Assured; Three-Cornered Symposium Offers Fascist, Communist, Democratic Views

On Sunday, February 19, 1939, at 3:30 p. m., in the Newton High School Auditorium, Newtonville, The Newton Community Forum will hold a Symposium on "What Lies Ahead for Capitalism?" The speakers will be Earl Browder, leading Communist spokesman in the United States; Lawrence Dennis, Fascist author, and Joseph B. Ely, former Governor of Massachusetts.

Earl Browder was born the son of a rural school teacher in Wichita, Kansas, in 1891. His paternal grandfather fought the British in the War of 1812. He was forced to leave school when he was nine, due to the illness of his father. At 15 he followed his father into the Socialist Party. In 1917 he was imprisoned for opposing the draft. During his prison term he met William ("Big Bill") Haywood, prominent Communist, and read on economics and socialism. Upon his parole, he joined the Communist Party and worked with William Z. Foster, who later was nominated for the presidency by the Communist Party. He was assigned by the Red International of Labor Unions in 1927 to China. He also spent some time in Soviet Russia. He returned to the United States in 1929. In 1930 Browder took over the position of his party mentor and patron, William Foster, and became General Secretary of the Communist Party. He was nominated for the presidency at the Communist Party Convention in New York City in 1936. Browder is married to a Russian, and they reside in a modest apartment in Yonkers, New York.

Lawrence Dennis, Fascist advocate and author of "The Coming Fascism," has an abundance of convictions which he is able to set forth with splendid force. A graduate of Phillips Exeter and Harvard, for years in the diplomatic service of the United States, a world-wide traveler, this man is equipped admirably to discuss this subject. He urges a realistic philosophy, the acceptance of which he believes will enable people to equip themselves to meet our present problems.

Joseph B. Ely, Governor of Massachusetts from 1931-1935, was born in Westfield, Mass., on Feb. 22, 1881. He graduated from Williams College in 1902, and from Harvard Law School in 1905. He was elected Governor of Massachusetts in 1930 and reelected in 1932. Although he has the weight of American tradition and the prevailing outcries of "isms" to support his point of view, he will undoubtedly use his years of experience at the bar and his wide personal knowledge of American problems and the American way of solving them to challenge the social philosophies of his opponents.

Communism is an extreme form of Socialism, and received its impetus from the writings of Karl Marx and

Fascist Author

LAWRENCE DENNIS
Author of "The Coming Fascism" at Newton Forum

Friedrich Engels, in 1848. The communistic theory is based on the materialistic interpretation of history. It reduces life to an inevitable struggle between the capitalists, or those who own the productive resources, and the proletariat, those who work for the owners. As industrialization proceeds, the middle classes will disappear and the gulf between the capitalists and the proletariat will progressively widen. When the number of the capitalists has become very small, the proletariat will rise and establish the "dictatorship of the proletariat." Marx predicted that this revolution would take place in a highly industrialized country first. Thus Marx failed to foresee the Russian Revolution in 1917. The Communists plan to take over the essential means of production.

Fire Damages Chest Hill House

The home of Bernard Rottenberg at 85 Woodchester drive, Chestnut Hill, was damaged by fire to the extent of $3000 on Wednesday afternoon. James Welch of Jamaica Plain, an employee of the Telephone Company, noticed smoke issuing from the house at 3:40 p. m. and notified the fire department. Members of the family were not in the house at the time. The fire started in a hall off the dining room and spread to the second floor. The cause was supposed to have been an overheated hot-air duct.

Pictorial Section To Be Added to Newton Graphic

Progressive Publishers United
To Meet Public Demand
For Pictures

In order that its readers may keep abreast of contemporary life in Newton by means of pictures as well as the printed word, the NEWTON GRAPHIC will include a pictorial section each week beginning with the issue of March 3.

Growing public demand for graphic presentation of newsworthy subjects has long confronted the publishers of suburban papers, but mechanical costs have hitherto presented a formidable obstacle. The NEWTON GRAPHIC has at last solved the problem with the co-operation of several other leading newspapers in nearby towns.

By pooling its resources with these participating newspapers, the NEWTON GRAPHIC is now able to include each week without extra charge to its readers a pictorial section which will include a goodly percentage of Newton pictures in addition to pictures of general interest from other towns. Co-operation on the part of its readers is vitally essential if the NEWTON GRAPHIC is to fulfill its function in this joint enterprise. Obviously, pictures of Newton cannot be printed unless they are available. Therefore all readers, amateur photographers in particular, are urged to get in touch with the NEWTON GRAPHIC office at once if they have, or can obtain, suitable photographs for the pictorial section. Pamphlets outlining our requirements are available to those interested.

Police Arrest Young Speeder

Chase 16-Yr.-Old Boy Through Newton Centre; Cars Crash
Near Overpass

Driving without lights and at an excessive speed, a 16-year-old Newton Highlands youth was chased by the Newton Police along Boylston, Parker and Clark sts. early Wednesday evening. The speeding vehicle was overtaken on Parker st. after the overpass had been crossed, however, the youth opened the door of his car in an attempt to escape, thus leaving the car which he had been driving rolling down the incline. The vehicle crashed into the rear of the police car, badly damaging the right rear fender. The youth was booked at police headquarters for driving without license or registration and for speeding. Released in the custody of his mother, he was found delinquent when arraigned in Juvenile court, and his case was continued until Friday.

The police later discovered that the automobile had been taken without the consent or knowledge of the owner, however, no charges were preferred against the boy.

Asks $115 for Sign Wrecked by Plow

John Oliver, owner of a barber shop on Langley rd., Newton Centre, has presented a claim of $115 to the city of Newton to pay for a revolving sign which stood in front of his shop and which was hit on Feb. 5 by a sidewalk tractor-plow operated, according to Oliver, by James DeSimone of Adams st., Newton. The revolving pole-like sign was wrecked.

City Solicitor In Phillips House

City Solicitor Joseph W. Bartlett is a patient in Phillips House at the Massachusetts General Hospital. Despite the fact that Mr. Bartlett has not been in good health for a number of months, he continued to engage in his many duties. It is expected that he will remain in the hospital for treatment for a few weeks.

Mayor Declares Aldermen Are Playing Politics

Criticizes Floyd For Retaining
Chairmanship of C. O. P.
City Committee

On Tuesday Mayor Childs stated that members of the Newton Board of Aldermen who have been criticizing him are playing politics. He said that the President of the Board is chairman of the Republican City Committee, that several of the other members of the Board are also members of that committee, and that they should return to the policy of former members of the Board of Aldermen who, when elected to the Board, resigned as members of the committee. He commented that too many members of the Board of Aldermen are now working in a dual capacity, and have started the next campaign too early.

At the last meeting of the Aldermen the Mayor was criticised for not having taken action in regard to charges made against the sergeant-mechanic of the police department, and also because he had not submitted another name to the Board for the office of Street Commissioner, after the Aldermen had refused to confirm the appointment the Mayor had made to this office. It is understood that the special committee of the Board of Aldermen appointed to investigate the work of the Sergeant Mechanic in the police department will have to make a lengthy report at the meeting next Monday night.

Drives Six Years Without a License

Peter McPherson, 55, of Austin st., Hyde Park, was arraigned in the Newton court last Friday charged with driving a motor vehicle after his license had been revoked. Inspector Hurter of the Registry of Motor Vehicles testified that on January 27 he stopped a truck driven by McPherson because it had no rear-view mirror on it. McPherson had no license with him and gave the inspector a false name and address. Through the registration numbers on the truck, Hurter learned McPherson's real name and also the fact that his driving license had been revoked 6 years ago after the Hyde Park man had been convicted of driving while under the influence of liquor. Since then McPherson had been driving without a license. Judge Donald Mayberry sentenced McPherson to 10 days in jail, but McPherson did not have to serve the sentence as the judge suspended it, and placed McPherson on probation until next August.

Extension of Rte. 128 Would Divert Traffic

Hearing To Be Held Feb. 23;
Interested Residents Urged To Attend

Herbert J. Kellaway, of the Newton Planning Board, urges that residents of Newton who are interested in the proposed extension of Route 128 from its present terminus at the Worcester turnpike across Wellesley and Newton to Weston, attend the public hearing on this matter at the State House on Feb. 23, in Room 427. The hearing will start at 10:30 a. m. and will be conducted by the committee on Highways and Motor Vehicles. The project is one of a number proposed to be done this year, but only some of the proposed projects will be undertaken. It is reasonable to suppose that the projects which will be started are those for which there seems to be the greatest demand. People along other sections of Route 128 are seeking for the improvement of those sections.

At present Route 128 is diverted between Needham and Newton Upper Falls and the heavy traffic from this route goes through the business sections of Newton Highlands and along congested Walnut st. in Newtonville. If the proposed extension will be built from the turnpike and along the Charles River on the Wellesley side, thence across the river near the aqueduct at Lower Falls, West of the old gravel pit, and again crossing the river into Weston near the Riverside Recreation grounds, it will cause much outside traffic to be diverted from Newton Highlands and Newtonville.

Church Retires; Carter Elected

Elected to succeed him was Richard B. Carter of West Newton. Mrs. Bertrand E. Taylor, Clifford H. Walker, and Mrs. Maynard Hutchinson were elected vice-presidents; William M. Cahill, treasurer; Miss Dorothy L. Simpson, clerk, and Mrs. George M. Ayranssen, corresponding secretary.

Rose Haldy of 35 Derby st., Waltham, fell opposite 253 Washington st., Newton on Monday afternoon and was injured about the head. She was taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance.

Patricia Maroney, 14, of Milton ave., West Newton, while on her way to the Warren School Tuesday morning fell on a slippery street and broke an elbow. She continued to school and was then taken in a police car to the office of Dr. N. P. Brady. From there she was taken to the Newton Hospital.

Jury Awards $20,000 For Bog Land City Took Four Years Ago

Experts Testify For Both Sides on Validity of Peat Claim; Land Taken For Playground,
Road Was Assessed For $650

In the Middlesex Superior Court at East Cambridge on Tuesday a jury awarded $20,044.51 to Mrs. Esther Higgins McGuinness of Parker terrace, Newton Centre for about 3 acres of swamp land which was taken by the city in October, 1935. Of the land taken, 54,850 square feet was specified as being for part of the site of the Oak Hill playground, 49,600 square feet for part of the site of the Oak Hill schoolyard, and 26,400 square feet for part of the site of Thoroughfare rd. At first it was not intended to take the last parcel, but this land, with land belonging to the Hurley estate was deemed necessary for the proposed st. It was contended by the city that the Higgins heirs, together with owners of other properties at Oak Hill, agreed to donate the land to the city, but the plaintiff asserted there was no such agreement. When the land was taken by the city, together with many acres donated by the Hurley family, which owned adjoining property, and other acres donated by Arnold Hartman and others, no damages were awarded by the city. Later, when the so-called Thoroughfare rd. was built, a betterment assessment of $1075.50 was levied on the property owned by Esther Higgins McGuinness, and $540 on land owned by Frederick Higgins. Before the taking the Higgins property consisted of about 6 acres of land, assessed for $2000, and a house assessed at $1400. The land taken by the city was back land, quite swampy, and the value placed on it by John W. Murphy, chairman of the Newton Board of Assessors was 1/4c per foot, or $650. Mrs. McGuinness sued the city for $60,000.

The trial, which started last week before Judge Collins, lasted for several days. Because of the illness of City Solicitor Bartlett, the city was represented by Edward Mullowney and Mr. Guinness of Mr. Bartlett's office. Mr. Guinness, employed by the State at the Agricultural Experimental Station in Waltham, testifying for the plaintiff as an expert, told the jury that peat which was in the Higgins land had a value of $1 per cubic yard (in the ground), alleging that it was valuable for use as a soil conditioner; and it was estimated that there were 19,000 cubic yards of the peat there when the city took the property. Professor Wolfe, geologist of Harvard University, and Mr. Darrah, botanist of Harvard, testifying for the city, refuted Dempsey's testimony, and said the so-called peat was debris swamp soil and had no value. Arnold Hartmann and George Haynes, testifying as real estate experts for the city, stated that the estimate of $650 placed by Assessor Murphy on the land, was correct. City Engineer Harvey says that the so-called peat taken from the Higgins and adjoining Hurley swamp land when Thoroughfare rd. was built, could not be even given away. Because of its disagreeable, swampy odor, people did not want it used as filling on their properties.

Attorney Mullowney asked Judge Collins to set aside the award and grant a new trial.

In 1930 agitation started for a new school at Oak Hill and Arnold Hartmann, the Hurley family and others offered large tracts of land to the city. In 1935 these people donated several acres of land each to the city for the Oak Hill school site, playground and civic centre. Others also gave land. The city spent large sums in building a sewer and drain from Newton Upper Falls to serve the Oak Hill area, to build the new school there and to lower South Meadow Brook so that the swampy area there was improved.

Almina Brooks of 95 Fair Oaks ave., Newtonville, reported to the Newton police on Tuesday night that she was accosted on California st. about 7:40 that night by a man about 25 years of age who pointed a revolver at her and demanded that she give him everything she had. The girl rushed to the nearby home of William Hadden at 11 Melbourne ave., and about 9:30 told Patrolman Reagan of the alleged attempted hold-up. She described the bandit as about 5 feet, 6 inches tall, slender; wearing a brown hat and overcoat; and having a white handkerchief masking his face.

THE EXTENSION OF ROUTE 128

A hearing has been scheduled at the State House next week on legislation seeking the extension of the construction of the new location of Route 128, more commonly referred to as the circumferential highway. Newton residents are well aware of the heavy traffic now carried on Walnut street through the Newton Highlands and Newtonville business sections, to say nothing of the hazards created by the fact that several of our public schools are located on or in close proximity to the present route. Traffic surveys have repeatedly shown that such through traffic is of little value to business sections and in many places it is a detriment and a handicap to the convenience of shoppers in those business sections in the matter of parking. Inasmuch as the project entails considerable expense because of the various sections where relocation or reconstruction is expedient many localities are seeking approval of the work in their respective sections. Under a six-year plan as contemplated, however, it is reasonable to expect that a start should be made where much of the congestion begins. With the Worcester turnpike carrying heavy traffic toward Boston many persons turn onto Route 128 at Newton Highlands in order to make use of the circumferential highway and avoid Boston traffic. It would afford considerable relief and reduction of traffic congestion and hazards if motorists were given a good start around or through the Newtons on the proposed new location through less thickly settled areas.

THE TEACHERS' OATH LAW

Once again the question of the repeal of the teachers' oath law is in the public eye. With Governor Saltonstall previously having stated that he would sign the repeal bill if passed by both branches of the legislature opponents of the existing law were believed to have an excellent chance of erasing the measure from the statutes, inasmuch as the repeal act was passed by the previous legislature but vetoed by then Governor Hurley. The narrow margin by which the House of Representatives refused to pass the repeal act yesterday came as somewhat of a surprise. It is regarded as quite possible, however, that next week the House will revive the measure and pass it along for the Senate's consideration where it may also face a battle for survival. We believe that this decidedly un-American law should never have been enacted, that it is an attempt to legislate the morals of a particular group, and that it does not accomplish its avowed purpose of eliminating the possibility of the spread of Communistic teaching in our public schools.

Walsh Tells Welfare Meeting That Public Relief Breaks Down Morale

Contrasts Economic Conditions 30 Years Ago With Those of Today; Social Confusion Is Both Economic and Political

At the annual meeting of the Newton Catholic Welfare Committee held recently one of the principal speakers was John J. Walsh, president of the Metropolitan Council of St. Vincent de Paul Society, and vice-chairman of the Public Welfare Board of the City of Boston. After paying tribute to the work done by the men affiliated with the St. Vincent de Paul Society, Mr. Walsh contrasted social and economic conditions of 30 years ago with those of today.

Mr. Walsh said: "I was brought up in a neighborhood in Roxbury where working-men and their families lived mostly in three-family houses. The majority of these men were engaged in laborious work from early morning to late in the day, but were able to enjoy a little fun and recreation with their families evenings and Sundays. None of them were rich in the world's goods, but all were ambitious to own their own homes and to give their children a good education. They were happy and contented. I can well recall that when death visited a home of one of these workmen and took from him the mother and her children were supposed to be able to get along fairly well if they only had one thousand dollars. The mother may have had to work, or take in washing, and the boys went to work after school in a grocery store, or selling papers. Somehow or other they were able to get along without any aid from the city or state and except in a case of serious illness or other emergency without the help of any private charity agency. The mother and children might have been said to have been too proud to ask for or receive aid—but that was a pardonable pride which we all admired. Such incidents were common 30 years ago but that was before the day of the automobile, radio, television, social security and the New Deal. Times have changed, customs have changed and the morale of the people has changed. The social confusion of today sometimes considered as economic, and sometimes as merely political, is in reality both; but above all it is moral in the widest meaning of the word. There can be no solid morality without religion. It enables man to understand that his life is only a pilgrimage and leads him to the practice of virtue in general and to the exercise of justice in particular. Now the basis of justice is the observance of the Ten Commandments of God, which in their ultimate analysis are reduced to the twofold precept of charity, love of God, and love of neighbor. Those who have a wrong idea of charity who think that it means alms-giving alone, Charities is an attempt to diminish moral and material misery, to contribute to the re-establishment of social order, to give to all the poor and the rich a Christian outlook on life.

"Justice demands that the working man be given the opportunity to work and to receive therefor a just wage. The capitalistic group were slow to recognize this but thirty years have seen many changes. Part of our charitable work as Vincentian 30 years ago was to care for the victims of Industrial Accidents. Today the Workmen's Compensation Act provides that protection not only for the victim himself but for his family and dependents. Formerly most labor organizations provided such benefits and some provided old age pensions for their members. In recent years they have demanded that as a matter of right and justice that it be written in the law that when a worker became ill, was the victim of an industrial accident, had reached the age at which he was no longer able to work, or lost his job through seasonal changes in industry, that he should have a specific benefit that would protect him against poverty. As a result of their insistence—that as a matter of justice they were entitled to certain rights—and so today we have on our Statute Books not only the Workmen's Compensation Law, but the Unemployment Compensation Act, the Federal Social Security Act of 1935—providing for Old Age Pensions, the Law providing Aid to Dependent Mothers, the Act providing Aid for Dependent Children, Benefits for the Blind, and the Veterans' Act.

"In asserting these rights, however, and attempting to maintain our standard of living at a high, and sometimes luxurious level, little thought has been given to the cost of these benefits and the burden we have placed upon the future generations. Still less thought, I feel, has been given to the effect upon the morale of the nations. By this I mean the attitude of the mind and the will to the problems of life; whether a man wants to be given an honest day's labor for an honest day's pay; acknowledges his duties as freely as he asserts his rights; is reliable in all his dealings with his fellow man. Destruction or breaking down of morale will turn thrifty, honest, self-reliant, proud and ambitious citizens into shiftless, lazy and complaining men.

"We have seen great nations and corporations repudiate their promises and obligations and the morale of common honesty has been upset. Prudent people who had learned to save found their life's effort brought to naught by the gambling financial institutions that held their savings; the morale of saving has been injured. Families finding that their rent, their food bills and their clothing bills could be paid by the public have glided into complete indifference to a more self-reliant and more honorable mode of living, and have become absolutely dependent on the public; the morale of self-reliance has been swept away.

"Now we as Catholics must do and recognize that Justice demands that the workingman and his family be entitled as a matter of right to protection by law for the needy. Public expenditure of money for necessary or public improvements so as to give work to the unemployed is just and wise but some of the projects into which public funds are being poured are not only unwise economically but are gradually breaking down the morale of our citizens and of the children—our future citizens. Much of what has been done for the needy was most commendable but like the administration of a habit-forming drug there comes a time when a reputable medical man says "Stop" however painful his order may prove to be. I feel that the time has come for us to say "Stop" to the proposal of some of the communistic legislation that is being offered under the guise of Social Security or relief for the needy. Don't mistake my feelings in reference to our improved social legislation that justice demands, I am heartily in favor of many of these fair and justifiable enactments and I think that it is the duty of all Catholic Charitable agencies to encourage their recipients to take advantage of them. However I do feel that the real lead of this depression will be more quickly reached if all the victims of it are urged gently, sympathetically but firmly to exert themselves; to develop their characters, and to transfer their personalities from "the leaners to the lifters." The recreation and restoration of a proper morale to a distressed people is now necessary. Who can undertake this task? I say the Catholic Charitable workers.

"Whoever assumes it must be motivated by high moral principles. "If we scrutinize the charities of many of our great relief societies and organizations, study their history, and their traditions we are unable to find any reference therein to God, the church or anything spiritual. Their object is to give material and corporal assistance. The Catholic viewpoint is to inculcate proper morale while according corporal relief. Catholic charitable workers and members of the St. Vincent de Paul Society can do far more along this line than the Public Relief worker who is prohibited by law for mention in religion while administering relief or the sectarian worker who thinks only in terms of material relief. Catholic charity is to relieve what the Parochial School is to educate; the insistence upon God as the dominant factor of the subject. And the Welfare School, where Christ is the Dean and the St. Vincent de Paul members and all other Catholic charity workers, the students, is bound to have a influence upon those with whom they come in contact. I have therefore come to the conclusion that it is the Catholic Charitable workers of our nation that by gentle tact and spiritual confidence can restore the proper morale to our distressed people.

Boy Scouts

The weekly meeting of troop 5 was held last Tuesday evening at the Newton Centre Playground House under the leadership of Ralph Emery acting scoutmaster. Because it was guest night there were a great number of cub scouts present as well as some parents and their boys.

After the usual opening exercises a fuzt stick contest was won by the Beaver patrol. Following this was a wood carving contest. The boys were given small blocks of wood of which they were to carve any thing they wanted. The time was limited but the results were surprising. There was everything from a replica of a bugle mouthpiece to an Indian dugout, paddle and all. The Eagles won the contest.

At the next Court of Honor Assistant scoutmaster Lambert will receive his twenty year veteran award.

The city will build a wooden bridge across the track from one half of the pasture to the other, and will be allowed a grade crossing for farm purposes.

The Baptist Church at Upper Falls after engaging in a genuine Ben Butler fight for 3 months, and going through performances which would do credit to a Ward 5 caucus, has at last settled down in peace without a pastor. The trouble began when Rev. Mr. Bary refused to read Governor Butler's Thanksgiving proclamation and criticised the Governor pretty sharply in the church. The society, which includes a lot of ardent Butlerites, was indignant at the pastor's action and war began at once. At a meeting last Friday night, Mr. Bary asked for a letter of dismissal, and got it.

Powers' Paragraphs

What's the sense of placing restrictions on parking on public highways in Newton when such restrictions are not enforced by the police?

Some weeks ago a Waban mother and father suffered the double misfortune of having two of their children drowned in the Charles River near Quinobequin rd.; their daughter, 8 years old, and their son, 3 1/2 years of age. The two children, with a neighbor's child, a 7 year old girl, walked from their homes to the river, went onto the thin ice and broke through. The other child was rescued. Since that tragedy some persons have demanded that the river be fenced in along Quinobequin rd. because of the drowning of these two children, and the drowning of another child a few years previous in that section. This is in the opinion of the writer, is ridiculous. There is but one sure way to prevent future drownings in the Charles River, and that is to cover it. Such a project would be financially prohibitive, and we believe the great majority of the people would not want it, even if it were practical. For generations along much of the course of the Charles, as along rivers in all civilized countries, thousands of children have resided close to the river. This is true at Medway, Dedham, Upper Falls, Waltham, Nonantum, Watertown, Newton Corner, Brighton and Cambridge. In the past children and adults have been drowned in the Charles, and more will be in the future. But no demands have come from people residing in the thickly settled districts along the river to have it fenced in. I doubt if it will be fenced in along thinly settled Quinobequin rd. As a small child, the writer lived less than 200 yards from the Charles and played along its banks. We for one, would protest against the river being fenced in. There are scores of children killed by automobiles on public highways to one drowned in the Charles, and the highways are not fenced in.

At the meeting of the Newton Safety Council held recently at police headquarters in West Newton the principal speaker was a traffic engineer from the State Department who referred among other things, to the traffic signal system in the West Newton business section. He stated that the signal system there was discontinued soon after it was installed because the merchants at West Newton objected to the elimination of diagonal parking. He commented that the signal system there was discontinued, and he said that diagonal parking is hazardous, and it is more important to get traffic through the West Newton business section than to provide more parking space. These statements of the State traffic engineer amuse, or amaze Newton residents who know the facts concerning the traffic signal system which was installed at West Newton at a cost of $4400 to taxpayers of this city. The former Street Commissioner who contracted with the company that installed the five units of the signal system, accepted the recommendations of the State traffic engineers and disregarded suggestions offered by members of the Newton police department who work and reside in West Newton and have an intimate knowledge of traffic conditions there.

There was a traffic signal at the intersection of Chestnut and Washington sts., where it was not needed. The signal directing traffic at Washington, Waltham and Watertown sts. caused two lines of traffic to cross each other. The signal on Washington st., just West of Waltham st., showed no light to eastbound traffic on Washington st. The combination of multiple signals, plus pedestrian operated buttons, caused motor vehicle traffic to be delayed unnecessarily at all hours of the day in West Newton, compelling motorists to wait as long as 3 minutes, instead of going uninterruptedly along Washington st. as they did before the signal system was installed, except during peak traffic periods, when travel was handled efficiently by Patrolman Dennis Murphy. The traffic delays became such a nuisance that many motorists detoured via Margin, Chestnut and Felton sts. to avoid the signal system on Washington st. Because of protests caused by this condition, as well as the change from angular to parallel parking, a protest meeting was held at the West Newton Savings Bank, not shortly after the system had been in operation, but many months after. The meeting was attended by members of the Board of Aldermen, city officials, two State traffic engineers, West Newton business men and citizens. And the next morning on request of Alderman Gaddis, chairman of the Traffic Committee of the Aldermen, the police discontinued the impractical, nonsensical signal system at West Newton, which instead of expediting traffic through the business section there, greatly delayed it. Traffic has been flowing satisfactorily through West Newton since, as it did before the signals were trying it up, and West Newton people, as well as residents of other parts of Newton and elsewhere, who (Continued on Page 3)

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. BENTLEY

Might Have Known Better
We thought the Board of Aldermen, Who freed us from removing The snow that o'er our sidewalks spread.

Our civic lot improving; "The snow that shoveling's very hard." We chuckled as we said it. "Let Winter's mantle fall and fall. "We shall no longer dread it; "Our backs we will not have to bend, "Nor hands expose to freezing, "No soggy feet to give us chills, "Or start a fit of sneezing. Alas! A dream of foolish minds! We should have been more humble For now we wade through slush or ice, With frequent chance to tumble.

Nearly Everybody Does It
So many minds are diligently applied to interpreting the motives, purposes, designs, significance, etc., to every diplomatic and undiplomatic move made by government heads in Europe and the British Isles that those of us who refrain from so doing are in the shrinking minority. No newspaper that prints letters to the editor, no columnist who deals with foreign news, no broadcaster who discusses current events and no politician who has been or is eager to be sent to Washington and nobody who can get a lot of people to listen fails to enlighten us as to what we may expect. It seems to be everybody's obligation to prophesy.

Well, as far as I personally am concerned, most of the dictators are unattractive and noisy, not to say disagreeable. They are so thoroughly tiresome that in my opinion they do not warrant all the attention they receive. I believe that if they didn't get so much space and consideration from press and public they wouldn't be thrusting themselves into the spotlight all the time. Why, then, do we waste so much breath, paper and ink on undeserving hores? As for me, I cannot write of them without yawning. Ho hum!

Willing to Be Forgiveness
This column acknowledges deserved rebuke for not emphasizing last week the practical use of bicycles. A reader telephoned, calling attention to what he characterized as a "great oversight." Said he, "You spoke of bicycles in a general way and then observed they were somewhat like a toy, but you failed to stress their value as a means of transportation." He was pleasant but I noted a gleam in his eye as he added, "If you saw as I do men riding to and from their work on bicycles, messenger boys and newsboys using them constantly and dependent upon them, you might have been more friendly to these invaluable mechanical devices." I protested that I was friendly, that I used to ride one and found it extremely useful. He intimated that I should make some sort of apology and that readers would think well of me if I did. Well, here it is. And may I add that this same friend expressed agreement with me that there should be a law regulating and providing for registration of bicycles so we parted in perfect amicability.

Let Newtonians Remember
In court an expert witness is required to state his qualifications. I wish to explain that for a long stretch of years I have viewed the Washington's Birthday ceremonies in the Hall of Flags, State House, when the Governor of the Commonwealth holds his annual public reception. Never has Newton, as far as I have been able to observe, been represented by great throngs. I have often wondered as I felt that the Newtonians were fully as patriotic as other Americans. Newton is not distant from the capitol so extended journeying cannot be offered as an excuse. Next Wednesday a Governor from Newton will be there to receive young and old from all walks of life. Under such circumstances it would seem that Newton should do better than in the past. Let us be hopeful.

Friendly Tip

It wouldn't surprise me to read any day that somebody had opened a course in the art of dinner conversation. For all I know there may be such instruction obtainable at present. I don't keep track of correspondence schools or educational matters of any kind. Things like that easily slip one's notice especially if you don't go out a lot.

The demands imposed on a dinner guest begin when he gets into formal dress after frantically rounding up vest buttons, shirt studs and cuff links. He is usually invited, not merely because of his pleasing individuality but to eat, drink and be gabby. The latter requirement is not only the most important but the most difficult. No one who is asked to the home of our best people under such circumstances wishes to register as a failure. A wise person, on whom is placed the burden of sustaining a conversation will promptly learn what most interests his table companion. This can be done by adroit questioning, which is kept up until you discover the other's hobby. Let him trot it out and ride it. Things should run smoothly after that. The only exertion is likely to be an occasional, "Please tell me more about that phase."

A word of warning and that is—take care the table companion doesn't employ similar tactics. Be first at it. You will save yourself energy and have given a fine evening to someone who enjoys their own eloquence best of all.

RELAY TEAM WINS AND LOSES AT CARNIVAL

Last Saturday on the Boston Garden boards the orange and black continued its track supremacy at the 4th Annual Eastern Seaboard Relay Carnival. Don MacKinnon captured the "special hurdle race" by about a foot from Russ Lisle of Huntington, and Dick Francis of Boston English. George Hutchings didn't fare so well in the "special 1000" as he finished sixth. The one-lap relay team composed of Johnny Fitzgerald, Jim Beloit, Bill "Putter" Hurley and Bill Pescosolido, was apparently flinched. Johnny Fitzgerald couldn't manipulate the banks and Jim Beloit trying to make up the lost distance tripped and fell. He was stunned momentarily and when he did get up again was far behind. Bill Hurley and Bill Pescosolido tried to make up the distance but to no avail.

In the two-lap relay Don Ashley running a fast first leg and Art Hughes, running a second, left the Malden and Boston English runners far behind. Fred Hall, the third man, made sure that his opponents didn't get near him. Don MacKinnon ran the best anchor leg of the day. Don not content with a ten yard lead increased it to almost three times that to break the worsted in 2:27.3, a new two lap relay mark. In the final race for the New England two-lap relay team championship, Newton again was flinched when Don Ashley slipped and fell on the first bank. The Newton quartet dropped to fourth immediately, behind Taber Academy, Worcester Academy, and South Boston. Don MacKinnon, instead of running anchor ran second making up more than thirty yards. The boys from the heart of the Commonwealth went into first with Taber and South Boston fighting for second with Newton bringing up the rear. On the third leg, Art Hughes, broke his stride but edged into third place over his Taber Academy rival. Hall gained considerably but not quite enough to catch the South Boston anchor. Worcester Academy won in 2:25.2, which equaled the track record and broke Newton's time in the previous race.

Newton, even though they didn't win the finals, is Class A two-lap relay champ. Newton had a track meet with Lowell last Monday and without the services of Don MacKinnon and Donn Ashley who received injuries at the Garden Saturday won easily 51-23 to 25-13.

During this past week-end several former Newton High boys were active in various tracks. In a dual meet between Exeter and the Dartmouth freshmen, Don Forte of Exeter and brother Paul of Dartmouth tied for first in the 40 yd. dash. In the B. A. games Joe Gallant ran anchor for the Northeastern second-place two mile relay team.

In the Providence K. C. meet on Tuesday Ray Huling finished third in the finals of the hurdles, won by Alan Tolmich, Detroit star, who equaled the world's record of 5.7s. In the intercollegiate 1000 yd. run Basil Babcock of Bowdoin freshman placed second. Joe Gallant of Northeastern won the 1500 yd. run and Tom O'Connor of the Newton Y. M. C. A. finished third in the one mile walk.

District Nursing Asso

The annual meeting of the Newton District Nursing Association was held at Headquarters, February 15th, at 10. Reports were read by Miss Mary Jones, Jr., secretary, by Treasurer Matt Jones, Jr., Mrs. J. Herbert Young, of the Nursing Committee, Mrs. Fred Loveland, of the Supply Department, Mrs. Horatio Rogers, of the Well-Baby Clinic, Mrs. Louis Marshall, of the Educational Department, Mrs. Philip Warren, of the Finance Committee, Mrs. John F. Brown, of the Publicity Committee, and Executive Director, Miss Hilga Nelson.

The report of the Nominating Committee was read by Mrs. William Glidden, Jr., and the following officers were re-elected.

Mrs. Louis Arnold, president; Mrs. Albert F. Hutchinson, 1st vice president; Mrs. Leverett Saltston, 2nd vice president; Miss Marion Dorris, secretary; Mrs. John T. Croghan, assistant secretary; Mrs. Matt Jones, Jr., treasurer; Mrs. Stephen Bishop, assistant treasurer.

It was with regret that this organization had to accept the resignation of Mrs. Samuel Powers who was its first president and who has served faithfully for 40 years. A motion was immediately made and carried making Mrs. Powers an honorary member.

Mayor Edwin O. Childs addressed the group.

After the meeting coffee was served, Mrs. Lester Hunter and Mrs. J. Mervin Allen, acting as hostesses.

Auto Hits Two Women at Waban

An automobile driven by Mrs. Katherine Hope of 1412 Beacon st., Waban, hit Mrs. Ida Darcy, 61, of School st., Gloucester, and Mrs. Charles Soucy, 73, of Central st., Leominster, about 6:40 p. m. Monday after the two elderly women had alighted from a bus opposite 1870 Beacon st. Waban. Mrs. Darcy received fractures of the pelvis and left arm and was taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance. Mrs. Soucy received cuts and bruises and was taken into her son's home at 1970 Beacon st., where she was treated by Dr. Gordon Morrison. Mrs. Hope reported that when she saw the women crossing the street, she applied the brakes and the car skidded, the rear right fender hitting the women.

NEWTON SIX KNOCKS STONEHAM FROM TOP

Tom "Bunny" Dugan, stylish stick-handler and skater, poked the in and out Newton High hockey squad to a 6-2 victory over the league leaders, Stoneham, last Saturday at the Boston Garden. The defeat tumbled Stoneham into second place with Arlington regaining the lead through its 2-0 defeat of Medford. Newton climbed back to the fourth rung of the ladder. Tom Dugan, scoring three goals and making one assist, went to the top of the G. B. I. leading scorers with 12 points, and Walt Hurley with two goals and one assist stands third with ten points. This high-scoring pair and Phil Fessenden took the scoring honors for Newton against the Gordons. Tom Dugan has scored 6 points in the last two games as against six points in the first seven games.

After about a minute of play in the first period Newton caught Stoneham napping and little Walt Hurley breezed the puck past goalie Will Plummer unassisted. Three minutes later Stoneham tied up the game when Bob Bingham, huge Stoneham defenseman, broke through the entire Newton team, came down upon goalie Cliff Goodband, drew him out and slapped the puck into the strings. With a little over ten minutes of the period gone, Tom Dugan, on the first of his solos, let one go that was too much for Plummer to handle. This goal put Newton in the lead and Stoneham never threatened again. Just after the first Stoneham goal both teams took things lightly for the first seven minutes of the second period before any thrills were offered. First Tom Dugan scored the second and last of his solos to put the orange and black out front 3-1. A minute later, Bud Hurley aided by Jack Carder and the erstwhile Tom Dugan scored Newton's fourth goal. With about two minutes to go Russ Gardner of Stoneham scored Stoneham's second and final goal, aided by a little good fortune.

The play throughout the third period was dominated by the orange and black forces. They were aided also by two Stoneham penalties, one going to Bob Bingham for charging and the other to Johnny Tole for holding his second penalty of the day, the first coming in the second period for hooking. With about four minutes gone, Phil Fessenden, scored his first goal for the orange and black team. Phil was aided by Alex Skene. Three minutes later with the play in mid-air, Tom Dugan completed his "hat-trick" by tallying Newton's sixth and last goal. Tom was assisted by his line-mate Walt Hurley. Good goaltending by Bill Plummer kept the blue and white force from being swamped altogether.

Newton tomorrow takes on Medford High in their final game of the season and needs at least a tie to stay ahead of the red, white and blue.

NEWTON WINS TO END SEASON IN LEAGUE TIE

Newton High closed its 1938 basketball season on Tuesday with a 16-28 romp over the Brookline High quintet. It was the Newton five's seventh victory of the Suburban League season, which with three defeats enables them to finish in a triple or quadruple tie for the league championship. Captain Don Abbott and Flag were the Newton stars with the latter scoring 14 points and leading Newton to a 10-10 tie with the Newton team. Phil Holmes and Francis Leone, sophomores, tallied 9 and 6 points. The Newton seconds also won from their Wealthy Town rivals, 20 to 11.

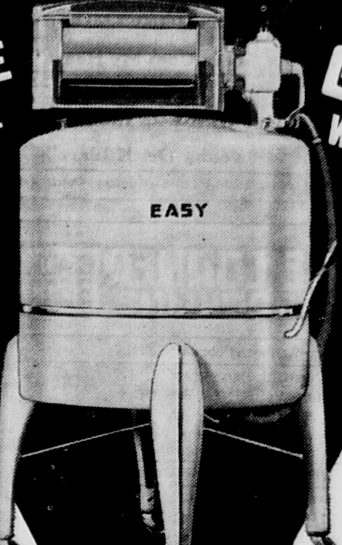

By winning both of its games in the past week the Arlington High five has caused an upheaval in the league standing. Knocking off the league leaders, Waltham, last Friday the Spy Ponders pulled the Watch City team down into second place with Cambridge Latin taking over the lead. Yesterday Arlington upset the Cantabs to pull that team back. Newton, Waltham, and Arlington each has a seven-three rating at the top of the heap while the Cantabs, with one more game to go have a 6-3 standing. Should Cambridge Latin, as anticipated, win from the Newton team, the Cambridge city title game next week the quadruple tie will exist. Should Rindge win the Cantabs will be out of the division of honors.

Arrests Brothers After Struggle

For months newspapers have been telling of possible war between France and Italy. A miniature Franco-Italian battle occurred on last Friday night at Upper Falls. Patrolman Leo Gagnon, who is of French extraction, had a battle royal with John and Hercules Anzivino, brothers, who reside at Cedar st., Wellesley, and Columbia ave., Upper Falls, respectively. Gagnon placed John Anzivino under arrest for drunkenness and brother Hercules tried to take the prisoner away from the policeman at the corner of Oak and Chestnut sts. A furious fracas lasted for about 15 minutes before Gagnon got the battling brothers under control. Having but two hands, and holding a prisoner with each, he had to order a spectator to unlock the police signal box. During the melee the policeman's eyeglasses were broken and he crowned both the Anzivinos with his club. In the Newton court on Monday Hercules Anzivino was sentenced to 2 months in jail for attempting to rescue a prisoner. He appealed. John Anzivino was fined $15 and sentenced to serve 10 days in jail. The sentence was suspended on condition that he make restitution for the policeman's broken eyeglasses and ruined trousers.

Red Cross Teacher Aids Woman

Ethel Poland of 192 Hunnewell ter., Newton, was one of the victims of icy sidewalks in Newton last Friday. She fell at the corner of River and Elm sts., West Newton, and walked to the police station nearby to get first aid for her injured left wrist. Irving Appleby, Red Cross instructor in first aid was at police headquarters to give a lesson to Newton policemen. He found that Miss Poland's wrist had been fractured and placed the woman's arm in a sling. She was taken to the Newton Hospital in a police car.

Two Fined $50 on Gambling Charge

Mrs. Claire Gillis of Cypress st. and William Johnston of Knowles st. both of Newton Centre, were fined $50 each by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court on Monday. Patrolman McCormick testified that he had caught Johnston with slips on horse racing bets on his person and that the woman had a racing sheet in her possession when he apprehended them on Union st.

drive through that section, are quite satisfied. The State traffic engineer, who lives in another city contends that the obnoxious, traffic delaying system of signals should be restored. Newton people, who travel through West Newton daily or more often, had their fill of the "expertly" devised signal system, and want no more of it. As for the choice between angular and parallel parking, we shall leave to our readers whether angular parking is more hazardous on business streets as wide as is Washington st. at West Newton, than parallel parking, (as advocated by the State traffic engineer) with the average motorist trying to edge his or her car into a short space between two other automobiles.

A few months ago there was much ado over contracts entered into by State officials for the repair of alleged damages to state property caused by the September hurricane. According to the press, the Attorney General was to investigate contracts entered into by the Department of Education and other departments, including the Military Department. The result of the investigation of the Department of Education received much publicity. If the investigation of the other departments showed that the contracts entered into were not extravagant, a report to that effect should be made.

A few days ago a jury in the Middlesex Superior Court at Cambridge awarded to former owners of some swampland at Oak Hill which was taken by the City of Newton for public purposes, $20,000 plus interest from October, 1935. The land was owned by the Higgins heirs and 3 acres of it were taken by the city.

Fined $110 For Drunken Driving

Hugh Jenner, 51, of Flanders rd., Westboro, was fined $110 by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court yesterday for driving a car while under the influence of liquor. He was also fined $5 for drunkenness and $5 for driving without a license in his possession. He appealed. Jenner also will be tried in the Waltham court on a charge by Watertown police of leaving the scene of an accident without revealing his identity. Patrolman Barr testified that while he and Patrolman Madden were on duty in a cruising car they received a radio message that an automobile had hit a taxi at Watertown and had not stopped. Shortly after they observed a car bearing the registration numbers broadcast by the Watertown police and chased it from Lower Falls to Wellesley Hills before stopping it. According to Barr, the driver of the pursued car, who was Jenner, tried several times to force the police car off the road, and stopped only after Patrolman Madden had fired two shots, one of which punctured the gasoline tank on Jenner's car.

tion for the state, to exterminate the privileged classes, to educate the masses, and to erect a highly integrated and closely coordinated economic system.

Fascism is a totalitarian political movement, which reached its highest organization in Italy under the dictatorship of Benito Mussolini, in 1922. Fascism has two objectives: the building up of a highly nationalistic state and the complete suppression of Communism. Fascism is one of the contemporary challenges to the system of Parliamentarism. It considers the welfare of the state superior to the welfare of the individual, that labor in all its forms is a social duty, because production is the basis of national economic strength and welfare, that private initiative is preferable to state socialism, and that the state must control and plan the production of the nation by means of the corporate system.

Capitalism is an economic system whose organization features business enterprise for private profit, private property, machine technology, a price mechanism, and open markets. Capitalism has been praised for its ability to rationalize economic processes, bringing forth vast quantities of goods at decreasing costs, the inventive genius which it has stimulated, and its ruthless alteration and destruction of traditional social institutions. Capitalism has been condemned because it is as yet poorly coordinated, bringing resultant depression, economic maladjustment and distress in its wake; it has put on a pedestal as the dominant motive in life the acquisition of riches; and the gains from machine production have too largely gone into the hands of a small group of owners, creating a gulf between social classes which it is difficult to bridge.

Middlesex Court 53rd Reunion

Middlesex Court, M. C. O. F., observed the 53rd anniversary of its founding on Tuesday night at Elks' Hall, Newton, James T. Flynn, D.C.R., of the court, welcomed the 150 present following a banquet, and presented Miss Mary M. Mulligan, Chief Ranger, of the court as toastmaster.

The first speaker was Ralph J. Wheeler of Leicester, High Chief Ranger, of the M. C. O. F., who referred to the membership campaign now being conducted. Rev. John Sheridan, chaplain of the court, eulogized the late Pope Pius XI. He said the late Pope had brought Mussolini to terms after the Duce had, during the early years of his power, been antagonistic to the Church, and that Pius XI had consistently opposed the atheism of Bolshevism, the paganism of the Nazis, and had striven for peace during the troubled years of his reign. Mayor Edwin O. Childs said that Pius XI was a valiant, outstanding character and the election of his successor is of tremendous portent to the world with conditions as they now are. Referring to the depression, the Mayor commented that this country has weathered other depressions, will successfully overcome the present one, and there is sunshine ahead for the younger generation that now is facing discouraging conditions.

William G. O'Hara, executive director of the Welfare Department of the City of Boston, delivered an eloquent address in which he traced the economic progress of this country and asserted that until we harken back to the religious and moral inspirations that motivated the founders of this nation, and turn aside from selfish materialism, stable prosperity and happiness will not return. Others who spoke included James Desmond, William Barry and William Harrison, officials of the M. C. O. F. Vocal selections were given by Joseph Antonelli, tenor, and Thomas P. Fitzgerald, Jr., baritone. Among those present was Thomas Waters, a charter member of the court.

W. Newton Drug Store Robbed

At 11:53 Monday night a telephone receiver at the drug store of Isadore Polen, 1439 Washington st., West Newton, was separated from the rest of the instrument, according to the records of the telephone exchange. Tuesday morning Fireman Arthur McCarthy of Engine 2 observed that the glass in the door at the drug store had been broken. Patrolman Powers, who went to investigate the burglary, found a dollar bill on the floor of the store, two bottles of liquor on the floor near the front door and the telephone receiver knocked off the instrument. Evidently the burglar had been nervous and in a big hurry.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Mind" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, February 19.

The Golden Text is: "Be ye all of one mind, having compassion one of another, love as brethren, be pitiful, be courteous" (I Peter 3: 8).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "My son, attend to my words: incline thine ear unto my sayings. Let them not depart from thine eyes; keep them in the midst of thine heart. For they are life unto those that find them, and health to all their flesh" (Proverbs 4: 20-22).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Hold thought steadfastly to the enduring, the good, and the true, and you will bring these into your experience proportionately to their occupancy of your thoughts. . . . Let the perfect model be present in your thoughts instead of its demoralized opposite. This spiritualization of thought leads in the light, and brings the divine Mind. Life not death into your consciousness" (pp. 261, 407).

Rotary Club

Dr. Gabriel Farrell, director of Perkins Institute for the blind, was the speaker and his topic was, "The Deaf-Blind." Dr. Farrell said that he wished the school would be called an Institute for repaired vision in preference to a school for the blind, but it was felt that by so doing, it might possibly eliminate some of the sympathetic support which was so necessary for an organization of its kind. There has been a decrease in enrollment at the Institute similar to what the high schools are experiencing at the present time. It is also noticeable that the sixteen to eighteen-year-old boys and girls are staying at the Institute for the reason there is no work available for them in the outside world. Dr. Farrell feels that blindness will decrease very noticeably in the next fifty years. Blindness is really an old age problem at the present time as the majority of cases are of the age group of fifty and over. He feels that seventy-five per cent of blindness is preventable. He described in detail the work they are doing at the present time for the deaf-blind which is handled by a special department and now comprises fourteen pupils. This particular phase of education for the blind was first inaugurated at the Perkins Institute over a hundred years ago.

She is said to own one of the finest collections of valentines in this country of Foreign Railway Posters, Christmas Creches, and Antique Valentines. It is the last which she brings to this Club meeting. Most of these are from fifty to one hundred years old. She will describe the art of lace paper-making, and the romance of the sentiments expressed, as if she were opening a treasure trunk in an old English attic, and bringing to light the tender romance of sweethearts of long ago.

In a short skit, "Over the Telephone," written by Mrs. Gordon S. Heath, Second Vice-President, which was much enjoyed, the cast included Mrs. Frederick C. Engles, Mrs. Alfred E. Thayer, Mrs. E. M. Observes Twentieth Anniversary by Entertaining Presidents

With a background of palms and ferns, the president of the Newton

Upper Falls Woman's Club and honored guests of the Club held a Reception, and were greeted by members of the Club on the occasion of their Twentieth Anniversary, Monday, February 6, at 7:30 o'clock, in the Club Rooms of the Emerson School. In the receiving line were Miss Nellie M. Osborne, president; Mrs. John H. Kimball, General Federation director from Massachusetts; Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth, State Federation president; Mrs. William F. Leach, Twelfth District director; Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, Newton Federation president; and past presidents of the Hostess Club, Mrs. Robert B. McLaughlin, Miss Ethel W. Sabin, Mrs. Thomas L. Aiken, Mrs. Walter R. Evans and Mrs. Albert Proctor.

Following the reception, Miss Osborne extended her greetings to the assembled guests, among whom were Mrs. Benjamin D. Miller, former Twelfth District director; and fifteen presidents and club officers accompanying them of the Twelfth District; and six of the residents of Stone Institute who are honorary members of the Club.

The guests were received on their arrival by the members of the Executive Board and past chairmen of committees who acted as their hostesses.

The Newton Upper Falls Garden Club presented beautiful corsage bouquets to the guests and hostesses. They presented to Miss Osborne an orchid corsage bouquet. The bouquets of spring flowers, blue iris, jonquils, narcissus, acacia and white stevia were pinned by the president and past president of the Garden Club Miss A. Gertrude Osborne and Mrs. Raymond Capobianco.

Mrs. Robert B. McLaughlin, secretary, read a short account of the past twenty years' history of the Club. In that time over $1400 has been given by the Club to philanthropies. Then Mrs. Capobianco presented to Miss Osborne, for the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club, twenty dollars, as a gift from the Garden Club. Miss Osborne and the Club members were not only surprised but much touched at this gracious tribute, for the Garden Club is only two years old, and Miss Osborne assured the donors that this was a most welcome gift for the Club treasury.

Greetings and congratulations were extended to the Club by Mrs. Kimball, Mrs. Hildreth, Mrs. Leach, and Mrs. Hay.

Miss Millison Shedd, Harpist, and daughter of a member of the Club, rendered a delightful recital of classical music. Miss Shedd gave a short history, also, of the "Origin of the Harp." Among the selections were "Murmuring Cascade," by Zabel; Sonata in C Minor, by Paganini; Preludes 1 and 3, by Tournier; "The Angelus," by Renie; "Saffeghetto," by Bach; "Zephyrs," by Salzedo; "The Music Box," by Poinitz; and closing the program were the beautiful strains of "Believe Me If all those Endearing Young Charms."

Following the program the guests were escorted to one of the school rooms where Mrs. Donald Finchbaugh, chairman of Hospitality, and her committee, assisted by members of the Club, served refreshments. The pourers were Mrs. Walter R. (Continued on page 10)

Old Factory At
W. Newton Burned

A large wooden building at the corner of Westwood and Webster sts., West Newton, was destroyed by fire last Friday evening. The building was formerly used as a planing mill and also for the manufacture of street railway signals. It had been unoccupied for years until it was rented last November by the WPA and used for making concrete curbing. Edmond Joyal, Jr., of 111 Auburndale ave., was employed as watchman at the building, and because of lack of electric lights was making his rounds using a kerosene lantern. He set the lantern down on the floor of a room on the first floor when an explosion occurred. Joyal's clothing became ignited from the resultant flames, but he extinguished his burning garments and ran to the corner of Webster st. where he pulled Box 351 at 6:12 p. m. When Chief Randlett arrived at the scene, he ordered a second alarm at 6:26. The blaze gutted the first floor of the three story building and spread to the second floor. The cause of the fire is supposed to have been gasoline fumes ignited by the lantern, and the damage was estimated at about $5000. The building is owned by John A. Hope, Inc.

The theater and films are being donated by the management. Tickets may be obtained at the door.

They will be assisted by two boys who will play the parts of Washington and Lincoln, and by their captain, Mrs. Chester Baker. The skit is to be directed by Mrs. Winifred Grice and Mrs. Norman Allard.

Evans and Mrs. Albert Proctor, two past presidents, who presided at a large table in the center of the room, which was decorated with spring flowers. These flowers were afterward sent to Mrs. Charles Mills, who was unable to be present on account of illness. Mrs. Mills presented to the first Club president the gavel which was formerly used by the Pierian Woman's Club of Upper Falls, of which Mrs. Mills was president, and which merged with the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club.

Mr. Ralph Blagdon, feature writer for the Christian Science Monitor, will speak on Current Events at the next meeting of the Club, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert B. McLaughlin, 69 Waldorf rd., at 7:30 p. m.

Zonta Club

Miss Caroline Freeman, of West Newton, opened her home on February 6 for the regular meeting of the Newton Zonta Club. Miss Jeanne Kendrick, first vice-president, presided in the absence of Miss Doris Lovell, president. Miss Alice Doxey acted as recording secretary, pro tem, as Miss Grace Lawrence was not present. Mrs. Cora Sadler, chairman of the Program committee, proposed a review of the Constitution, citing stimulating facts; and questions, with answers in detail, which were most enlightening, were read by the Club members.

The review aroused and renewed a determination to appreciate the principles laid down in the Constitution. The document took on a deeper meaning and one realized the difficulties experienced among the signers of the "Declaration of Independence" and "The Bill of Rights." The establishment of Freedom of Speech and Religious Liberty was directly attributed to loyal Virginians.

After singing "America, the Beautiful," a Valentine Tea was served, at which Miss Doris Carley presided.

Antiques Pageant

Ancestral hope chests and old-time trunks were opened Friday, January 20, to bring to the Newton Centre

Woman's Club treasured gowns, doll-mans, bonnets, shawls with long fringe, fans and parasols, large and small, to make memorable the "Pageant of Clothes" given by the Antiques committee. Mrs. Sidney R. Porter arranged for models to display the gowns lent by Newton residents in cases where the owner herself did not wear the gown.

Beginning with wedding dresses of 1890, there were shown the quilted petticoats worn by brides of five generations from the family of Tristram Coffin, founder of Nantucket, an ancestor of Miss Lillian C. Everett; and a polonaise which belonged to the grandmother of Mrs. H. Archibald Nissen. Next came three dresses from the trousseau of Mrs. Fred Fowler's grandmother, of the period of 1888-9. Miss Isabel Wyatt wore a pink evening gown and a green striped afternoon dress with hand-made green cluny lace, and Miss Ann Elizabeth Robinson wore a dimity afternoon dress, of the Fowler collection. Two wedding dresses of 1830, of the Bishop family, were worn by Mrs. Stephen Bishop and Mrs. Kenneth E. Fortune. Mrs. Chester C. Rausch appeared in her great grandmother's night cap and gown, carrying a bedside candlestick.

In the 1840 period, Miss Lillian C. Everett wore her grandmother's dress with flowing skirt. Mrs. Harry P. Bradford lent two beautiful dresses belonging to her grandmother, an afternoon dress with founces shown by Miss Jane Hutchison, and a deep off-the-shoulder hooped-skirted evening dress shown by Evelyn Porter Stone. Miss Maude Wiggin wore her grandmother's grey bombazine street dress with basque, and skirt with deep pocket for purse, and a small fan-pocket set in the skirt trimming. Complete with shawl, fan, and bonnet, Miss Wiggin appeared to have stepped from a Godey Magazine. Little Nancy Sutton wore a charming child's dress of the period of 1850. Mrs. Leonard Rowley's grandmother's wedding dress was shown by Katherine Rowley. Little Dorothy and Nancy Tibbott wore two children's dresses of 1850, the property of Miss Everett. Mrs. Walter Hartstone's mother's dress, made for her in Paris in 1870, was worn by Virginia Hartstone. The wedding dress of Amy Alcott given her by Louisa May Alcott was shown by May Jeanette Rockwood. This beautiful handmade gown is now the property of Cornelia M. Holmes. A red velvet reception dress with a long train, worn by the late Mrs. Arthur Walworth at the wedding of her sister in 1893, was worn by Mrs. Brendan Dunn, and received much applause. A brown silk street dress of the same period, and belonging to Mrs. Henry E. Whittemore's mother, was worn by Mrs. Howard L. Stebbins.

Down through the years dresses of each period were shown, to the ultra-modern street outfit of coat and two-piece suit, with proper accessories, which was shown by Evelyn Porter Stone, and modern evening gowns were shown by Miss Jane Hutchison and by Miss Mary Cahoon.

Interest was keen in the clothes of the gay nineties, and the dresses of the Gibson girl period. Mrs. Stanley F. Barton wore a black afternoon dress, complete with huge hat covered with long plumes, dating from this period. Wedding dresses of the gay nineties were Mrs. Porter's, worn by her daughter, Evelyn Porter Stone; Mrs. Harold M. Bowman's, worn by Mrs. Bowman; Mrs. Elmer Davis', worn by her; and Mrs. John W. Duthie's, worn by her daughter Jean.

Mrs. Lincoln Alvord was the narrator, and she wore a black silk afternoon dress, with fichu of the 1820's, complete with a calash. Furnished as a parlor of the early days, with corner whatnot filled with fine old china dogs and cats and silver and pewter ware, and the drop-leaf tables adorned with oil lamps and a watchstand, the stage was a fitting background for the beautiful gowns.

Mrs. Samuel R. MacKillop played during the entire afternoon music appropriate to the scene. Mrs. Thomas W. Cumner sang several solos between modeling; one of the gowns she wore being a dress of 1840, and another being Mrs. C. H. Bennett's wedding-dress of 1879.

An old-fashioned Tea, with cakes with caraway seeds, and old-fashioned candies, was served in the Reception Room following the Pageant. Miss Lillian C. Everett, wearing a pink silk dress of 1880, presided at one end of the tea-table, and Mrs. L. G. H. Palmer, in a silk and lace dress of 1840, presided at the other end of the table.

DOG NOTE
PETER BOGGS

Some of the first stories coming from the recent earthquake-ravaged section of South America reveal again the uncanny prognostic ability that dogs at times reveal. These news dispatches relate how dogs flatly refused to go into their masters' homes just prior to the disastrous earthquake. One man was saved by his dog barking and refusing to go inside, another was dragging his pet into the house when it collapsed.

Checking my files I find that dogs in Quetta, India, acted similarly before the earthquake that demolished that town in 1935.

Can dogs actually sense approaching danger, or are many of their warnings mere coincidences? I don't know, but I for one will heed any warning that my dogs give me, and I hope you will do the same.

How often have you heard of saving a puppy's life by feeding it with a medicine dropper? If you are ever faced with the problem of raising an orphan dog, before you run for an eye dropper look for a cat that is nursing kittens.

A cat makes an ideal foster mother, providing the burden is not too great. She can comfortably care for two pups of the medium-sized breeds. A cat will do a much better job than a medicine dropper and a bottle of milk because she gives body warmth, which is important, and in addition her natural milk is served at the correct temperature.

In London, England, they have solved the problem of dog transportation. All subway welcome dogs provided a fare is paid for the animal. Dogs are allowed on buses too, but at the discretion of the conductor.

Did you know that many business executives in this country today never go to the office without their dogs? During the day the animals curl up and sleep in a designated space, accompany their owners for lunch, and then back to the office until the day's work is done.

Each year the Statler Hotel in Boston puts on a dog show, which is decidedly different. Under the able direction of Mr. Edward Place, dog owners dress in costumes appropriate to their pets, and parade before the judges. Those owning Pekes come in Chinese costumes, those owning Samoyeds in Arctic attire, those having Scotties, in the native dress of Scotland, etc.

In the past two years over 2500 people have flocked to the Statler ballroom to applaud this interesting and original exhibition. I mention this as perhaps it may give you an idea for a unique dog show in your city.

To those who own Boston Terriers. Do not fret if the eyes of your pet are more or less watery all the time. Many owners of this breed make the mistake of doctoring the animal's eyes constantly, forgetting that a watery condition is natural for dogs with large and bulging eyes.

In 1750 Jonathan Plott migrated from Germany to Waynesville, N. C., bringing with him four dogs. Along about 1780 Henry Plott, son of Jonathan, began to cross the offspring of these dogs with some local dogs. A few years later hound blood was introduced for the sake of developing scenting power. For almost 150 years the strain has been kept pure. They are called Plott Bear dogs for originally they were used to hunt bears that roamed the mountainous part of this countryside. When not hunting, they were kept penned with livestock to protect the cattle from marauders. I speak of these dogs because there has been agitation to have this breed recognized by the American Kennel Club. If you want a good bear hound the place to look for one is in western North Carolina.

Question: Can you tell me the pulse rate of a dog?—M. G. T.

Answer: The pulse of an adult dog ranges from 90 to 100 beats per minute, but in old age falls to between 60 or 70 beats per minute.

Question: I am expecting a litter of Cocker Spaniel puppies. At what age should I have their tails docked?—F. W. R., Jr.

Answer: If possible, have this operation performed by your veterinarian when the puppies are four or five days old.

Spring's on the way!
Get out and meet it!

Easy on the eye—easy to buy
—on General Motors terms!

NO, we're not trying to beat the gun—we'll be seeing quite a lot of winter before the spring buds burst.

But spring always has come—and with it a sudden itch to get out and see the awakening world. And also—all too often—the discovery that to get the new car you want, you've got to wait!

So what? So take steps now—to meet spring halfway!

Take steps to retire that slow-motion number you're driving—and replace it with a Buick bursting with newness and get-up-and-git.

Put a Dynaflex straight-eight under your toe to do battle with tough winter going—get the comfort of Buick Coil Springing to float you smoothly over rough and rutted roads.

Get a new outlook for winter horizons or for spotting the first flush of green on the meadows in Buick's "visibility unlimited"—as much as 412 more square inches of safety plate glass to see through.

Then consider also: Your present car is worth less each day as a trade-in. The risk of repair bills grows steadily greater. Old rubber's dangerous, tired batteries a bore—and a bright new Buick is sound and supple all through.

Besides—Buick's prices are lower than a year ago, lower than you'd expect, lower than some sizes!

So why not drop in to talk it over? You'll probably want to get your Buick while the getting's good!

Better buy Buick—NOW!

Many Newton Citizens Approve Extension of Route 128 At Hearing

Lives of 5000 School Children Among Numerous Dangers Under Present Conditions on Walnut Street Due to Heavy Traffic

Painting a graphic picture of traffic conditions along Walnut st. in Newton, state legislators, Newton educators and business leaders yesterday asked the legislature to approve a $5,700,000 highway construction program which would divert the heavy traffic flow from Walnut st. around the city into Waltham.

The proposed by-pass which was advocated before the committee on highways and motor vehicles is one link in the circumferential highway project planned to provide a main traffic artery from the south of Boston to the North Shore.

Newton people yesterday told the committee that they favor the entire project but feel that the Newton portion of the construction program should be started immediately.

They told of congested conditions along Walnut st., now used as a main artery by traffic from the south of Boston.

The circumferential highway is a 25 mile road project which is one part of a six year—$18,000,000 highway construction plan of the Metropolitan Planning Division.

O. D. Fellows, engineer for the planning division told the committee of legislators that the people in the cities of Newton and Waltham, and the town of Wellesley, all want the road work started immediately to eliminate hazardous conditions which now prevail.

It was pointed out that residents of the North Shore areas insist that the link in the road started in Peabody and Lynnfield to be completed as soon as possible.

Heading the delegation of Newton persons favoring construction of the Newton section of the highway, Rep. Warren K. Brimblecom of Newton stated that this was "the second time during the seven years I have been a member of the legislature that I have appeared before a committee in favor of highway construction. This comprehensive program for highway construction is the first that has been placed before the legislature in that time.

"In Newton we have waited a long time for settlement of this matter of a radial artery for motor traffic and the temporary wait we were told to sit through has been all too long.

"Traffic coming from the south of Boston, in order to avoid congestion in the city of Boston, cuts across country and enters Newton over Walnut st. That is the best route now available, but on the street there are three churches, five schools and two cemeteries along with other conditions which make for added dangers.

"There are many heavy trucks that come over the highway and while this is not entirely a Newton project, adoption of this program will help immeasurably."

Former Rep. Rupert P. Thompson, secretary of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, said that business has changed from Washington st. in Newtonville to Walnut st. and the transfer of business sites has added to the traffic problem.

He told the committee that for "one-third of a mile on Walnut st. conditions were found by a retail business survey to be the most congested of any area in Metropolitan Boston—excluding of course the City of Boston itself. There are heavy trucks daily coming from the northern cities of the state heading south and they must travel along this street which is lined along both sides with parked cars.

"This is not a statement of conditions on Fridays and Saturdays which are the usual shopping days, but it is true for every day from Monday through Saturday and it becomes bad about 10 a. m. Monday morning.

"Such conditions," he said, "are bad for the city from a business point of view and the people cannot conveniently shop in our city.

"In this third of a mile we find that it is necessary to maintain four or five policemen to regulate traffic—this almost every day.

"When you consider that Newton is in the 'sticks' that is a lot of policemen for one third of a mile.

"This highway when it was first constructed, brought traffic up to our laps at the Worcester turnpike tie (Continued on Page 2)

Colby Denies Accusations Of Mayor Childs

States He Is Not A Candidate For Office

Filled with indignation as a result of a statement by Mayor Childs last week that members of the Board of Aldermen who have been criticizing him are motivated by political reasons and are starting the coming election campaign early, Alderman Clarence Colby of Ward 7 strongly rebuked the Mayor at the meeting of the Board on Monday night. Colby, who opposed Childs in the last Mayoralty contest, stated that he will not be a candidate for Mayor, Alderman or any other office at the coming city election. He said he had given freely of his time the past several years as a member of the Board in a sincere effort to serve the city, but he has become disgusted with the manner in which the Mayor is conducting city affairs. Mr. Colby's remarks were as follows:

Statements purporting to come from the Mayor of the City were published in the Waltham-News-Tribune on Feb. 14th and in the Newton Graphic of Feb. 17th.

These statements question the good faith of this Board and charge its members with "playing politics."

This unwarranted attack upon high calibre men, some of whom have given of their services to the city without limit and without recompense for as many as eleven years, is most unjust. It cannot be allowed to go unanswered.

Perhaps I am in the best position to answer this attack for the following reasons:

First: At the last Mayoralty election I was the Mayor's opponent, having become so at the last minute after it became evident that others with reason feared that the indifference of the electorate would make the result a foregone conclusion.

I did so for the sole purpose of protesting against the conditions at City Hall due to the lack of co-operation of the Mayor toward the members of this Board, which has been clearly evidenced since his return to office, and, as I saw it, the woeful lack of vision, effort and ability shown in the executive conduct of the city affairs.

I ran as an independent candidate and did not have the endorsement of the Republican City Committee, or the members individually except in one or two rare instances. I have not been connected with the Republican City Committee for more than two decades. Under these circumstances I (Continued on page 12)

Mayor Appoints Searway Street Commissioner

Young People To Present Play at Hunnewell Club

Mayor Childs on Monday night in a communication to the Board of Aldermen stated that he had appointed Francis L. Searway of 119 Dickerman rd., Newton Highlands as Street Commissioner. The large number of citizens who were present in the Aldermanic chamber at City Hall at once started to inquire "who is Searway?" and nearly all the Aldermen made the same query, as the Mayor did not accompany the notice of the appointment with a list of qualifications of the appointee. This led Alderman Walker of Ward 5 to criticize the Mayor. Walker said:

"On July 25 when the Mayor appointed a city physician, the Board asked the Mayor to present a record of the appointee's qualifications for the office and requested that in the future the same course be pursued in important appointments," the vice-president said. "Tonight we have received the appointment as street commissioner of a man who is unknown to most of the members. The Board's request has not been complied with. I move that the Mayor be reminded of the request to furnish the Board with a record of the appointee's qualifications."

Mr. Searway has been a resident of Newton Highlands for about 15 years. He was formerly employed by the Stone & Webster Corporation as a construction engineer, and also by the Dwight P. Robinson Company of New York. In recent years he had been employed temporarily by the City of Newton Public Building Department as clerk of works on the addition erected at the F. A. Day School, Newtonville, and a supervisor on WPA projects in this city. He is 52 years of age.

Twin Brothers Killed By Auto On Watertown St.

Twin brothers, Aldo and John Corsi, 17, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Bernardo Corsi of 57 Warren st., Watertown, died after being hit on the Watertown st. Sunday evening shortly before 7 o'clock. The car that hit them was driven by Joseph A. McAniff, 38, of 38 Elliot ave., West Newton. The Corsi twins were walking on Watertown st. with Victor Palladino, 15, of Pleasant st., Watertown, and Robert Nardone, 15, of 31 Capital st., Newton, and were walking on the street because of the poor condition of the sidewalks. They were struck about opposite Derby rd., a short distance from the Newton line. Aldo Corsi was almost instantly killed; his chest was crushed and he received internal injuries. John Corsi died at the Newton Hospital Monday morning. He received a fractured skull, brain lacerations and a fracture of the right leg. Palladino was taken to the Cambridge Hospital. He received a brain concussion and multiple cuts and bruises. Nardone was the only one of the four to escape injuries. McAniff told the Watertown police he did not see the boys until it was too late to avoid hitting them. He was charged with manslaughter and driving to endanger, and released on $1000 bail. The Corsis and Palladino were students at Watertown High School.

Bruce Succeeded By Paul on Play Ground Comm.

Young People To Present Play at Hunnewell Club

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night a communication from Mayor Childs informed the Board that he had appointed Irving Paul of Centre st., Newton Centre, as a member of the Newton Playground Commission. The mayor appointed Mr. Paul in place of Lyseom A. Bruce who had served as a member of the commission since 1935. The mayor's action in not reappointing Mr. Bruce was not a surprise to persons "in the know" on city affairs. Mr. Bruce, who achieved success as Executive Director of the Boy Scouts of Newton, a position he held for a number of years, was appointed to the Playground Commission in 1935 by Mayor Weeks, and reappointed in 1936 for a 3 years term by Mayor Childs. Subsequently Mr. Bruce was chosen as Executive Secretary of the Newton Community Chest, an office he has since held.

Prior to Bruce's appointment to the Playground Commission, that body met rarely and exercised little authority in directing the affairs of the Playground Department, vesting the control of the department in Ernest Hermann, the Superintendent of Playgrounds. Shortly after Mr. Bruce became a member of the commission he advocated that it meet frequently and assert its authority by taking an active part in determining the program of the Playground Department.

He was appointed a member of a sub-committee to make a survey of the personnel and program of the department, and he was responsible for the commission meeting every month, except during the summer season. Mr. Bruce's aggressiveness in attempting to make the commission a dominant factor in directing the playground department, resulted in a sharp division among the five members of the commission.

Last year, at Bruce's suggestion, an expert, Weaver Pangborn, was provided by the National Recreation Association, without cost to the city, to make a careful study of the Newton Playground Department, and the report of that survey, resulted in recommendations to the Newton Playground Commission in January by a sub-committee composed of Bruce and (Continued on Page 2)

Aldermen Want Lawyers To Serve As Advisers In Police Controversy

Special Committee Fails To Make Public Parts of Report of Police Investigation As Threatened At Last Meeting

The expected report by the special committee which has been investigating the office of Sergeant-Mechanic in the Newton Police Department brought a large number of citizens to City Hall last Monday night, but they were disappointed. The committee had announced at the preceding meeting of the Board on February 6th, that unless Mayor Childs ordered a public hearing on Sergeant Cullen within the following two weeks, it would make public those sections of the report of the police department recently made by City Solicitor Bartlett, which dealt with the Sergeant-Mechanic. The committee, however, changed its plans quite materially. Instead of reading from the report of the City Solicitor, Alderman Inches, chairman of the special committee, read the following prepared statement—

"At the last meeting of the board your committee stated that it had received and considered a report made by the City Solicitor to his Honor the Mayor regarding Sergeant-Mechanic Cullen, and that it felt that the statements contained in said report were of such a character that the mayor should promptly act upon them and announce his findings."

"Forty-two days have now passed since this report was given to the mayor. In that period, so far as we know, no action has been taken by him upon it, nor has he announced any intention to act. As chief executive, the responsibility for action concerning this officer rests squarely upon him. If the evidence already presented him has not led him to make a decision or to cause a further inquiry to be conducted, your committee believes that it would be unavailing to have the same evidence again presented to him through any more formal proceedings."

"As the power to act is his, your committee has concluded that in his hands would add nothing to the responsibility already resting upon him. It believes, further, that if such evidence were now published, and thereafter the mayor, with such openness as we think is called for, should not conduct a hearing and announce his findings, any injury which might result from the publication to any persons involved would result to no useful purpose as far as the City's interests are concerned. Consequently, it prefers to leave the responsibility where it now rests, in the hands of the mayor."

"Any further report by your committee, may, it believes, properly await developments."

Alderman Hutchinson then read the following prepared statement and motion:

The committee which has just reported is unquestionably convinced that the evidence obtained by the City Solicitor is of such seriousness and grave importance that it requires decisive action on the part of the Mayor. The members of this board have the utmost confidence in the committee. As to the quoted statement which appeared in the press to the effect that the board is motivated in this matter by political considerations, I assert that such is not the case. I am sure that the public, whom we represent, is concerned over the rumors so prevalent throughout the city. The Mayor apparently intends to take no action. His statements, if quoted correctly in the press, are so to be interpreted. That any possibility of alleged political motives may be eliminated, I have a suggestion to make. Our first and only duty is to safeguard the citizens of Newton. That the truth may be known to the citizens and their confidence restored through an impartial and unbiased review of the situation, I move that this board request the Mayor, with the consent of the Sergeant-Mechanic, to appoint a citizens' committee consisting of five members which shall recommend publicly as to the course to be pursued. The Mayor and the Sergeant-Mechanic will surely welcome any action which appears reasonable and conducive to establishing public confidence.

The chairman of the committee has received two communications from Sergeant Cullen requesting that he be publicly cleared. Since it is a question of weighing evidence, I would include in my motion that the five be lawyers of high standing, and that the City Solicitor (Continued on Page 12)

ANOTHER EXCELLENT FORUM MEETING

As was anticipated the symposium upon capitalism, fascism and communism at the Newton Forum last Sunday attracted a large audience of Newton citizens. Considerable publicity and attempts to prevent Communist Earl Browder from appearing had their effect. But as was also anticipated the entire speaking program was carried out without any fireworks or fanfare. Once again the Forum has provided the residents of Newton with a demonstration of civic responsibility of which Newton can be proud.

THE LATE JOHN CUTLER

The passing of John Cutler this week cast a shadow of sadness over his many friends and acquaintances. During a long and busy life he had shown great interest in the welfare of humanity and in matters of civic responsibility. For many years connected in various capacities with the Metropolitan press he endeared himself to many with whom he worked and came in contact. Newton is the better for his having lived among us and we join in the expressions of sympathy and condolence to the members of his family.

THE EXTENSION OF ROUTE 128

Whether or not the extension and relocation of Route 128 in the Newton comes to pass within the next few years it was clearly demonstrated at the legislative hearing yesterday that there is need for this highway improvement. The inadequacy of Walnut street to carry this through traffic and the many hazards incident thereto were told in some detail as related in our news columns. Newton has waited patiently for more than five years and if funds are available for highway construction there can be no better program adopted than that offered by the Metropolitan Planning Division. We further emphasize the fact that our interest is not alone that of Newton but of a general improvement in the relief of traffic congestion at many points within the Metropolitan District that the extension and relocation of Route 128 would provide.

Letters To The Editor

FENCE OLD CEMETERY

To the Editor,
Sir:

It would be an excellent idea for the City of Newton to put up a fence around the old burying grounds at the corner of Centre and Cotton sts.

Much damage has been done in this cemetery in the past. A high fence would reduce the chances of future damage considerably.

PRAISES FORUM

February 20th, 1939.

To the Editor:

May I congratulate the citizens of Newton on their spirit of fair-play and self-restraint as demonstrated Sunday afternoon at the Newton Community Forum.

in for the road from the south and now all that we ask is that additional work be started to get the traffic congestion out of our back yard."

The Oak Hill District Improvement Association and the Newton Planning Board favored the project.

It was pointed out by the planning board in a letter to the committee that the traffic flow over Walnut st. at present is so great that it is costly for the city to maintain the highway, and the vehicles using the road are too heavy for the construction used on Walnut st.

Also recorded in favor of the highway program were John D. Wright for the Christian Science Church and Mrs. Sarah P. Slocum of Newtonville.

Gen. Daniel J. Needham, president of the Newton Safety Council told the committee that congestion on route 128 is something that should be corrected and that the traffic for local machines is heavy enough without considering through traffic. He said that congestion is increased by the parked cars at the Christian Science Church, the pupils from the High School and the number of buses using Walnut st.

He urged that priority be given this stretch of highway in the consideration of a construction program for the state.

Paul E. Ellicker, principal of the High School told the committee there are five schools on the street and there are 5000 boys and girls who use the schools daily and in the elementary schools the pupils are subjected to the dangers of traffic four times a day.

The educator pointed out that many of the pupils come to school on bikes, which he said constitute a traffic hazard with heavy travel over Walnut st.

He also pointed out that there are many community functions carried on in the school buildings at various times which cause congestion along Walnut st. and that during athletic seasons there is added confusion when the stadium is being used.

James C. Irwin, speaking for the Newtonville Improvement Association, told the committee that it would be possible to start construction of the link of highway in Newton and not cause any inconvenience to travelers, because at several points along the proposed route it would be possible to tie into Route 20 and then switch back at a further point to Route 128, insuring almost uninterrupted travel during future development and at the same time eliminate congestion in Newton.

"If there is any money to be spent this year for roads, this is the place to start," Senator Arthur W. Hollis of Newton told the committee. "The fundamental principle of superhighway construction is violated in Newton. Super roadways are supposed to look out for the safety and convenience of the public. Traffic over Walnut st. is not safe and it is inconvenient. This is the one weak link in the whole highway chain."

Following Senator Hollis' remarks, interested persons from Newton in the audience were asked to stand. Some 30 persons responded.

Group Insurance For Employees of Newton Market

The Star Market Company, of Newtonville, Mass., has adopted a triple coverage group program which provides more than 130 employees in its three stores in that city and Wellesley and Watertown, Mass., with approximately $170,000 of life insurance, supplemented by sickness and accident and hospitalization benefits. Announcement of the plan was made by Stephen Mugar, president of the market chain.

The group plan is being underwritten by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company on a cooperative basis whereby the employer and employees share the cost.

Individual employees receive life insurance in amounts of $1,000 or $1,500, while benefits ranging from $10 a week to $20 a week will be paid in case of sickness or non-occupational injury. Hospitalization benefits amount to either $3.00 or $4.50 a day and will be continued for a period not to exceed a maximum of 31 days during any one disability.

The plan also includes visiting nurse care and the periodical distribution of pamphlets on health conservation and disease prevention.

National Movie Quiz Winners To Be Announced

Most motion picture audiences will be interested in National Announcement Night, that will be held in motion picture theatres throughout the country on Monday evening, February 27th; for this day will be truly remembered by 5,404 persons—winners of the $250,000 Movie Quiz Contest. On this occasion announcement of the winners will be made from the stages or screens of all the motion picture theatres that have participated in the campaign that marked Motion Pictures' Greatest Year.

Mr. Howard Parker, manager of the Paramount Theatre, Newton Corner, will celebrate this occasion by announcing the names of all national prize winners from the $50,000 first prize, $25,000 second prize, $10,000 prize winners, $5,000 prize winners, down to the $1,000 successful contestants. In addition all local prize winners will be announced.

The judges of the contest are: Mrs. Ogden Reid, Dr. James E. West, Mrs. Helen Willis Moody, the Hon. Bruce Barton and Mr. Hendrik Willem van Loon.

In the selection of the winning letters, the entries were considered without signatures and identified by a key number. In that way even the judges did not know the names of the successful contestants until after they made their selections.

Water Dept. Did Not Use Big Surplus

In a recent public address on the financial condition of the City of Newton, Alderman McKay, chairman of the Finance Committee stated that the "water department surplus of $228,000 had been consumed in 1938. Some persons who listened to Mr. McKay's talk, or read his address, got the idea that the large surplus mentioned had been used by the Water Department in 1938. To offset this misunderstanding, Alderman McKay makes the following explanation in justice to Water Commissioner Murray:

"The Water Department is self-supporting. In fact it shows a profit each year. At the beginning of 1938 there was an accumulated surplus of $228,000. Knowing that certain capital expenditures should be made the Finance Committee in April made a recommendation as follows: 'That any available surplus in the Water Department be used only as needed for that department, and that no part be transferred to a General Surplus account to reduce the tax-levy.'

"That was one of many recommendations which the aldermen approved and submitted to the Mayor. The Board has no control in this matter, and the surplus was transferred to the Excess and Deficiency account. Inasmuch as the city had been operating with unbalanced budgets for the two previous years this water surplus was taken to help make up the 1936 deficit of $180,000.00 and the 1937 deficit of $160,000.00.

"This past year it was therefore necessary to authorize a $61,000.00 bond issue to furnish the Water Department with funds for its share of a PWA 30 inch collecting main. If the water surplus had not been used for general city purposes the Water Department would not have had to borrow.

"During 1938 Commissioner Murray accumulated a nest-egg in his department of $29,050.39 surplus. It remains to be seen whether this will be taken from his department. The surplus is not to be confused with the separate E. & D. accounts, but possibly those who pay the water bills may object to double-taxation if a surplus is accumulated from their payments and used in those departments which are supported by the tax-levy. The Water Department as such is not taken into account in making the levy, but its profits are sometimes expropriated."

Comptroller of Accounts White states:

"The Water Department had nothing to do with the use of the Water Surplus, as called. The Comptroller of Accounts with the agreement of the State used this surplus to adjust the Tax Warrant. When the Water Department pays the Tax surplus the amount of property taxes on about $4,000,000.00 of property, the Water surplus will be clear for their use."

Bruce Succeeded By Paul On Play Ground Comm.

Mrs. Teresa Marshall. The report dealt with program and personnel, and it stated that Supt. Hermann would have to retire on a pension in March because he would reach the age limit at that time. The report also advised that Hermann, a part-time executive, be replaced by a full-time executive, and it stressed the need of more attention to community centres as a recreational activity for the youth of the city by the Playground Department. In fact, Bruce's advocacy of community centres the past couple of years, was one cause of friction between him and other members of the commission.

Two of the five members of the Playground Commission were in agreement with Bruce in controversial matters; Mrs. Marshall and George Kellar. Chairman Ralph Henry and Commissioner Member Edward Dalton, were not in accord with Bruce. Kellar, who is secretary of the School Department was appointed to the Playground Commission by Mayor Childs. The report of the sub-committee (Bruce and Mrs. Marshall) which asserted that Mr. Hermann was not executive head of the Playground Department, and therefore would have to retire in March, because of having reached the age limit, was published in a newspaper the day before the scheduled meeting of the Playground Commission in January. That meeting was suddenly postponed by Chairman Henry of the Commission and had not been called during January or this month, up to last Monday night, when Bruce ceased to be a member of the commission.

Subsequently City Solicitor Bartlett ruled that Bruce's contention was correct regarding Hermann's status. Mayor Childs, a few weeks ago, requested the Claims and Rules Committee of the Board of Aldermen to make a study of the ordinance affecting the Playground Department, and the supposition is that his object is to have the ordinance changed so that Mr. Hermann can be retained. Two members of the Playground Commission oppose it. So did Mr. Bruce, Mr. Paul, not having yet been confirmed as a member of the commission, naturally, has expressed no opinion on the matter.

Mr. Paul is a member of an old Newton Centre family, and was an outstanding athlete at Newton High School in the 90's. Mr. Paul has been engaged in the coal business at Newton Centre for many years as a member of the firm of Luther Paul Company. In addition to appointing Mr. Paul to succeed Mr. Bruce, the Mayor recommended Edward F. Dalton of Pine Crest rd., Newton Centre, as a member of the Playground Commission for 3 years.

Appropriations were made for repairs on Steamer 3 of the fire department to the extent of $1550, and on the hose reel of $650.

Julia Ward Howd delivered her lecture on "Men's Women, and Women's Men" before the Women's Educational Club at the West Newton Unitarian Church on Tuesday evening.

At the West Newton Lyceum on Monday evening the question debated was on the condition of laborers. Nathaniel Allen, arguing in the affirmative, said that the laborer's condition is not improving; instead he is getting poorer, and the rich richer. If the real principles of charity were lived up to, comparative quality in living conditions would result. He regarded education, reduction of the tariff and fewer middle men as remedies. He recommended the principle of Carl Schurz, which is to have relations of employers and employed governed by an established board of arbitration.

J. W. Carter for the negative was opposed to a division of profits among workers, or to any rule which should allow a man to demand of another who by his own thrift and frugality has accumulated capital, a share of the profits which that capital makes. His own experience is that the laborer is paid a fair wage. The condition of laborers now is inevitable. A general discussion followed. The feeling was expressed that the condition of laborers could and should be improved; and the remedy suggested by Mr. Fiske was the closing of rum shops.

A fire was discovered in the home of C. P. Harkins on Washington st. Monday afternoon by a member of the family upon returning home. The family was absent when the fire started. The fire started in some mysterious manner in a feather bed and portion of the bedding and a portion of the bedstead in one of the chambers. The burning feathers caused a great deal of smoke and deceived the firemen as to the extent of the fire. A stream of water was directed into the bedroom and put out the fire, but not without serious damage to the furniture, carpets and room below. The loss was $400.

Edward H. Powers' Paragraphs

We have at various times recently criticized Registrar of Motor Vehicles Goodwin for his absurdity and inconsistency in advocating a "safe" driving speed of 45 miles an hour in rainy weather or at night. This time, however, we commend Mr. Goodwin for advocating legalized horse-whipping for youthful automobile thieves who drive stolen cars at terrific speeds on highways, largely in congested districts, endangering public safety, and frequently killing or injuring persons. Nor do we disagree with Mr. Goodwin's suggestion that the "sob-sisters" who are sympathetic for youthful "tough guys" might benefit from a couple of whallops. And the whipping post, instead of a horse-whipping, would serve as an effective deterrent if it were used to curb youthful gunmen and other budding criminals who practice crimes of violence, who inflict suffering on their victims, and who are "punished" by being placed on probation, or paroled after serving short terms in allegedly corrective institutions where they contact others worse than themselves.

Several days ago we received a letter which read:
"Editor, Newton Graphic:
"When I was married, I came to live in Newton as the ideal community in which to rear a family. However, it has some serious unconscious faults. These could be eliminated by publicity. Would you dare to place the enclosed notice conspicuously in your paper?"
(Signed) M. A. L.

The enclosed notice read:
"BE A GOOD NEIGHBOR."
"I do not send my children with a shovel to dig in your shrubs, yet each morning you send your dog to dig in mine."
Had M. A. L. been a regular reader of this column in past years he, or she, would not have been in doubt as to whether, or not, we would dare to publish the complaint about dogs. Twice in recent years we have referred to this matter after having received complaints from indignant Newtonians whose lawns and shrubs were regularly defiled by neighbors' dogs.

M. A. L. writes that he came to Newton because he believed it to be an ideal community in which to raise a family. Obviously, from his appeal, a family to him meant children. Unfortunately for M. A. L.'s peace of mind, many Newton families include a dog, but no children, or a dog in addition to children.
Many persons love dogs. Many other persons do not. Those included in the first class agree more or less with the late Senator Vest—that "a dog is man's best friend." People who do not like dogs regard canines as parasites that obtain food, shelter and affection from their owners, and give nothing useful in return. Many dogs do repay their owners in various ways. In European countries we see dogs used as draft animals, straining their muscles to pull heavily loaded carts. In this country in rural districts we have seen dogs giving valuable assistance to farmers by herding cattle or sheep, by serving as watchdogs. But, in cities in the U. S. A. dogs do little that is utilitarian, and people keep them as companions or pets. Dog lovers will assert that as companions, dogs perform a useful service. It cannot be denied, however, that when communities become thickly settled, the presence of large numbers of dogs becomes a nuisance. Although many owners of dogs in cities keep their pets properly restrained, many other owners allow the animals to run about freely, and do not even license them.

Newton has long been known as the "Garden City." Most Newtonians take pride in the appearance of their property, desire their lawns to look attractive and embellish their yards with shrubs and flowers. And thereby arises the neighborhood quarrels or silent resentment between garden lovers and dog owners. In the horse and buggy days when there were plenty of open spaces in Newton, dogs had plenty of locations on which to relieve themselves, instead of regularly using some neighbor's yard as a "rest room," and what especially irks persons whose lawns are affected is the practice of dog owners daily (or nightly) leading (Continued on Page 5)

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

As Things Grow
Let the seed catalogue make its appearance in the home, as it seems to be doing these days, and the troubles, disappointments and failures of past years are promptly forgotten. Whether it is the resourcefulness of the seed-grower, the ingenuity of the artists in drawing flowers and vegetables, the discreet use of colors by the printer or what, the effect is magical. Unpleasant memories fade and a rosy future presents itself.

If things went wrong in the garden last year, the year before and the year before that, they certainly will be all right this coming summer. Optimism radiates from every page. Snow on the ground, falling mercury and icy roads make the catalogue a book of happy dreams, of joys in store. As to the literary side, I doubt if all agree with me but I have come to the conclusion that the immortal lines, "Hope springs eternal in the human breast," were written in February after Alexander Pope had finished reading a seed catalogue.

Rigorous Reminiscences
"Your coasting reminiscences in the GRAPHIC bring to mind similar experiences of mine in the late 80's and early 90's," writes A. S. P.
"My greatest joy was going to Church st. with my older brother and his chums in the afternoon or early evening, and being allowed to ride with them on their double runners."

"We started at the head of Church st., or up around the corner on Way early ave. After the 'double' was packed with boys and girls, the steers would call out, 'Where is my headlight?' which meant the small kid, me, would go and sit on the crossbar between his legs and arms. These coasts were thrillers to me, though I did have to cut the wind for the rest of the bunch, and my eyes were tired copiously as we got our speed."

We seldom failed to reach Eliot Church or Centre st., and sometimes made the Baptist Church, and one day we turned into Maple ave.
"One reason we went so far was that considerable time was spent fixing the ice on the hill. This was done by getting pall after pall of water from Billings pond and pouring it over the ice where needed to keep the ruts in good condition."

"The coasting on double runners in those days was almost a major sport. I only remember one bad accident during those years."

Snapshot of a Mayor
It is interesting to see Mayor Kane of Woburn—he of the "drunk cage" fame—in action. I must say I thought of him as a publicity seeker but I have changed my opinion since listening to him on several occasions. Not only that, but I have been told that he resorts to spectacular methods only because he believes that in no other way can the public's attention and eventually its indignation be aroused.

One will deny that it takes courage to confront a hostile audience, which does not hesitate to jeer and boo. Mayor Kane apparently thrives on it. He is quick on the up-take and quicker on the come-back. Questions intended to embarrass do not rattle him.

For Those Who Walk
Unless you do a considerable amount of walking I'm afraid this isn't going to be of much help to you. And as far as I can learn the art of pedestrianism may have its loyal and devoted followers, still their numbers, although not diminishing, seem not to be growing to an appreciable degree. After all this negative pondering I would really withhold what is on my mind if I didn't think somebody was likely to be deprived of something. As you well know there is a plot of grass, bound by granite curbing, that runs through the centre of the Worcester turnpike. Until last Saturday I never knew that people walked on it. But they do and for more reasons than one. It is the safest place on the thoroughfare if one is traveling very far afoot. It is dry when the gutters are running with melted ice. It isn't as hard on the feet as the concrete or macadam road surface, and you don't have to dodge cars or step out for anybody. No doubt there are other advantages which you learn for yourself. Oh, don't mention it!

A Lecture on Christian Science

Entitled

Christian Science: The Newness of Life

by

DR. JOHN M. TUTT, C.S.B.

of Kansas City, Missouri

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church,
The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts

"When God is seen with men to dwell,
And all creation makes anew,
What tongue can hallow the wonders tell,
What eye the dazzling glories view?"
C. S. HYMAN.

A lecture on Christian Science was given in the Church Edifice of First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Newton, Monday evening, February 20th.

Mr. Raymond Wilson, First Reader, introduced the lecturer, and spoke as follows:

Friends:
First Church of Christ, Scientist, Newton, extends to you a cordial welcome.

Your presence here this evening indicates a desire to know more about Christian Science.

If we all will open wide the door of our hearts and listen attentively, the newness of life promised in this lecture will indeed become apparent to us.

It is my privilege to introduce to you, one well qualified to speak to us on this subject "Christian Science: Newness of Life." He is a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Boston, Massachusetts. I present to you Dr. John M. Tutt of Kansas City, Missouri.

The lecturer spoke substantially as follows:

On a certain beautiful summer morning in the year 1905, a man sat on the broad veranda of an old-fashioned hotel in the deep South, immersed in the pages of a book. The volume, known as the Christian Science textbook, and entitled, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," was the product of the inspired pen of its author, Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer, Founder and Leader of Christian Science. Only a few days before, while reading this book with its deeply religious theme of God as divine Mind, Spirit, and man as God's likeness and image, spiritual, not material, this man had found complete healing of body and a remarkable change of heart. He had experienced the end of chronic eye disability, a long continued stomach disorder, and other derangements, all in the glorious hours of his first session with this great, shall we say, even greater work. He knew he had been healed but he did not know how the new freedom of body and thought had come. Seeking relief from these very ills, he had studied and practiced material medicine; and for years he had tried in vain both material and mental methods. In desperation he had turned to Christian Science, and the healing came with breath-taking suddenness. And so, on that mid-summer morning he sought the light. He knows now that, in the re-birth of health, he was close to God, and to the reality of His things, thoughts. He was very close to the "Life that maketh all things new," as he read there came to him a realization of the opposite natures of Spirit and matter; he saw that if Spirit is true and real, its opposite must be untrue and unreal. Then, as the existence and presence of spiritual good was accepted, he saw the things of matter, and all evil, as separate from reality as non-existent; and he was able to gather together, that is, in his vision he was able to do so, all the erroneous presentments of matter and evil, and push them out of conscious acceptance. Even so must the demons have left their victim, and under Christ Jesus' sufferance, entering into the swine, rushed headlong down a steep place into the sea. With all that is unlike good relegated to proper non-existence, the man's thought was flooded with spiritual reality; and there on that gallery all things he saw became new. There was a surcharge of pure joy and happiness such as he had never known before. The most common-place things were glorified. The sun shone, the birds sang, people smiled, flowers bloomed, with aspect and meaning apart from matter. He had a glimpse of things as they really are, not as material conceptions, but as ideas of pure, divine Mind, God. And the vision of reality, spiritual harmony, which came to me that day—for need I say that the man was myself—has never faded out through all the vicissitudes and victrories of thirty-three years, through all the prayer and effort to realize the heavenly intuition, to make it real in my daily experience.

When Nicodemus came to Jesus, acknowledging his spiritual origin and his demonstration of divine power to heal and save, acknowledging that Jesus was manifesting the Christ and that God was surely with him, the Master answered: "Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God." And he made it plain that this new birth was no reincarnation. He said: "That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit." It was, then, a spiritual conception, which was to make a new creature, a new heaven, and a new earth, in which old things should pass away, all things become new. My friend, heaven, the realm of spiritual harmony is a present possibility. Christian Science has brought the good news that God's kingdom can come on earth, that God can be seen to dwell with men; and indeed, that heavenly harmony will come here and now, to any individual whose heart, weary of earth's unsatisfying promises and dreadful punishments, will open itself to divine Love with its reviving, regenerating, reforming power.

GREATER WORKS

It is now nearly seventy-five years since Mary Baker Eddy discovered the Science of Christ. Ten years after her discovery she had reduced divine Science, or the knowledge of divine Life, Truth, and Love, to human apprehension and, by her great book, had made Christian Science available for human needs.

"Science and Health" was conceived in Mrs. Eddy's spiritualized consciousness, and was born in the throes of experiences so hard and bitter as to turn her from the world to God. Her discovery came with a rebirth of health, a recovery through prayer from an accident; but her preparedness was the culmination of a life-long search for God and His healing, saving Christ. That the book, "Science and Health" had a divine origin is evidenced by its healing and redemptive power over the sick and the sinning. Mary Baker Eddy has been the means of bringing the promised Comforter, the "Spirit of Truth," to the world. Consider her time, environment, her spiritual-mindedness, the beneficences of Christian Science, its amazing spread throughout the world. May we not recognize her achievements as among the greater works predicted by Christ Jesus and assured by his own demonstration of man's unity with God? Greater works are products of the new birth; they are done by the spiritualized thought, by the "I" that goes to the Father.

Four years after the publishing of "Science and Health," Mrs. Eddy organized her church. Later she was led to strengthen the organization through spiritual provisions and regulations; then the Church of Christ, Scientist had a spiritual rebirth which gave it newness of Life, with divine protection, power, and permanence. Was not this a greater work? As her church grew in favor with God and man, Mrs. Eddy added, from time to time, all its adjuncts and activities. She established, as we now have them, the Sunday services of The Mother Church and its branches throughout the world. When critics challenged her appointment of the Bible and the Christian Science textbook to be the only preachers of her Church, and to be read without comment, from the desk by regularly elected Readers, she replied: "The Word of God is a powerful preacher, and it is not too spiritual to be practical, nor too transcendental to be heard and understood. Whosoever saith there is no sermon without personal preaching, forgets what Christian Scientists do not, namely, that God is a Person, and that he should be willing to hear a sermon from his personal God!" (Message 1901, p. 11) Christian Science does not subscribe to the popular belief that God is a circumscribed, corporeal person, or image of mortal, material man. Mrs. Eddy means by Person as applied to Deity, to God and man, a self-conscious being, the divine, infinite Mind and idea, or image and likeness. So employed, "person" and "personal" rightly refer to God, Spirit, and to the spiritual, the real man, Mrs. Eddy also established a unique Wednesday service, which far transcends any ordinary mid-week prayer meeting, in that it offers the public both prayer and proofs of the healing and saving influence of the Bible and "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." And it offers these proofs of the therapeutic, sanitary, hygienic and redemptive power of Christian Science in a period of voluntary and spontaneous testimonies from grateful beneficiaries, in short, a spiritual clinic, where demonstrations of the practicability of Christian Science are convincingly presented. Surely, my friend, these are greater works. Further, this great woman founded The Christian Science Publishing Society and established each of the periodicals of the Christian Science movement. Are not these among the greater works? And finally, she founded the Christian Science Monitor, a daily newspaper of international scope. Of this last major work, Mrs. Eddy said that The Christian Science Monitor was designed "to spread undivided Science that operates unspontaneously." (My. 353:16). But the design of it is evident that The Christian Science Monitor is more than a mere newspaper. Its Founder envisioned this great mission of the gospel of the Kingdom thirty years ahead of its actual birth, yet this idea also was borne to earth in the fulness of time. Who could deny The Christian Science Monitor its place among the greater works? What more shall we say of this Man who, even as a child, prayed: "Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me." Many great men and women have blessed the world with the fruits of their devotion to ideals. This woman has brought to countless thousands, a new birth of health, a reformation of character, a revival of true spirituality. To all mankind she has said: "Heaven is within you, and the Lord is revealed will believe our report, and rise into newness of life with regeneration." (S. and H. p. 24:11.)

IN THE BEGINNING GOD AND MAN

Christian Science finds full sanction in the Bible. The Bible begins with God. "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth." What is God? And what is the nature of His creation? The very foundation of divine Science is creator, that which exists essentially, and creation, that which exists objectively; cause and effect, which co-exist and are inseparable, and comprise the whole of being. There could be nothing outside this infinite self-existent and self-contained universe; nor could the infinite, everywhere-present creator, be outside or apart from His infinite creation. The purely spiritual or divine mental nature and content of this

Father-Mother and off-spring, are clearly put in the first chapter of Genesis. The truth of God and man is the foundation of Christian Science. Now the Intelligence displayed in this record shows the creator to be infinite Mind; and of course, the infinite, and therefore the only Mind, Intelligence, must definitely preclude any supposed finite mind inextricably identified with matter; hence neither matter nor a material mind could have other than a suppositional existence, nor be an element, object or factor in the real creation, including real man. In the true, spiritual and only genuine creation, all must be divinely mental. In other words, crependence of material organization. Here is glorious release from the curse: "dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return." Mary, the Virgin Mother, communed with God, her pure spiritualized thought was one with the divine Mind, and her offspring furnished an illustration of creation. "The divine Science which," as Mrs. Eddy puts it (S. and H. p. 325) "ushered Jesus into human presence," set aside common usage, in what has been called the virgin birth; and Jesus' understanding and exemplification of the Christ, the idea of divine Truth, also made it possible for him to set aside common beliefs of disease, sin, limitation and even death. Since providing for newness of life with regeneration, Man's function in creation is to be that creation. Just as creation is continuous, so the new birth is going on all the time. Either through suffering or through Science, each individual human consciousness is being re-formed. The good in human consciousness is also the true, and it is augmented by our conscious efforts to do good. The question now is: How can we each "accept the divine influx" (S. and H. p. 520)? How much of the creative activity am I reflecting in my daily life, and to what extent am I resting, working, in the seventh day, the constant renewing of the Spirit, the new birth? Am I living the life inspirational?

And now let me discuss certain highly important qualities, or elements, of newness of life, attributes which, apprehended and faithfully practiced, will keep our hearts ever ardent, and our feet ever eager to go forward in the white days of Spirit.

LIFE INSPIRATIONAL

Inspiration is a keynote in Christian Science. Life inspirational may be considered as human life under divine vision and guidance and law. This means human life becoming less and less material, less and less of the flesh, and more and more spiritualized. Life inspirational is natural to the Christian Scientist. Every one should be able to say: I live my life in demonstration. I live my life spontaneously. "In God have I put my trust: I will not be afraid of what man can do unto me." Nor doubtful of the good God can do to me through man. No mere man can give me my work, no man can take it from me.

Inspired thought quickly recognizes error to be, not material, but falsely mental, and spontaneously corrects it with truth. Consider the illusion of being turned about in a certain locality. Have you a city, as I have, which simply refuses to adjust itself to the proper points of the compass? There is one such, that to my sense, always has wilfully faced west, when it should rightly face east. Time and again I have entered that town properly oriented, only to have the entire city execute a sudden about-face to bring again the old illusion. No mere argument will adjust the erroneous sense. Yet by a comprehensive grasp of the plan of the city in proper relation to the facts of geography, one may gain a clear perspective in which the details assume proper relation to the whole. But the change must be in one's thought, for one recognizes the trouble as wholly within one's own human consciousness and not in the city. One need not, indeed one cannot, leave the precincts of one's own inspired, spiritualized thought to heal any case, and to correct all the world's problems. All the trouble in the world comes from giving existence to the non-existent; and where can the falsity be entertained but within one's own false consciousness? No error finds lodgment in real consciousness. Healing of disease and salvation from sin are possible because evil never existed actually, and does not now exist. We must live, think, study, work, and pray inspirationally, spontaneously; this is to know that man is never apart from God, from good in all its aspects. Even more important than knowing what to do is to "know that all things work together for good" to them that are spiritually minded, that is, divinely inspired, "to them that love God"—that love good.

LIFE SELF-SACRIFICIAL

The life of our Master, Jesus the Christ, points to self-sacrifice as the essence of Christianity, and as essential to the progress of the individual. The Christly example of Jesus in laying down his life for his friends, must be our inspiration. His spirit of self-sacrifice must base and permeate our lives. One cannot be a Christian Scientist selfishly, "seeking his own advantage" (S. and H. p. 18:18). One illustrates the interrelation and mutual helpfulness of the ideas of Mind, the universal brotherhood of man. Herein is Jesus' admonition, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself," revealed as based on the essential unity of being. No question nor doubt as to one's own supply and safety can exist in the self-forgetfulness of life self-sacrificial. "The fortunes of the righteous are the Eternal's care." (James Moffat's translation.)

There is therapeutic value in self-forgetfulness because sickness is a state, a false state of consciousness, which cannot remain in thought or body in the healing and harmonizing atmosphere of care for others. Self-sacrifice finds its recompense of reward in the loss of a false sense of self and of others. The cleansing of mortal thought, disease, is a mortal sense, blesses one and all. One cannot bring healing to another without one self also receiving a healing benefit. In self-forgetfulness one escapes making one's own sense of error more real by over-dwelling upon it. The self-forgetful man must perform treat his own problems with sudden dismissal. He puts his all on the altar of service and is too busy to be sick.

LIFE DEVOTIONAL

In the life of a Christian Scientist the only primary thing is living Christian Science; that is his vocation. All other activity is secondary; it is avocation. One can never be a Christian Scientist incidentally; one has to be wholly devoted to imitation of Christ Jesus. And moreover Christ's yoke is easy if one wears it. Christ's burden is light if one bears it. In Science and Health, Mrs. Eddy speaks of "the substance of all devotion." (p. 241.) Substance and things substantial are revealed, under regeneration, as Spirit and the things of the Spirit. For example, mortal mind offers money as representing substance, power, and life. Money, so viewed, may be considered the counterfeit of God, Himself. To devote thought and energy to mere money-making and saving and spending is to chill the inspiration of newness of life, and to serve other gods. Oh! my friend, learn that devotion of thought and life to true substance brings abundance into human life, brings supply in which no fear of lack or limitation can appear. Money, rightly viewed, can be a great blessing to human life. But never can money bless except as it be incident to the devotion of life to primary ideals and pursuits. It was thus in life devoted to Spirit, God, and to his fellow-man that Jesus found the seemingly inadequate supplies of fish and bread abundant and inexhaustible for all right demands. In life devotional one can go, as did Elijah of old, in the strength even of a small demonstration, many days to the mountain of God, even to Horeb.

LIFE AFFIRMATIVE

Newness of life is life on the positive side. We should never allow the negative. Materialism is that negative side. Spirituality is affirmative. Christ Jesus always took the positive side and held it regardless. Can you imagine Jesus saying: I am well, but I must prove it? Can you hear him advancing the argument: But we are still mortal? Would he hide behind the specious: So long as we are in the flesh? No! Jesus' "Suffer it to be so now" was in compassion towards mortals because of the downward tendency of the negative in thought and life. But always the call of the new life is—how to the line, and the chips will fall where they should.

Life affirmative employs reason, but does not rely on it unless it concludes in favor of good. Negative reasoning is never reliable. The assumption that evil is a fact is not a proper basis for reasoning. Unless evil is handled as a false belief it is not disposed of. Jesus knew error's negative character, and he made neither too much nor too little of it—he made just nothing of evil. Jesus knew that error is that which is not true. He knew that error has the elements of absurdity and can be utterly discounted with impunity. He never let himself be worried nor hurried nor flurried. When the Pharisees warned him that Herod would kill him, he flashed that keen discernment of the negative nature of error in his reply: "Go ye, and tell that fox, Behold, I cast out devils, and I do cures today and tomorrow, and the third day I shall be perfected. Nevertheless I must walk today, and tomorrow, and the day following: for it cannot be that a prophet perish out of Jerusalem." Jesus was not to be fooled into conceding error its false claim to power and deadliness. In respect of evil's negative character he said: "resist not evil." Fighting against error as something is itself rankest error. In Christian Science it is to be found the reason for Jesus' calm repudiation of evil. And I say to you: gear yourself to the allness of good, its exclusive presence and power. Then take evil in your stride, unworried, unexcited, unflinched. Mrs. Eddy used to say that when opposed by error she emulated the grass when stepped upon, bending to the rude foot, only to come up again as it passed.

LIFE INNOCENT

Inspired by the realization of the exclusive presence of good, and of the unity of the real man with good, and of his uncontaminated with evil, we can live our lives free from the arches, fear, and worry. We can keep our thought and lives innocent of the mesmeric argument of the pleasure or pain to be derived from matter or to be found in matter. We can keep ourselves innocent of sickness, innocent of poverty, limitation, failure, anxiety; innocent of the conception or the entertainment of the false beliefs of mortal mind. One of the most subtly mesmeric of false beliefs is material medicine. This false claimant to the healing and saving power of Christ is spiritual wickedness, for it is a claim of evil to be good. Falsely in the name of benevolence, it enslaves, and the last state of the victim is worse than the first. For example, the ease produced by the anesthetic is hypnotic. And such mesmerism is the acme of unspirituality.

Disease may be occasioned by some basic error of hypnotic belief all covered over with secondary faults. The deeper the guilt, the leading error producing the disease, the more, for example, agreement, conscious or tacit, with some so-called law of material medicine. Yet this primary error of belief may be so covered by wrong thoughts, such as resentment, adverse criticism, hatred, lust, self-pity, self-righteousness, or self-thinking in general, as to exclude the entrance of the corrective Truth, the healing Christ. So a disease may seem to be the result of some moral fault when the fault, however bad, is only secondary, an incident. In such cases it is evident that cure of the obstructing false belief will clear the way for the uncovering to Truth of the basic error. Hence in the work on any case it is proper to give attention to the destruction of all wrong thoughts. To be every whit whole one must be innocent of the belief in disease or sin.

In a material world, where offences come, innocence is the only refuge and defense. My friend, has some one done you an injustice? Are you, perchance, indulging a false sense of damage? Are you dwelling upon the offence, even perhaps holding it to your bosom? Are you revelling in injury, a sense of resentment, a desire for revenge? Then are you not perpetuating the offence, and giving it undeserved reality? It does not actually harm one to be imposed upon, but oh! how it hurts to be imposed! Christian Science teaches one neither to offend nor to be offended. Jesus rebuked Peter, but never ceased to love him. Dislike or fear of one's fellow-man is never justified. Mrs. Eddy said some individuals meet only to part, but her statement was an observation, not a commendation nor a recommendation. Love is still the only power in society and within one's own self. And that fact is literal truth in human life practice. And love is the pleasantest thing to do and to entertain. Love is the easiest way—the actual path of least resistance. Indeed, love is the ultimate way, the way of ation consists not of matter nor of mortal mind, but exclusively of forms, or ideas, of divine Mind, God. These ideas constitute the only creation, they alone comprise man.

Creation is represented in the scriptural record as occurring on successive progressive days. Science and Health defines "Day" as: "The irradiance of Life; light, the spiritual idea of Truth and Love." And also declares: "The objects of time and sense disappear in the illumination of spiritual understanding, and Mind measures time according to the good that is unfolded. This unfolding is God's day, and 'there shall be no night there.'" (S. and H. p. 584.) If, then, we are to be "born again," if we are to live inspirationally, if we are to rise into "newness of life with regeneration," we must abandon the mortal measurements of time, the limitations of human thoughts, acts, beliefs, opinions and knowledge, and adopt "God's measurement," the days of His reckoning. To the extent this is done will come the illumination of spiritual understanding, the unfolding of reality in which there is no night, no error, no evil, no materialism. These progressive periods stand for true spiritual evolution, as newness of life, opposed in human consciousness to the false conception, life and mind in matter; to sordid attraction of the soil, the pull of animal magnetism; they stand opposed to sin, disease, discord, want and woe, to all that is unlike God, to all that is unspiritual.

Now the element in the so-called human consciousness capable of apprehending reality is true consciousness, or spiritual sense. "Science and Health" declares: "Spiritual sense is the discernment of spiritual good." (p. 505.) Here in the beginning, here is this spiritual insight, when God creates the heavens and the earth all anew for me and you, is indeed the beginning of a new life, the never-to-be-forgotten exaltation above matter and the pull of the carnal mind; the joy of self-surrender to the instantaneous light when spiritual sense is imparted. The relief to know that, to quote Mrs. Eddy, "this understanding is not intellectual, is not the result of scholarly attainments; it is the reality of all things brought to light" (S. and H. p. 505). In that illumination of spiritual consciousness, how easy it is to heal instantaneously! How precious are the evening and the morning! God, good, is here and now and All-in-All! Where and when is evil? The age-old query, "where did evil come from?", in its legion of aspects, is answered: evil does not come into God's good day. Shall we admit evil now by entertaining the false argument that we have lost the inspiration and glory of the heavenly evening and morning? There is no argument of evil in God's day, and no need to argue against the palpably unreal.

NEWNESS OF LIFE WITH RESURRECTION

Mind's pure thought, the seed within itself, purgates itself in spiritual creation ever appearing, inexhaustible. To the human consciousness this creation is a resurrection, a rising to the light, resurrection from the grave of the red dust of mortality, the belief of life and death in the soil, to inde-

Christ Jesus is our example, we should be imitators of him in all his ways and works, even as he himself commanded, thus demonstrating for ourselves and for others, entire salvation from every conceived and conceivable form of error. "Science and Health" defines Christ: (p. 583) as "The divine manifestation of God, which comes to the flesh to destroy incarnate error." Since Jesus bore the title Christ, he must have carried the Christ office against incarnate error far beyond cure alone, even to prevention. Here is the office of Jesus, here is salvation through Christ.

The gospel narrative says that Christ Jesus, in Gethsemane, told his disciples to wait and watch, "and he went a little farther, and fell on his face, and prayed." Jesus indeed went a little farther. He was charting unknown ground. His task was to abolish death, scientifically, not by succumbing to death, but by preventing it, knowing its unreality. No one had ever gone that far, no one had yet proved scientifically the way of life through Christ. But Jesus did it, hence the great importance of the resurrection to humanity, letting in the understanding of the unending existence of man as God's creation. If you and I are to know this "power of an endless life," we must display that spirit embodied in Christ Jesus' demonstration. We must fall on our face and pray. We must go further in faith, in vision, in determination, in devotion, in unselfishness. We must go a little further into the unknown, overcoming the wilderness of error's deceptions. Error drove Jesus into the wilderness, but he conquered it. And so must we work out our own salvation. This it is to pray.

NEWNESS OF LIFE THROUGH PRAYER

"Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city." Another's goodness cannot take one to heaven, nor should another's evil cast one into hell. Contrary to popular belief, environment, whether it be persons or things, does not make us but we make our environment, mental or physical, by our thinking. Prayer is the desire and effort to think and to do rightly. Prayer is the appeal to God to divine Mind for wisdom. Right thinking alone can correct bad conditions for they are just what we see, believe, them to be. This fact, that we see only our own thoughts, is not set aside, even though we so often can definitely place blame on other people and their wrong deeds and thoughts, or on conditions and circumstances over which we seem to have no control. By assuming the responsibility of our own thoughts and acts, we can change wrong condi-

"I get up bright,
In the morning light,
To do what's right
With all my might!"

THE OLD MAN PUT OFF

This ascension of thought, these gleams of the infinite, these spiritual ideas apprehended, are a rebuke to material thought. God's creations shine by reflected light, and so Spirit, divine Mind, rules over all reality, and Spirit's man rules, by reflection, by right thought, over even the counterfeit of God's creation. This is the new dominion. Matter is thus put under our feet, the darkness scattered, the old man with his deeds put off. Can we forget that dominion over the night of error! In infinite light, in Mind and its ideas, in the unity of being, all is day and "there is no night there." Here we can base our mental practice on the qualities of being. In infinite God and His good reflection there can be no defection, no distortion of good, of health, wealth, holiness, usefulness. If it is true that you cannot make a silk purse of a sow's ear, it is also true that you can not make a sow's ear of a silk purse. The qualities of being are non-forfeitable by man. And these good qualities are an antidote against all evil qualities such as sin, sickness, discord, want, and woe. No error can endure in the understanding of reflection of perfection.

THE NEW MAN PUT ON

In Christian Science one learns to resolve material things into false thoughts and to exchange the false thoughts or wrong conceptions for right ideas. And one learns that the substance of God's ideas is the divine Mind which conceives them; one learns to understand their multiplication, that is their manifestation as the whole mirrored reflection of God, as the compound of all ideas, man. One learns to understand the male and female of God's making, and to grasp man's dominion over all, even over himself, to grasp the usefulness, harmlessness, beauty, wisdom, intelligence, strength—the perfection and eternal substantiality and glory of it all. Indeed, what a piece of work is man! Thus that which to material sense appears as material substance and mortal man, divine Science reverses, and reveals instead the multiplication, that is, the manifestation of pure ideas. Herein is the significance of healing based on finding the substance of things. The substance of anything is what it is in Mind, and by reversing and putting off the things of matter and mortal sense, the path can be followed straight to the one Mind and the reality, the health, the holiness, the well-being of all ideas. Thus is the new man put on.

MAN'S FUNCTION IN CREATION

Creation, including man, is not a part of divine Mind, but a reflection of it, and hence no depletion of Mind occurs in the unfolding of real being. "Science and Health" reminds us that "the highest and sweetest rest, even from a human standpoint, is in holy work." (p. 524.) God's creation is, without stoppage or reaction, continuous. Creation is going on all the time, exhaustless and ceaseless, active,

Bones of Saint Rest in*Cartagena's Old Chapel

Cartagena is one of the oldest cities on the Spanish Main. It is renowned as the home of Colombia's patron saint, San Pedro Claver, a godly man of early Colonial days who wore a crown of thorns, let insects bite him, and devoted much of his time to healing the wounds of slaves brought over from Africa, recalls a writer in the Chicago Tribune.

San Pedro lived in the monastery which still bears his name. His bones repose in a glass case upon the altar in the chapel. They are covered by a silken canopy, from the top of which his skull looks down.

Captain Lawrence Washington, brother of George Washington, laid siege to the port in 1741, but was unable to capture it.

The city was founded in 1533 and contains much of its old-time scenic attractions. Mosquellike domes and Moorish towers emphasize the skyline. There are many fortifications. It is because of their former strength that the city was called "Little Carthage." These fortifications inclose the city, often with ramparts 30 feet high and from 40 to 100 feet thick. They aroused great envy and chagrin in the minds of Sir Francis Drake and Sir Henry Morgan, who had to resort to many stratagems before being able to break through the circle. The forts were originally built to resist pirates and were the stoutest and most majestic on the Spanish Main. The old moats are dry and overgrown with jungle.

The hill which dominates the landscape is called "La Popa," from the summit of which outlooks scanned the seas for the sails of pirates. In a little shrine on this hill reposes an image of the Virgin Mary, to whom all Cartagenians used to pray for deliverance from the buccaners.

No Wheels in Clovelly,*Town of Single Street

Clovelly is a street on the English coast of North Devonshire, straggling from top to bottom of a 400-foot cliff. The town consists literally of one street.

Clovelly is one of the places which have almost robbed the word quaint of its meaning through overuse. Yet Clovelly is so different that it merits less well-worn characterizations, states a writer in the Los Angeles Times.

There has never been a wheeled vehicle in Clovelly; the slope is too steep. Provisions and baggage are dragged down from the New Road Gate on small sledges. Patient little donkeys are used by anyone who wishes to trust his neck to their plodding footsteps.

On either side of the street white-washed houses of two or three stories jut out irregularly, their balconies brilliant with the green of vines, the purple of fuchsias, the flame of geraniums. The mild climate of Clovelly allows the growth of fuchsias and honeysuckle even in midwinter, and the tiny gardens, wedged behind the closely packed houses, are massed with bloom.

No two houses are alike. They are built of stones brought up from the beach hundreds of years ago by the ancestors of the present inhabitants.

How Average Person Lives

If all the time you've spent, and are going to spend eating was lumped together—you'd be at the table five years! That's what some British statistical experts figured after a detailed investigation into how the average person lives. A person who reaches 70 has spent some 450,000 hours—or about five years—at the table, states a writer in the Washington Post. If five years spent on eating seems like a lot, think of all the food that's put away during a lifetime. An adult averages 1,355 pounds of victuals annually. Over 50 years that's a mere matter of some 35 tons. Add the fact you'll spend about 23 years sleeping—if you live to 70—and you'll see you're not so busy.

Cobweb and Spiderweb

"Cobweb" means spiderweb, "cob" being an old English word signifying spider. It is the common name given to the more or less formless webs spun in buildings by certain species of spiders and larvae of some insects. Most of the tangled webs which annoy housewives are produced by the little house spider, Theridion tepidariorum. Cobwebs on the ceilings and in the corners of houses are usually not noticed until they become covered with dust, a circumstance which probably gave rise to the popular belief that cobwebs consist merely of dust. The impression was strengthened by the fact that the house spider is seldom observed at work.

The Bridge to Paradise

The name Al Sirat is from Mohammedan lore. It is that of an imaginary bridge between this world and the next; it extends over the abyss of hell and must be passed by all those who would reach the Mohammedan paradise. It is said to be very narrow—as narrow, some writers say, as the edge of a razor blade. In crossing, one's speed is proportioned to one's virtue. The wicked, because of the weight of their sins, are unable to negotiate the bridge at all and plunge into the pit.

Right to Wear Amethyst*At Pleasure of the King

The amethyst in days gone by, regarded as a royal stone of a regal color, the right to wear which was bestowed by the king on his "inspired men." Hence, the amethyst denoted royal dignity and was supposed to oppose evil, drunkenness and all intemperance, says a writer in the Montreal Herald.

The amethyst is supposed to have been the ninth stone in the breast plate of Moses. It was very popular among the Egyptians and was carved by them. A famous collection has a large pale amethyst engraved with the head of a Syrian king.

The amethyst is a species of transparent violet colored quartz supposed to oppose the effects of the fumes of intoxicants. To enjoy the full vibration, the amethyst must be worn on the third finger of the left hand. It is supposed to be a charm against death from arrows. Soldiers carried it on the field of battle in Egypt. This practice was also carried into the Middle Ages and many amethysts were worn for the terrible wars of the period.

There is a lovely allegorical legend telling that Dionysus, enamored of a graceful nymph pressed his love upon her, but Diana intervened, transforming her into a lovely purple amethyst. In respect for the transformed nymph, Dionysus vowed that whosoever wore the amethyst would be protected from the evils of intoxicating wines.

This stone has always been regarded as symbolic of the pioneer in thought and action on the philosophical, religious, spiritual and material planes. It has also been long regarded as a charm against witchcraft, poison, and evil thought. It is also a charm for the securing of the favor of princes.

Lamerie, Silver Worker,*Was a Famous Craftsman

Paul Lamerie, the great silversmith, was of French Huguenot descent and was born in 1688, and died in 1751. He was one of a group of French refugee silversmiths who came to England in the first half of the eighteenth century and settled there. These craftsmen brought with them a new refinement of style and delicacy of workmanship which had helped to pave the way for the beauty of the Queen Anne period. Lamerie, however, was considered far above his contemporaries in this work, notes Alice R. Rollins in the Los Angeles Times. His supremacy was shown not only in his creative genius but in his superb workmanship.

At the beginning of the eighteenth century and through the Queen Anne period, silver was of high quality and was characterized by simple form and design. But following upon this appeared that form of ornamentation called the rococo which had its effect on all the arts. In England this desire for more elaborate adornment resulted in the standard of the quality of the silver metal being raised so that it was much softer and finer than the decoration of silver in repousse, engraving and pierced work; and resulted in the ornate designs we find in this period.

'Boy Stood on Burning Deck'

The battle of the Nile in August, 1798, is the episode memorialized in the poem "Casabianca." The lines first appeared in the second edition of "Forest Sanctuary," published in 1829. Louis Casabianca, French naval officer, was mortally wounded on August 1, 1798. His ten-year-old son, Giacomo Jocante Casabianca, was with him on board ship. Louis Casabianca was in command of the Orient, which bore the flag of Admiral Bruyels. When the latter was killed, Casabianca, though badly wounded, fought the burning ship to the end and perished with most of the crew. His little son refused to leave him, and both were killed in the exploding of the ship.

Woman Made Lincoln Statue

Vinnie Ream was the first woman to be awarded a federal art commission by the United States government, to make Lincoln's statue. The contract was signed on August 30, 1866. Five thousand dollars was paid when the statue was completed. For many years it has stood in the rotunda of the Capitol in Washington. Lincoln sat every day for approximately five months for the young sculptress, who had little instruction. At the time she had a government position. Miss Ream was permitted to absent herself from her work on condition that her art work in connection with the execution of the President's statue.

The 'Fugleman'

The West Indian Negroes, such as one finds on the island of Jamaica, have a sense of rhythm that is amazing, and like the old-time deep sea sailors, they do their best work while singing. They are always led in their songs by a man known as the "fugleman," who receives higher wages than the other laborers. He starts each "song" which lasts only a few minutes, by singing a short phrase of the song, and the gang around him shouts in chorus. The fugleman must possess an extensive repertoire, as it is customary to start a new song every five minutes or so throughout the day.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS*NEWTON TRACK POWER REACHES NEW PEAK*Team Scores 28 5-6 Points In Andover Rout

Overwhelming all rivals in the annual Andover Interscholastic track meet last Saturday a "crippled" Newton High track team soared to new heights in piling up a total of 28 5/6 points. Boston English with 13 points, Brookton 8 1/2, and Chelsea and Malden with 8 each were next in order far in the rear. The victory was Newton's fourth consecutive at Andover, its fifth in the history of these games and its 11th straight major meet crown. Not since the state meet of 1937 has the orange and black crew succumbed to scholastic opposition. In addition Newton aggregations have won 25 out of the last 29 big indoor and outdoor meets and placed second on the other four occasions. At its present pace and after last Saturday's exhibition of power the Coach Enoch outfit should handily win another Class A state crown at the annual State Meet tomorrow. In the schoolboy track world the Newton boys are displaying power comparable to that of the New York Yankees in the baseball world.

At Andover, as in previous meets, when expected points or performances were not forthcoming others on the team rose to the occasion. Co-captain Billy Pescosolido paced the Newton team with two sterling firsts. In the high jump he set one of the two new records of the day by leaping 6 ft. 2 1/4 inches on his first attempt. The new figures replaced the 5 ft. 10 in. set by Keith Brown and John Badman, both of Andover in 1931 and Pesky's own meet mark of 5 ft. 11 1/4 inches made last year. Previously Pesky had won the 40-yard hurdles getting off to a grand start in the finals after breezing through a trial, quarter-final and semi-final heats. In the final Co-captain Don MacKinnon, state and eastern champion, placed second. Nursing a split knee suffered in the Eastern Seaboard meet the week previously the Newton star was an uncertain starter right up to the time of the meet. Wearing a felt pad to ease the pressure MacKinnon gamely battled through three heats to reach the final and win second place over Francis of Boston English.

The Newton-Malden relay provided another highlight of the meet with Malden turning in the time of 2 min. 22 1/2 sec. to break the old Newton mark set in 1937. Newton's time of 2 min. 23 1/4 sec. was good enough for second place points. In this event MacKinnon and Don Ashley, another "cripple" came through with great performances. Ashley, like MacKinnon an uncertain starter before the 300 yard relay duty nursing a kink in the knee. He ran a fine opening leg in the relay and was followed by Art Hughes and Fred Hall with MacKinnon taking up the anchor duties.

Another Newton athlete, Billy Alpert, fighting off the gripe and with a temperature of 102 degrees, came through for the Newton cause with a leap of 10 feet 7 3/8 inches on his last try. MacNeill's 9 feet 8 3/8 inches was good enough for third and seven points in the event. The 600 saw more Newton points forthcoming in one of the most unusual incidents in track history. The event was run in five heats against time with three heat winners tying for the best. Included Fred Hall of Newton, George Wheeler of Waltham and Reid of Medford. Art Hughes of Newton won his heat, the third, in 1 min. 20 1/2 sec. to finish out of the first place deadlock by only a couple of strides. Billy Woods and George Hutchings were Newton's entries in the 1000 yard run in which there were four heats against time. Woods finished second to Al Lang of Lawrence in his heat and Hutchings finished third to Dave Blair of Medford in the final heat but neither of the Newton boys' times was good enough for points.

The dash field, likewise, was too fast for Newton's entries. Hurley and Beloit. Hurley won his quarterfinal, placed third in the semi-finals. Beloit was second to John Griggs of Chelsea, ultimate final winner, in his trial heat and took third in his quarterfinal before being eliminated.

NEWTON SIX TIES MEDFORD—HOLDS 4TH*G. B. I. Hockey Season Closes—Hurley On All-Stars

Last Saturday as the Greater Boston Interscholastic hockey League season drew to a close the Newton High sextet tied Medford 0-0. Newton High, by tying the red, white and blue of Medford, held fourth place, five points behind Arlington. High who won the B. I. League got under way at the Boston Garden, Arlington High beat Cambridge Latin 3-2 to take the league title. Rindge Tech, which has been improving fast lately, beat the boys from Belmont 3-2. Melrose beat the Gordonia gang from Stoneham 2-0. George Malone of Arlington High won the league and retested conducted by the league and retested conducted by the league and retested presented to him by Hago Harrington, manager of the Boston Olympics.

The Newton-Medford deadlock was by far the roughest game of the day as many penalties were handed out. Newton started by playing a new game called "miss-the-goal." The orange and black as usual messed up several scoring chances. Alex Skene of Newton received three penalties. Walter "Bud" Hurley of the Garden City boys was the only Newton boy to make the first All-Star team. Jack Holter, Alex Skene, Tom Dugan and Capt. Jack Carder made the second team in their respective positions of defense pair, center, and left-wing.

Cliff Goodband, Newton High's versatile goalie tied with Johnny Spinner of Arlington and Will Liston of Melrose for the best defensive goalie in the league.

OUR LADY HIGH FIVE WINS FROM MISSION*Playoff of Second Place Tie May Bring Tourney Bid

With the possibility of making a berth in the Catholic High School basketball tournament the Our Lady High five started to force a playoff Tuesday night against the Mission High five, 33 to 28 before the largest crowd to watch a basketball game this season at the Our Lady gym. The win over Mission, league leaders and with but one previous defeat, was a thrilling tussle to make it seven straight for Our Lady and enable the local five to tie St. Charles High of Waltham for second place in the Catholic league standings. The tie for second place will necessitate a playoff as the first two teams in the league are invited to the annual tourney. This tie will be arranged in the near future and will be played on a neutral floor.

Tuesday night's game was decided in the third period when the Our Lady five outscored the defending champions 10 to 5 to force a playoff. The tie was maintained during the final session. In the first half of the fray the going was nip and tuck.

Mello Cardarelli, league high scorer, was the headliner of the game although his mates gave him able support. A marked man and with a rival for individual scoring honors in Tom Mulken, Mission high center, threatening his supremacy Cardarelli tallied 16 points to 7 for the Mission star. This edge gave Cardarelli 190 points with Mulken 164 with another game to go. Cardarelli's brother Dan, along with Joe Cronin and Mello's forward mate, Tony Grella added fast and accurate passes. Meanwhile Bobby Muse and Johnny Murphy, sharing the centre assignment, held the Mission short, Mulken, to but two floor baskets.

At the end of the first period Our Lady High led 7 to 4 but in the second session Mission took over a 16 to 15 edge. Late in the third period Cardarelli's side shot out Our Lady in front 23 to 21 and they were never headed.

In a preliminary game the powerful Our Lady Alumni turned back the Johnson Club in a 57 to 42 game. The graduates piled up a 20 to 5 lead in the initial period and coasted in.

PLANNING PLAYOFF FOR LEAGUE TITLE*Basketball Championship To Be Decided At Newton

Departing from the usual policy of no play-off or post-season games Newton High School officials today announced that plans are being made for a play-off of the Suburban League basketball title. The arrangement of the play-offs is due to the desire of Newton authorities to experiment with the possibility of night basketball in an endeavor to give Newton parents and adults an opportunity to witness this athletic sport. Definite decision of the date for the play-off game is expected momentarily with the probability that it will be staged on either March 4th or 10th at the High School gymnasium.

The defeat of the Cambridge Latin High School team by Rindge Tech on Washington's birthday, 29-25, nearly caused a disagreement of tentative plans. The Cantabs had been regarded as almost certain winners in which case a four-way tie between that five, Newton, Arlington and Waltham would have resulted. Drawings between the four teams would have paired them off together with the winners being matched in a final game at a later date and the losers playing a consolation game. With both teams now deadlocked, one of the trio will probably draw a bye and will be matched in a final game against the winner. In addition to the game to be played between the two teams which draw each other a second game will be arranged either between the third contending team or the event that the team drawing a bye does not want to play between Rindge and Cambridge Latin for a play-off of the Cambridge City championship. The ultimate winner of the Suburban league crown may be invited to participate in the annual M. I. T. scholastic tournament.

Meaning of Name Lulu

The name Lulu is generally conceded to be a diminutive of the Teutonic Louise, which would make it mean "famous in battle" or "heroine of war," writes Florence A. Cowles in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. But it may also be an independent name and other meanings are possible. For instance, the North American Indian name Lulu means "a rabbit," and the Persian Lulu means "a jewel." Some think Lulu is a form of the Anglo-Saxon Lulie, "a soothing influence," which is probably related to Lulette (Teutonic), meaning "little comforter." So Lulu may take her choice of a variety of meanings.

Some of the largest tree ferns of Australia and New Zealand attain a height of 80 feet.

President of U. S. Can*Not Be Legally Arrested

Theoretically the President of the United States can not legally be arrested for any act whatever, even the commission of murder, observes a writer in the Indianapolis News. His person is inviolable during his term of office and he is beyond the reach of any other department of the government except through the process of impeachment. If a President were impeached, convicted and removed from office he would then be subject to arrest as is any other private citizen.

Of course the President may be arrested by mistake, or he may submit to arrest voluntarily. President Pierce was arrested one night in 1853 while returning to the White House on horseback from the home of William Morgan in the southeastern section of Washington, when he accidentally ran down an aged woman, the wife of Nathan Lewis. A constable named Stanley Edlin placed Pierce under arrest, not knowing he was President, but released him when Pierce identified himself.

President Grant was once arrested in Washington for fast driving. O. C. Dallas, of Helena, Mont., an eye-witness, stated that the President was driving west on M street between Eleventh and Twelfth streets, a cloud of dust concealing the occupant of the buggy from view. William H. West, a Negro policeman, grabbed the bride and was dragged back a block before he brought the horse and buggy to a stop. When West recognized the President he apologized profusely, but the President stepped from the buggy, saying, "Officer, do your duty," and walked up M street toward the White House. No mention of the incident was made in the police records.

Guillotin Not Inventor*Of Decapitation Machine

Dr. Joseph Ignace Guillotin did not invent the guillotine and died peacefully in bed long after the French revolution, comments the Detroit Free Press.

Various means of inflicting the death penalty existed in different parts of France, at the time of the revolution, and what Doctor Guillotin did was to introduce in the Constituent assembly of 1789 a resolution providing that all capital punishment in France should be by decapitation and should be "executed by a machine."

The "machine" was perfected by a German harpsichord-maker by name of Schmidt but soon was popularly christened "guillotine."

The first decapitation machine is attributed to the ancient Persians. Variations of it were employed during the Middle Ages in parts of Germany, Italy, France, Holland, Scotland, and England.

The gruesome glory which has so long attached in the mind of many people to a kindly French physician is thus effectively dispelled.

Azerbaijan Largely Moslem

Azerbaijan is a country, largely Moslem, consisting of most of the former Russian provinces of Baku and Yelisavetpol. It has neighbors which do not agree to its territorial claims, but its boundaries are the Caspian sea on the east; Daghestan, Northern Caucasus and Georgia on the north; Georgia and Armenia on the west and Persia on the south. The capital of Azerbaijan is Baku, a city of 452,000, the center of the great oil district of the Caucasus. In 1917 Azerbaijan united with Armenia, Georgia and Transcaucasia in a federal republic. Disagreements arose and the federation broke up, Azerbaijan declaring its self independent in 1918. It calls itself the Azerbaijan Socialist Soviet republic, and is one of the Russian Soviet family.

An Ancient Tokyo Garden

The 200-year-old Rikugi-garden, formerly privately owned, was donated to the Tokyo municipality. A striking feature of the 23-acre beauty spot is its big pond, with unusual arrangements of rocks, shrubs and trees, centered by the Elysian isle. The garden, laid out about 1700 around the villa of Yanagisawa Yosiyasu, feudal lord of Kawagoe, follows the elaborate pattern worked out by its owner. A gifted classical scholar, Yosiyasu set out to reproduce the many scenic places referred to in the ancient poems he had read. Arbors, tea houses, rare plants and trees, as well as gifts from neighboring barons, went into Rikugi-garden. It is said that Yosiyasu built in miniature some 88 garden scenes described in his favorite poems.

Germany Miscalculated

Germany made no greater mistake in its history than she did in 1914 at the outbreak of the war in reference to Britain fighting. First Germany believed that a large part of the British army would have to be in Ireland to keep order there. Berlin was also counting on the spread of serious labor trouble keeping England busy in its own land. Even the militant suffragist agitation was counted on to keep Britain out of the war, this last giving the Germans to believe that England was hopelessly decadent and, according to Prussian ideas of women, any country that allowed women so much rights, even the right to agitate, was a decadent country.

Over 2000 At Debate on Capitalism, Communism and Fascism at Forum

The long-awaited and highly publicized symposium by exponents of three opposing political philosophies—capitalism, communism and fascism—drawn an audience of 2,000 persons to the Newton Community Forum in the Newton High School auditorium yesterday afternoon and hundreds of others were turned away for lack of space.

Despite the highly controversial nature of the addresses, the session proceeded in a perfectly orderly fashion throughout. A large detail of police was on hand to guard against trouble, but although interest ran high, as evidenced by the applause, there were no untoward incidents.

The subject of discussion was "What Lies Ahead for Capitalism?" and the speakers were Lawrence Dennis, author of "The Coming Fascism," Earl Browder, national secretary of the Communist Party, and Joseph B. Ely, former governor.

The speakers were introduced by Prof. Kirtley F. Mather, president of the Forum. He presented Ex-Gov. Ely as the exponent of "The American Way" and Dennis and Browder as representing "The Fascist Way" and "The Communist Way," respectively.

As the session progressed, it took on the aspect of a heated debate between Ely and Browder, as each referred only briefly to the remarks of Dennis. The meeting opened at 3:30 p. m. and ended at 5:30 and interest of the audience was evidenced by the fact that few left the hall before the session adjourned.

In his opening remarks, President Mather declared that such a meeting "can be held only in a democracy." "Capitalism is an ever changing system," Dennis declared. "Capitalism today is not what it was in the time of Washington and Jefferson, and it will continue to be modified. The property which was enjoyed from the expansion of the country is over. We've got to develop a new system."

"The economic system today is living on an artificial stimulant. But the formula is not satisfactory. If we admit that the profit incentive is not sufficient today, we must reorganize the system to create work for the unemployed and help the farming industry. We must build an entirely new social order. We are drifting towards anarchy."

"The Communists seek to create class strife," Dennis continued. "But we don't want that. We want unity as a nation. The problem is unification not class war. The class struggle idea must be obliterated."

"Our Communist friends are trying to get us into war with Europe. The capitalist system is not working under the present basis. Therefore it is necessary to create another basis. It is necessary to create a spirit of national unity."

"Common ownership" of all property by the people was advanced by Browder as the solution of the country's economic problems. "The only way out is to take it over as national property and make it the property of all the people, instead of a monopoly of Wall st. We must have common ownership by the people and full utilization for the benefit of all the people," he declared.

Browder opened his remarks with a discussion of international affairs. "We are in the midst of a world upheaval, chaos," he said. "Every old landmark is gone. The immediate threat to what remains of stability to the world comes from a combination of war-making powers, otherwise known as the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo axis, or the anti-Communist alliance. This axis is proposing to take over a considerable portion of Latin America. The present issue is whether Latin America is to join the United States or join the axis."

Ex-Gov. Ely expressed disappointment over Browder's recital of the Communist platform.

"The Communists have announced and proclaimed that they would always set forth their program in the face of any audience," Ely said.

He also declared that Dennis had failed to propose a solution. "I thought he would tell us what to do, but he has only told us what a mess we find ourselves in."

"I stand foursquare for the principles of government enunciated in the Constitution," he continued. "I am also for private property and private initiative. Return initiative to industry and put men and women to work."

"These two gentlemen are preaching regimentation of men and women, not two of whom are exactly alike. A planned economy means not much of anything but trouble," Mr. Browder would have the state take over industry. "Where would you find a place to stop, Mr. Browder? Who would tell you whose house you were to live in. There is only one good job in Russia. Stalin has it."

Ely termed the Communist program "fantastic, silly, foolish." He pointed to the danger of having industry ruled by a committee, asserting that members of such a committee might use their power to raise prices for their personal profit.

In rebuttal, Browder remarked that if the committee were made up of the "type of Legislators" described by Ely, the results would be as predicted by the latter.

"But the people's government would not be a government of grafters," Browder asserted.

He said that 60 families now control 90 per cent of the industries. "We don't propose to take them away from you," he told the audience, "but from those 60 families. You are under the dictatorship of that group of 60 families."

To which Ely replied: "Those 60 families—leave them alone. They'll lose all they've got in a few years."

One man in the audience, asserting that Communism included "atheistic materialism," called attention to the many churches in his country and inquired, "What would you do with these churches and with the religious concepts these people entertain?"

"We would leave it entirely to you," replied Browder. "We favor complete freedom of religion. There are some atheists in our ranks and there are also Catholics and members of other Christian denominations. All we ask is that you be tolerant of the atheists."

He said the idea that Communism was opposed to religion was due to events in Russia after the overthrow of the Czarist regime. "There was a corrupt State Church in Russia and it had to be cleaned out," he declared.

Another member of the audience inquired, "Of the three programs, is not the one outlined by Mr. Browder the nearest approach to applied Christianity?"

Chairman Mather replied in the affirmative, but added that it "misses the principles of applied Christianity because it is essentially materialistic."

"Fido" along the street on a leash until the bow-wow reaches one of his favorite sanctuaries at some neighbor's front lawn. And to make bad matters worse, because of a peculiarity in the canine social system, a flower bed or a shrub which has provided relief for one dog becomes a latrine for many other dogs.

What is the solution to this vexatious problem? It would help, of course, if the dog-owner in Newton would systematically round-up all dogs in the city not wearing collars and license tags, and thus eliminate hundreds of unlicensed, roving canines. This was done for many years, when the writer was a boy, by Martin Laffie, then dog-officer of Newton. But, there would still remain a few thousands of licensed dogs, many of which would continue to injure lawns and shrubs unless other facilities were provided them. It has been suggested that as PWA, or WPA projects "dog convenience stations" might be located at frequent intervals on the grassless borders of the sidewalks along our streets. This would give Newton a sort of Parisian aspect. And a shrub or shrubs might be placed in each of these doggy places to make them more attractive to the canines. Another suggestion is—that any dog owner who could afford it, might have constructed in the cellar of his home, provided the space is not taken up by a private bar, a miniature lawn which would afford comfort to the family dog, and surcease of annoyance to neighbors.

In our travels about the city we find that the Aldermen "lost face," as they say in the Orient, by failing to carry out the threat made at the meeting of the Board on February 6th by the special committee which had been making an investigation of the office of Sergeant-Mechanic. At that meeting the committee reported that unless Mayor Childs filed charges against the Sergeant-Mechanic, and ordered a public hearing, the committee at the meeting on February 20 would make public those sections of the recent report of City Solicitor Bartlett's investigation of the Newton police department which dealt with Sergeant Cullen. Had the Aldermen been as cautious, or discreet on February 6 as they were on February 20, they would have avoided making a strategic retreat.

Ancient Timetable Had Some Queer Provisions

A French timetable, almost a century old, discovered in Rouen, capital of Normandy, furnished striking, even amusing evidence of the progress made by railroads, writes a Paris correspondent in the New York Times.

In 1848, for example, the morning train left St. Lazare station in Paris at 8 o'clock, and after much difficulty, finally reached Rouen at 12:05. However, a faster service was also available—fast for those days—which covered the distance in three hours.

Every timetable gives advice to prospective travelers, but the advice given in 1848 seems unusual and amusing. Here are some extracts from this ancient timetable:

"Every time a voyager desires to change his seat, he must notify the conductor and show his ticket."

"Smoking is forbidden in railroad stations and trains."

"No embarrassing packages may be carried by voyagers into railroad-trains."

"Travelers are warned against getting acquainted too easily and too speedily with fellow voyagers. A cautious reticence is recommended."

"Service at stations is free to travelers, who are requested to give no tips."

"The company accepts no responsibility for unregistered packages."

"Dogs must be brought to the station 10 minutes before the departure of the train."

Samoyed Dogs Prized by Owners, Had Best of Care

Once upon a time in the land of the big snows there lived a people known as the Samoyeds, and though this was a very long time ago, even then there was fighting for more power and possessions. Their strength being not as great as some and preferring peace to war this tribe gathered their families and valuables and fled farther north until they found safety in the icy plains near the White sea.

Strange as it may seem, relates Margaret Kidder in the Los Angeles Times, the most prized property of any household was the dogs. To travel any distance over frozen ground, to hunt, or to herd reindeer, these people were dependent upon their dogs for aid. Without them they could hardly exist. Into the house went the dogs with their owner and it is this constant companionship that is credited as being responsible for developing the almost "human understanding" of the Samoyed dog.

Inheriting the name of the people who discovered the possibilities of this breed, the Samoyed in its native land acts as guard, hunter, sled and herd dog and he bears the same handsome physical appearance of his forbears. It has hardly been a hundred years since they were first brought out in England and pictures and old photographs show a dog of great beauty, much the same size, and with the same sweet expression.

Israel Putnam, Doughty Warrior

America might well be proud of that doughty warrior, Israel Putnam, who heard the news of Lexington and Concord while plowing his fields in Connecticut and at once mounted his horse, riding all night till he had reached Cambridge and the patriot army about Boston. In command at the battle of Bunker Hill, he swore frightfully at his men during the retreat from the redoubt, and after the war sincerely confessing it in church, adding, in extenuation of himself, "It was almost enough to make an angel swear to see the cowards refuse to secure a victory so nearly won."

Presidents' Previous Occupations

Washington was a farmer and surveyor. William Henry Harrison studied medicine but turned to the army and later to politics. Taylor was a soldier and a Louisiana cotton planter. Johnson was a tailor and Grant a tanner, farmer, real estate agent, hardware clerk and soldier. Theodore Roosevelt's profession was politics from his twenty-second year on. Harding was a newspaper man. Wilson, though a lawyer, spent the greater part of his life as a teacher; Hoover was an engineer. All the others, after various beginnings, were lawyers.

Surf Riding and Aquaplaning

An aquaplane is a plank drawn along the surface of the water by a line from a power boat. Attached to it are ropes or a rope with which the rider can lift the front end of the aquaplane from the water, and to some extent control its movements. The surf rider merely takes his plank to sea and upon it rides the waves that bring him back to shore. Surf riding is an old Hawaiian sport, while aquaplaning is of comparatively recent origin.

Derivation of Color Names

Some color names have curious derivations. Magenta, for instance, was named after the color of shirts worn by soldiers at the battle of Magenta. Carnation, the color, comes from the Latin carnea, meaning flesh color, and was used in England as far back as 1535. Green, says Pearson's London Weekly, is one of nature's most amazing colors. There are about 3,000 different shades of green.

Accused of West Newton Thefts

Inspectors Burke and Hammell of the Newton police obtained warrants last Saturday for the arrests of Oliver Emery, Jr., 27, of Somerville, and John E. Watters, 18, of Carberry st., Medford, charging them with the theft of articles from cars parked in the parking space at Cherry st., West Newton. Emery, a former West Newton resident, is an uncle of Watters. The pair are also charged with a burglary at the home of Roswell Doughty, Fordham rd., West Newton, on Feb. 16, when considerable clothing was stolen. Some of the loot from the automobiles and the Doughty home was recovered in Cambridge by Inspectors Burke and Hammell.

Emery and Watters were arrested in Belmont early last Saturday morning after they had allegedly attempted a burglary there. They were arraigned in the Cambridge court on Monday, and bound over to the Grand Jury.

On the night of Feb. 16 it is charged that Emery and Watters drove to West Newton in a car they had stolen in Somerville, abandoned that car, and stole an automobile owned by Joseph Morgan of Needham, which was parked near Odd Fellows' Hall on Northgate Park. They drove to Belmont on the night they were captured in the Morgan car.

Community Fund Drive Was Great Achievement

Greater Boston's 1939 Community Fund Campaign, in which the people of Newton had an active share, will go down in history as an achievement, in spite of the approximate 4 per cent shortage in the $4,645,000 minimum goal set. Failure to reach the full goal, however, will mean curtailment of much-needed health and social services this year.

The enthusiasm of the loyal 15,000 volunteer campaign workers throughout all parts of Greater Boston continues to be far-reaching. Like a snowball that has gained momentum, the campaign is still rolling up new subscriptions. Stuart C. Rand, general chairman, and Samuel Hoar, chairman of the Metropolitan Division, are hopeful that a substantial amount will yet be raised to fulfill the needs of the 300,000 men, women and children dependent upon the 114 Community Fund agencies and federations, which comprise more than 150 hospitals, health and social service organizations.

According to the latest audit, the people of Newton have subscribed $19,029.16. The number of subscribers is $35, as compared with 561 last year.

William M. Cahill, community chairman for Newton expressed his gratitude both to his fellow workers for their untiring efforts and to all subscribers for their generous support of Community Fund services. "It is heartening," he said, "to realize that people are coming more and more to understand that Community Fund services are vital to all of Greater Boston and to accept the campaign as a personal responsibility."

Local Youths Bring Hollywood to Newton

On the night of March 3rd, some Newton young people are going to be Hollywood glamour girls and boys, under the expert guidance of their coach, Mrs. Celia Wellman of West Newton. Mrs. Wellman, the mother of Hollywood's ace director, producer and author, "Wild Bill" Wellman, has her own sense of showmanship and is turning grandson Arthur Wellman, Jr., into Carole Lombard, and grandson Jack Wellman into Judy Garland—to say nothing of making William McKusick into Mae West and Peter Seller into Bette Davis. The action takes place at Dr. I. Cuddle's Sanitarium, where Greta Garbo is to be the guest for the evening. It's all in fun, but the youngsters are taking their roles seriously enough to rehearse several times a week and study the movie magazines for pictures of their doubles. On Friday, March 3rd, they'll take their bow for Hollywood fame and fortune at the Hunnewell Club in Newton. The proceeds are being given to the widows of Police men Lawrence Murphy and Henry Bell who were killed so tragically in bandit gunplay over a year ago, in Newton. Tickets are being sold by members of the cast including—William Carlisle, Thomas Shepherd, Robert Shumaker, David Hunting, William McCabe, Peter and Patricia Fortescue, Miriam Connolly, Philip Seller, Priscilla Britt, Ann Seiler, Sally Emerson, Jane Connolly, Betty Quigley and Caroline Prescott. Music is being furnished by Mrs. Windsor Sampson of Auburn-dale.

Used Animal Skin Bottles

The first bottles were of animal skins which were sewed up. One leg was left open as the bottle's neck. This was closed with a plug or tied with string. Such containers are used for wine in southern Europe, for water in China. Thousands of years ago, says the Washington Post, the Egyptians made glass bottles. They also had them of stone, ivory, bone, porcelain, bronze, gold and pottery. Bottles are made by blowing glass into molds of the desired shapes. Bottoms and necks are finished last. None chiefly by machinery in the United States, this is an honored hand art in Europe, the secrets of which are guarded jealously by families of craftsmen.

The 'Laughing Jackass'

The "laughing jackass," or Kookaburra, an absurdly shaped bird of the Australian bush, is known for its mocking, fiendish laughter. A forest-dwelling kingfisher, its "catch," made from a stump or tree limb, consists of snakes, rats, mice, insects and even smaller birds.

Peanuts Known 950 B. C.

Peanuts were known as early as 950 B. C. They were brought to this country after the Civil war, and for many years the crop was confined to North Carolina and Virginia. It was not until the ravages of the boll weevil made farmers turn from cotton to peanuts that cultivation jumped. They are grown in Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama, Oklahoma, and Texas. Peanuts are used in making candies, cheese, instant coffee, pickles, oils, shaving lotion, dyes, lard, grease, wood stains, butter insulating boards and even gasoline.

Wheat First Choice of Grain
Wheat is the world's first choice of grain for bread. Some nations of Europe make use of rye to a great extent, but mainly because it is more difficult to grow wheat or to get it in those countries. The top place among the bread grains is taken by wheat. It has been so for centuries.

Mrs. Wylie Sypher, who is connected with the department of Current Events at Lasell Junior College, was the guest speaker for the Business and Professional Group of the Auburndale Woman's Club on Tuesday evening, February 14. Her general subject was "Refugees," and she talked on the problems which are being created by the expulsion of the Jews from Germany. Having visited that country as late as 1938, she felt she knew the feeling over there fairly well, and said that evidently no effort was being made to gloss over what seemed to her a terrible persecution.

She mentioned Palestine, Central Guinea, Australia, and America as havens which had been opened to them. In several instances some of the former college professors had contributed valuable knowledge to the countries which had received them.

Mrs. Sypher also told of conditions in Spain, and lastly in war-torn China. She explained how these incursions of Japan into China were uniting a country which had never before been so united.

After the program, refreshments were served by the chairmen, Mrs. Maida Hicks and Miss Lillian Gerold.

Among those present, beside the members of the group, were the two directors, Mrs. Theodore Dearborn and Mrs. Ernest F. Drew.

Newton Hospital Aid Association

Mrs. Maynard Hutchinson, president of the Newton Hospital Aid Association, presided at the meeting of the Board of Directors on Tuesday morning, February 14. Mrs. Paul Chandler of Vista ave., Auburndale, opened her home for this meeting.

News from the Benefit Shop located at 597 Washington st., Newtonville, brought by the manager, Mrs. Francis H. Williams. She told of the constant calls for children's warm outer garments, also for overcoats and rubbers. She reported a good response to her calls for sleds, skis, and skates. Another plea which she made was for bedding.

Mrs. Edwin Rogers, the member chosen from the Board to visit the Hospital during February, reported the excellent conditions which she found there, including the rapid completion of the Nurses' Home. Mrs. William Flanders and Mrs. Faulkner Kendall were appointed to cover these visits during March.

Miss Maida Flanders, chairman of the Activities committee, reported that a Dessert-Bridge would be sponsored by the Hospital Aid on the 29th of March, at which time the new Home for Nurses would be available.

At the close of the business session, refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Chandler. Mrs. Ernest F. Drew and Mrs. Henry D. Keever, both directors from Auburndale, presided at the coffee table.

Auburndale Woman's Club

The Auburndale Woman's Club met Tuesday afternoon, February 14, with Professor Frederick D. Schuman as speaker. Dr. Schuman, who is at the head of the Political Science department at Williams College, came to the Club through the courtesy of the Newton Trust Company, and he was introduced by Mrs. Howard P. Converse, a member of the Women's Advisory Committee. His subject was "Europe on the Eve," and he confined himself particularly to discussing Russia and Germany.

The speaker asked his audience to refrain from considering these two countries as pagan, and as composed of atheists and bolsheviks. Instead, he asked that they consider them as human beings, who lived and thought many times the same as Americans. In housing facilities, transportation, and in many other ways the Germans were but little behind this country. As for Russia, he stated that the Soviet Government was the only one among the major governments which had paid all their indemnities; which had taken the Kellogg Pact seriously, and which had repudiated no Treaty obligations. In contrast, he referred to how our own country was financing the Japanese in their conflict.

The moral which he pointed was the protection of our country by Americans and not by hired gangsters. "Alas for that nation which trusts its destiny to hired protectors!" he declared.

Among the guests of the Club were several of the Auburndale clergymen, and from the Newton Trust were Mr. Frank Richardson, Mr. Arthur Sadler, Mr. Charles B. Cutter, Jr., Miss Pearl McAusland, and Miss Grace Gallagher. The Hospitality committee, Mrs. Raymond Perkins, chairman, served refreshments, while Mrs. Henry D. Keever and Mrs. Franklin K. Hoyt presided at the coffee table.

Rotary Club

Mr. Bradford Williams, of Newton, secretary of the Massachusetts Trustees of Public Reservations and a leader in numerous movements and organizations to preserve beautiful and historic places in New England and elsewhere, was the Newton Rotarians' speaker at their Monday luncheon meeting this week. He gave a very interesting and instructive lecture on the historic Gore House in Waltham, illustrated with excellent slides. The gradual decay from 1904 to 1935 of the beautiful old house and grounds, the victim of irreverent hands until several historical societies in Boston joined forces in the latter year to restore as much as could be restored, was a most moving story. Governor Gore, born in Boston in 1758 and a Harvard graduate of 1776, built the house in the early years of the nineteenth century. Governor and Mrs. Gore spent eight years in England where they made a very careful study of English mansions and landscape gardening, and on their return they put their knowledge to work in creating this handsome estate on the Charles River on the road between Watertown and Waltham. Among the many fine slides shown of the place were those taken in the eighties by the late Charles Eliot, the landscape architect, and the son of the late president of Harvard, before mutilation of the house and grounds had taken place.

Lovely views of English scenes taken by Mr. Williams a few years ago, when he went over the ground which the Governor must have taken in his English journeys, gave additional charm to his narrative.

LASELL JUNIOR COLLEGE

The members of the College Executive Council were formally installed in the presence of the student body on Monday, Margaret Schneider of Upper Montclair, New Jersey as president and Mary Curtin of Plymouth, Mass., vice-president of the Council.

An exhibition of ping-pong playing by experts will be given in the gymnasium on Friday evening. Mayor Edwin O. Childs of Newton will speak at the Vesper Service on Sunday. Monday afternoon there will be an All College tea at Bragdon Hall. Miss Helen Wood of Simmons College will speak Friday on "Nursing as a Career for College Women."

The Junior Red Cross sent 50 Valentine souvenirs to the men at the Chelsea Naval Hospital. Each favor consisted of three bars of candy, wrapped either in pink or red cellophane, mounted on a paper heart, and topped with a clever little figure made of pipe cleaners wound with bright colored thread.

For Washington's Birthday 50 packages of home-made cookies were wrapped in cellophane and tied with red, white and blue ribbon. Owing to the school vacation the chairman, Miss Callista Roy, was unable to arrange for sending the favors to the hospital, as usual, and asked the Volunteer Motor Corps to attend to it for the Juniors.

As every kind of holiday is remembered the Juniors sent 12 sets of remembrances during the year, and showed much originality in their decorations. Their March collection will be appropriate for March 17th.

Christian Science

last resort if not made the first. Love is the way of Innocence. Love is newness of life.

LIFE ACTIVE

The new birth might be called life active. Even matter, the counterfeit of Mind, is represented as always in a state of motion. The material body is renewed, it is born again, if we are to believe the latest theory, every two years or even less. If, therefore, activity is natural to the poor counterfeit, how much more is activity the natural and inevitable state of Mind's idea, the real man. Ceaseless activity is man's rest as well as his Maker's. In holy work is man renewed day by day. Growth is the mandate of Mind to man. Creation is ever appearing. There is no retirement for man, no age limit, no time of unproductivity. There is for man no resting upon oars, no period of inactivity. Consider the example of our Saviour, and the career of the great Leader of Christian Science, whose lives were accompanied by no selfish leisure, and no term of retirement from intense activity in the service of God and their fellowmen. Jesus' parable of the talents illustrates the folly of the non-use of whatever ability one may have to do well certain things. Let us do with our might what our hands find they can do. Let us throw our energies unreservedly into the breach against inertia, apathy, lethargy, laziness of mind and body, those enemies of newness of life. The man that uses and conserves his energies need never want. His thrift will care for his years and settle scientifically all concern over any non-productive period, which indeed need never come to such a life.

LIFE HARMONIOUS

Finally, life harmonious. This has special reference to the firmament, spiritual understanding, which divides the day from the darkness. Is such a life possible now for you and me? Yes; Christian Science, the great power and truth of God, reveals that harmony is already within us; it needs not to be introduced but rather to be unfolded. Harmony is the fact available for human life right here and always. Life harmonious calls for and assures life tranquil, life tolerant, life moderate, life normal, life peaceful, life joyous. Never take error too seriously. Always discount its own self-appraisal. Towards error's presumptuous arguments be always belittling. Life harmonious teaches intolerance of evil in all its felonious forms, but tolerance, oh! such tender tolerance of people! Mrs. Eddy wrote the Board of Lectureship: "You may condemn evil in the abstract without harming any one or your own moral sense, but condemn persons seldom, if ever. Improve every opportunity to correct sin through your own perfectness." (Miscellany p. 249). Condemning persons is playing error's game. Evil is nothing if not a person, or else a thing. If we are to serve our neighbor we must not merely tolerate him, we must love him. World peace is just: "Love thy neighbor as thyself." There is no peace in fear, hatred and selfishness, which breed war among men and nations, and discord within one's own individual consciousness. Life harmonious means hands off our neighbor and his problems. Rarely, except when invited, can we properly enter into his affairs. To be sure it is Christian and scientific to help others, and to warn against false steps and lurking dangers; but if unselfed and loving admonitions are unheeded, then we may feel tranquil in the certainty that Science or experience will conserve for every man his ultimate peace and harmony. Life harmonious is the kingdom of heaven within. This kingdom is never established through allowing evil to seem real, but always by excluding evil, as nonexistent, from that realm.

DIVINE IMPULSION

To be newly born of Spirit is to be unresponsive to the false attraction of material mindedness, its specious promises of pleasure, its dreadful threats of pain, its fascinating allure of power and pride of position. To augment spiritual sense within us, we must work in the seven days of Mind's creating, knowing that, so, the awful night will never come when "man works no more." We must keep our thoughts and feet in that irradiance of light, understanding, resurrection, reflection, substance, perfection, regeneration. In newness of life we shall live inspirationally, self-sacrificially, devotionally, affirmatively, innocently, actively, harmoniously. And so our lives will not be choked by the red dust of any Adam's dream. If, by untoward winds, its clouds are thrust upon us, there is always a way out. We can wait actively on that escape, and through Christian Science we can see the way. We must ask of Mind wisdom, and then follow our intuitions. This is the way not of corporeal impulse, but of divine impulsion. Unless they be of God, unless they be absolutely good, things are never what they seem. There can be no mortal dream so deep but that revival is there absolutely, and will appear. Have you never read stories of escape from prison where the human eye revealed no possible avenue of release? There is the story of the prisoner who, at the penitentiary gate, presented the sheriff with the handcuffs supposedly locked on the prisoner's wrists. How much more surely do we know that "The devotion of thought to an honest achievement makes the achievement possible." (S. and H. p. 199: 21). The attentive, warm, scientific Christian observes ways and means to thwart error and to experience good, unseen to the casual, disinterested or indolent eye.

A PATH AROUND THE RIM

No chilliest circumstance of adverse fate, no fiercest blow of outrageous fortune, no thickest storm of red dust can choke or falter or cool the ardor of him that shapes his course in the best of life, in the renaissance of Spirit. I once had occasion to visit a dear Christian Scientist whose life partner she had just laid away. She greeted me tranquilly, composed in body and mind, even with calmness, peace and joy. I said, tell me about it, my friend; and she replied: "When my loved one seemed to go out, I found myself after thirty years of perfect companionship, suddenly confronted with what appeared to be a chasm in my life. It seemed as though I stood at the brink of a vast valley, and that if I was to go on in life's journey, I must go down into that terrible depression. And then Christ came in the gloom, and I saw the chasm was only an illusion of the senses, not of God, divine Life, therefore unreal, actually non-existent, and that I could face it, and, if need be, even go through it."

"Then came the spiritual sense of life, its continuity, ever-present, and of man as forever inseparable from God, his divine Life. Awakened, I saw clearly that if I did descend into the canyon of grief, the slough of loss and loneliness, the bogs of despair, should only, eventually, have to climb up the other side. I should enter the downward road with certainty of no comfort to myself, no benefit to my beloved, and no satisfaction to my friends. So I asked God for a better way. And He showed me a path around the rim. And I am joyously treading the way above the illusion of mortal mind's grief and woe."

And oh! my friend, however dismal and abyssal the prospect may be, to human sense, there is always the light of Life and Truth and Love to illumine it, and to dissipate the counterfeit presentations. And there is always a path around the rim of error's phantasmagoria, a path discernible to those that walk in newness of Spirit, and not in the oldness of the letter, to those that walk in life inspirational, to all that turn away from the falsity of material sense.

"Walk in the light, and thou shalt see Thy path, though thorny, bright; For God by grace shall dwell with thee, And God Himself is Light."

C. S. Hymnal.

Newton H. S.

Principal Paul E. Ellicker was in New Haven on February 10 and 11 to attend the forty-seventh annual meeting of the Headmasters' Association of America. This association is comprised of one hundred members, twenty-five of whom are high school principals and seventy-five of whom are headmasters of private schools. This year the members were guests of Yale University and entertained in the various undergraduate colleges. Speakers included Mr. Norman Thomas and Dr. Charles Seymour, president of Yale.

Mr. Frank B. Johnson, class of '09 and newspaper reporter, gave an address to the junior class at the Wednesday assembly, February 15. Mr. Johnson spoke on developing farm materials and the uses of cellulose which comes from plant fibers.

Major Peter C. Borro, U. S. Air Service, and President Daisy Kirkpatrick of the "99's"—an international organization of women pilots will speak at the next Aviation Club meeting March 2. Lieut. Ellsworth Benson attached to the Naval Base at Squantum is expected for the April 6 meeting.

Elizabeth Dasey was awarded the first prize in the Prize-Speaking Contest held February 10, while Barbara Tower received second prize and Maive Hayden, honorable mention. All the other contestants were also awarded prizes in this annual event. The Verse-Speaking choir and two musical organizations aided to make the program exceptional.

The sophomore officers were elected by their class two weeks ago and are to serve for the remainder of the year. They are as follows: President, Clarence Mick; vice-president, Francis Leone; secretary, Joan Fox; treasurer, Stanley Collinson. The runners up for the positions were: President, John Forte; vice-president, Thomas Burns; secretary, Barbara Kehn; treasurer, Nancy McGill. This year's sophomore election was the closest that it has been for some time. The votes for treasurer had to be counted three times before a sufficient majority for one candidate had been reached.

The Puppets Club, under the supervision of Mrs. Kate Cornell, is preparing puppets and scenery for a sophomore assembly in May. Last year the members presented a play, but this year there will be a series of specialty acts. Those taking part behind the scenes are Anna Ames, Constance Wilson, Bob Magnot, and Frank Moore.

This meeting of the Camera Club was one of the highlights of the year's programs. Mr. W. L. Thurston of the Agfa-Anso corporation gave a fifteen minute talk of the place and advantage of filters. He made a particular emphasis on outside views such as cloud effects and shrubbery. He also discussed the various types of filters.

At the February meeting of the Debating Club a contest was held with Watertown's Club on the subject, Resolved: That the United States should have a military alliance. The speakers for Newton were Udin Spiro and Sukter; for Watertown, Chiotelis, Vostechian and Treblat. Rebuttals were for Newton, Franklin O. Houghton, and for Watertown, Vostechian and Chiotelis. Newton upheld the negative side of the question. President Rutherford Clark presided.

A committee was appointed at the Neophyte's February meeting to present suggestions for the club's annual gift to the school. These suggestions will be presented at the next meeting and voted upon. The club has fifty dollars in the treasury for this gift. The committee consists of Mary Douglas, Rebecca Connolly, Herbert Rosenberg and Donald Van Roosen.

The young novice skating stars, with Miss Lelter as instructor, gathered in 318A for their February meeting. After Erminia Mancini called the meeting to order, the business of the new outing was discussed. The first idea, a sleigh ride was rejected because of the cost. Skating and tobogganing were then mentioned. After much discussion, pro and con, about the subject it was decided that the members go to the Commonwealth Country Club on February 13.

The Radio Club assembled for its February meeting on Thursday, Feb. 2, embarked on a new project. This is to be a power supply unit with two to use with some small sets belonging to the members. The circuit and equipment to be used were decided upon and certain members chosen to execute it. Work will get under way as soon as the materials are claimed from President Donald Ashton in Room 315.

THIS IS THE FIRST of a series of talks, that will appear in this newspaper throughout the year, on the Doctor—and what Medical Science is accomplishing toward the health of the individual and the community.

You know, of course, that for an M. D. to qualify as a practicing physician, it is necessary that many years be spent in study, preparation and practice.

The average time consumed by a Doctor in study, preparation and unproductive practice is around twelve years. These unproductive years and the actual money spent totals from $15,000 to $35,000, depending on the individual, and sources of education.

Aldermen Ask For Five Lawyers

editor's report be presented to this citizens' jury.

After Alderman Hutchinson had concluded, Alderman Jamieson read a statement in which he seconded Hutchinson's motion and offered an amendment in which a list of lawyers, who are residents of Newton, was presented, as eligibles for the committee of five suggested in the motion. The Board then voted on the motion and amendment and all the members voted in favor except Alderman Temperley. Jamieson's, proposed statement as follows:

I second that motion. It seems to me a very happy way to clear a clouded atmosphere. This Board has frequently been critical of the Mayor but always from a sense of duty. His unwillingness to take action does not make for public confidence. He may choose to ignore this request. But on the grounds of clarifying public opinion and dispelling doubts he has a moral obligation. As it now stands, whoever brings charges, the Mayor sits as judge. The alderman from Ward 3 has proposed a method to which, from the point of view of satisfying the public, it is hard to find any objection. I think, however, that the citizens' jury should not be left entirely to the selection of the two persons involved, I offer as an amendment that the five be chosen from the following list:

Norman W. Bingham, Arthur W. Blakemore, Robert T. Bushnell, Charles Raymond Cabot, Albert M. Chandler, Ripley L. Dana, George H. Fernald, Jr., Albert M. Lyon, Philip Nichols, John E. Peakes, Edward O. Proctor, John V. Spalding, Lucius E. Thayer, Nelson B. Vanderhoof, Thomas Weston.

Mayor Childs when asked for a comment on the statements read by the Aldermen relative to the Sergeant-Mechanic, said that proper persons have been making an investigation of the matter, and in the near future he will take proper action as a result of the recent report of City Solicitor Bartlett in connection with the investigation of the Newton Police Department. The Mayor intimated that there may be a shake-up in the police department, and that he will establish the long-discussed traffic bureau.

ADELINE M. SCHASCHKE

Mrs. Adeline M. Schaschke passed away at Newton Hospital on February 18 and funeral services were held at Trinity Church, Newton Centre, at three o'clock on Monday afternoon, February 20, the Reverend Edward T. Sullivan officiating. Interment was at Newton Cemetery.

Mrs. Schaschke was born in West Newton at 69 Prince st. on June 25, 1894, the daughter of Anna and the late George Parker Howlett, moving to Wellesley Hills about seven years ago, where she has since made her home with her mother at 21 Colburn rd.

She was the widow of Frederick G. Schaschke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey W. Schaschke of Caroline Park, Waban. Besides her mother she is survived by a sister, Mrs. Edward B. Rowe of Wellesley Hills and a nephew, Mr. Edward B. Rowe, Jr. of Newport News, Va. Mrs. Schaschke was a member of the Wellesley Hills Woman's Club and has for many years been a devoted member and faithful worker at Trinity Church.

Music, Medical Science Once Closely Connected

The connection between music and medical science is as old as history itself. In the earliest stages of mankind, magicians and medicine men effected cures of every form of ailment by means of music, and certain races still use their methods.

The Hellenes of ancient Greece employed music as a means of curing illness. Homer wrote that Odysseus could stop the flow of blood by playing music. Again, diseases rife in old Troy were swept away by music.

Galenus proclaimed that music was the best cure for snake-bites and scorpion stings, and, we are told, states a writer in Pearson's London Weekly, was successful in bringing about such cures.

Galenus tells us that Damon, the singer of Miletus, was able by singing certain songs to drive intoxicated young people into a frenzy. He could also quiet them with a different type of song.

In the Bible we read that before demolishing the House of the Philistines Samson acquired strength by playing on and singing to the harp. David with his harp charmed away Saul's melancholy.

In the Middle Ages pipers or flute-players used to perform in the street when a madman had one of his periodic fits. They accompanied him home, and in most cases were able to restore him to sanity.

Emerald Was Cleopatra's Favorite Among the Gems

Emeralds were the favorite gems of Cleopatra, the embodiment of royalty and probably the most gembedecked queen of all time. Many of the green stones such as chrysoprase were often called "victory stones" by the old writers. Such a one was reputed by Albertus Magnus as having been worn by Alexander the Great in his girdle, according to Herbert P. Whitlock in Natural History.

The well known purple gem, the amethyst, as its Greek derivation indicates, was regarded as an amulet which would prevent intoxication. Dr. L. J. Spencer in his book, "A Key to Precious Stones," comments in a somewhat satiric vein on the use of this gem in episcopal rings. He says, "For this reason bishops, whose duties take them to public function of all sorts, wear an amethyst in the episcopal ring."

Without doubt the medieval connection of the amethyst with Bacchus, god of the wine cup, comes from the story of the nymph named Amethyst, one of those who followed in the train of Diana. Bacchus in order to fulfill a drunken vow was about to offer her to be devoured by the tigers that drew his car. The goddess in order to save her protegee from this horrid death, turned her into a white stone. And Bacchus, repentant of his cruelty, poured the juice of the grape over the stone figure, thereby dyeing it a rich purple.

Reminder of Early Days

The following account, from "Readings in Indiana History," gives an idea of the conditions of the early times: "In 1817 there were no railroads, no canals west of the Allegheny mountains. There was no telegraph; fire was struck by the flint and steel; there were forests instead of cultivated fields; the shovel-plow was the only cultivator; there were no bridges. The only means of travel was by horseback, the husband mounted before on the saddle, with one to three of the youngest children in his arms; the wife, with a spread cover reaching to the tail of the horse, seated behind, with the balance of the children, unable to walk, on her lap."

The Laurentian Mountains

The Laurentian mountains stretch like a great crescent over a million or more acres between the St. Lawrence river and Hudson's bay and from the Ottawa river east toward Labrador. Over them hangs that mysterious fascination that belongs to great age. In comparison with the Alps of Europe and the Himalayas of Asia are young. Geologists state that the Laurentians were among the first mountains to heave their summits above the waste of water where afterwards continents were born.

Tungsten, Lamp Filament Wire

The use of tungsten as a lamp filament wire is based upon certain properties which make it a metal of extremes. Outstanding among these properties are a melting point of 3,400 degrees Centigrade, a low vapor pressure, and a tensile strength in the worked condition of 600,000 pounds per square inch. At one time tungsten was regarded as a brittle metal, but an expert succeeded in drawing a wire in such a way as to make it bendable at room temperature.

Toad Carries Eggs on Back

The breeding method of the Surinam toad is unique. The male of this strange species places the fertilized eggs on the female's back, spreads them evenly over the surface and presses them into the skin, so that each fits into a small pit. Within these pits the birth of the young Surinam toads takes place. Finally they emerge as small but perfectly formed specimens. There is no "tadpole" stage, as with other frogs and toads.

Colby Denies Accusations Of Mayor Childs

cannot fairly be charged as being a "puppet" of this group.

Secondly: I have been a member of this Board for the entire period since the return of the Mayor to office, and have had ample opportunity to observe conditions.

Thirdly: I am not disposed at the present time and under present conditions to be a candidate again for any city office. I have had enough. After having given upwards of 500 hours of my time annually, outside of the regular work demanded of an Alderman in a study of city affairs, in order that I might help in a constructive way, to promote the city's interest, and having seen my own and committees' recommendations upon which I have served, disregarded by the Mayor, I have come to the conclusion that a continuation of effort by me is futile.

Believing therefore that I am free from any political bias, that I have had ample opportunity to observe and understand the situation existing in our city government, and not being interested under present conditions in being a candidate for further office, I wish to state a few facts as I see them.

I believe the attack by the Mayor upon this Board to be a "Red Herring Drawn across the Trail" to confuse public opinion, and to divert the attention of the citizens from important matters, affecting his administration of the office of Mayor, which the people of this city ought to understand.

I. For many months a member of the board has referred to the Mayor's "Stooge System," that is the circumvention of the authority of the Heads of Departments, by the Mayor's practice of dealing through and on the advice of subordinates in departments. This has resulted in a breakdown of the morale not only of the executives but of the entire departments. This is no longer a "Joke" but bids fair to be an extremely serious matter.

One of these men has been the subject of an investigation by the City Solicitor, and his office has been under investigation by a committee of the board for over a year. The report of the City Solicitor has been in the Mayor's hands since January 9th. The Committee of the board has received copies, and on the basis of the report has asked the Mayor to hold a public hearing on this matter. Up to the moment he has refused to do so, or at least has done nothing.

The Board of Aldermen is now charged with "playing politics" he settled once and for all.

II. We have had no Street Commissioner since July of last year. The Street Department spends about a million dollars of the citizen's money each year. The Mayor has appointed one man to this office in seven months. This man though honest and a deserving citizen, has had neither the experience nor training, in the opinion of the Board, to qualify him for this position. After expressing this opinion by an overwhelming vote the integrity of the Board's action was attacked by the submission of this name a second time. While the board has been waiting for the submission of a candidate of suitable calibre, training and experience for this position, and the Acting Commissioner has been handicapped by the attributes of a temporary position and authority, the city's interests wait also, and the Board of Aldermen cannot open their mouth to protest without being charged with "playing politics."

III. The increasing tax rate has given this Board great anxiety. Unusual efforts have been directed, and painstaking studies have been made, to get at the cause of this. With the knowledge that the state tax of last year was underestimated by more than $200,000 which would have to be added to the 1939 warrants, and the indication that the 1939 state tax would run to approximately $600,000 additional, the Board has been convinced of the necessity for strict economy. Appropriations after the Budget in 1938 were held to less than half of those passed the year before, outside of the cost of the Hurricane Damage, and the Welfare Loan, made necessary by the refusal of the Mayor to insert in last year's budget a sufficient fund for this purpose.

The efforts of the Board to hold down expenses, has led to criticism of Department Heads, who have not properly budgeted their appropriations so as to last through the year, who have not kept records of commitments in their departments so as to know where they stood, and who have come in during the last three months for additional money. When it is realized that over 65 per cent of the appropriations after the budget have come during the last three months of the year the justice of this criticism will be seen.

And now the Board's criticism is described by the Mayor as "playing politics," and he is diverting public opinion from the real facts by a press release that we have a $300,000 surplus, omitting to point out that $195,000 of this must be used to pay our loan on tax titles, $113,000 to repay our emergency loan for Hurricane Damage and that a liability for Welfare Bonds of $150,000 was incurred which should have been included in the budget.

If it is "playing politics" to insist on economy and efficiency in the expenditure of city money we should have more of it.

IV. I have personally criticized the

Woman's Association Of Central Church To Meet

The Woman's Association of Central Church, Newtonville, will meet on Wednesday, March 1, when sewing and other handwork will be ready at 10 a. m. Luncheon at 12:30 will be prepared by the Homemaking Circle. Mrs. Frank Clark, chairman. The afternoon program at 1:30 will provide a real treat when Mrs. Walter Jamison of Newtonville will give a play-reading. Mrs. Jamison has spent her life in dramatic activities, having been on the faculty of Emerson College, instructor in educational dramatics for the University Extension, and director of Community pageants in many towns and cities. She was prepared for the professional stage, but turned from that to give her life to dramatics in social service. When not engaged in directing Mrs. Jamison has done much work in lecturing and play reading.

In the musical part of the program Miss Judith Andress, soprano, will sing folk songs.

Word 'Ginseng' From Chinese

Practically all of the American production of ginseng is exported to China, where it is in great demand for medical and domestic purposes. Branched roots resembling the human form are especially prized for their supposed occult virtues. The word "ginseng" is derived from Chinese words meaning "likeness of man." It is considered a cure for many diseases in China. The roots are marketable in about the fifth or sixth year from planting of seed. They are washed and cured in a well ventilated room with temperature not exceeding 80 degrees Fahrenheit. This takes about a month for the larger roots. They are then stored in a dry, airy place in sacks or boxes for shipment.
